What the "Sydney Morning Herald" says:—
AN "AUSTRALIAN" SHOW.
The show was well worth witnessing, by even those not versed in equestrianism. The agility, skill, and daring of the members of the company were remarkable. The presence of a modicum of danger, and more than a modicum of mirth, riveted the attention throughout. There was not a dull moment.
What the Sydney "Daily Telegraph" says:—
AUSTRALIANS ON WILD HORSES.
It was a brilliant piece of horsemanship, and the 10,000 people present vigorously applauded. The performance was the "star" feature of Lance Skuthorp's Wild Australian Buckjumping Show.
The names of the riders—all Australian-born—who gave excellent displays, were:—W. R. Carver, Roy Stanbridge, Aboriginal Charlie, Jumbo Johnston, Dubbo Thompson, and Tommy Galvin (another exceptionally capable rider from the Clarence River). The whole show was declared to be one of the finest displays of horsemanship seen in Sydney.

CHAPTER VI.

Mass was at eight o'clock and breakfast at nine. Before the clock struck ten Michael and Winefride were away together, walking over the hills to visit an old friend of hers, who lived in a curious isolated cottage, perched above a deep gully known locally as the Glyn.

Here he dwelt beside a waterfall that in winter became a rushing torrent and in summer dwindled to a singing stream, dropping and trickling down the rocky, fern-shaded waterway.

To reach this eyrie of a solitary they had to climb a steep mountain path, winding through primrose-studded copses and over rough slopes covered with straggling golden gorse, below the delicate swinging lacework of the weeping birch, and the ragged shade of Scotch firs, with the red light of the morning sun gleaming on their mighty mailed trunks.

The Glyn paid for its sheltered stillness and absolute seclusion by missing the view of the wide panorama that was spread before the Castle; yet the blue distance of hills could here and there be discerned through the motionless dark branches of the encircling forest trees, and its wild beauty was sufficient unto itself. In the heart of it was hidden the low white cot, perched on a sheltered ledge of rock, below the crest of the hill and beside the waterfall.

The owner, clad in a flannel shirt, old grey tweed trousers, a leather belt, and a soft-brimmed felt hat, stood in the opening of a porch, stone-tiled, like the roof of his abode.

He smiled grimly upon the invaders as they mounted the steep approach to the wicket gate. He was a tall, powerfully-built man, between sixty and seventy years old, with a fine straight profile, rough curly white hair, and a square chin glistening with silver stubble.

The bare outline of his history, which was, in fact, all she knew, had been recounted by Winefride to Michael on the way.

"... known as John Edyvean, but whether it is his real name or not I don't know. Sometimes I fancy it is not. Oh yes, he is a gentleman, and I think he must once have been used to—to fashionable life, London and so on," said the country maiden. "Little things he lets fall make me think so. In the valley they say he was an officer in the Guards. There was a poor soldier dying of consumption here some years ago, who saw him, and recognised him, and said he was Lord Somebody; but Mr. Edyvean went to see him, and after that he would never say anything more about him. Mr. Edyvean paid for him to go into a nursing home, so he spent his last days in comfort. Mr. Edyvean is very good, helping anyone in that way with money, I mean, but I don't think he can be rich. All we know for certain about him is that he lost his wife twenty years ago, for that he told us; and that he has lived here quite, quite alone ever since. He has known Thekla and Bernard and me all our lives, for when we were quite little children we used to wander here by ourselves to look for bilberries and sloes, or gather wild flowers. And there are sheets and sheets of snowdrops in the early spring.

"He used to come and talk to us, and laugh at us because he said we all had hair like spun gold, and pretend that if we stood in the sun he could see through us, because we were so absurdly fair. He was very much amused when he found out we always called him the mad gentleman. The people about all think he is really mad. But he is not; he is only eccentric. It is Thekla who is his favourite, but I go to see him sometimes, and he said I might bring you to see him. I am afraid you will find him rather unkempt. He does not care about his appearance."

"You are early, Miss Winefride."

The tenant of the Glyn had a very sweet and prepossessing smile, and greeted his pretty visitor with evident pleasure.

"I did not expect you so early."

He passed his hand over his unshaven chin with an apologetic expression.

"This young lady and her sister used to scold me when they were children for not shaving oftener," he said, as he shook hands with Michael. "It was agreed I was to shave on Saturday mornings if they would come and see me on Saturday afternoons."

"But Michael is going away this afternoon," said Winefride, "so I had no choice of time. I wanted you to see him."

"Aye, you make no account of his feelings, dragging him up these rough paths to see an old hermit," said Mr. Edyvean. "However, I make no doubt he would follow you gladly enough wherever you were pleased to lead."

He turned his light hazel eyes upon the young man and seemed to scrutinise him, so that Michael coloured as he laughed.

"To be sure I would follow her to the end of the world," he said frankly, and Winefride moved slightly towards him as they exchanged an almost involuntary glance of mutual understanding and adoration.

Mr. Edyvean's expression softened as he surveyed the two standing before him in the April sunshine; the fair girl, and the tall young man with his dark merry face and handsome eyes.

"Miss Winefride does not make mistakes. The perfectly sincere people seldom do," he quoth.

"I am glad you think me perfectly sincere," said Winefride.

"Transparent as glass, and especially when you stand there in the sunshine," he retorted; "but you—"

Michael met his eye without embarrassment; respectful, as became a young man towards one so much his elder, yet always with that faintly amused expression.

"Michael is sincere, too," said Winefride, quickly.

But neither man paid attention to her words.

"The wholly sympathetic are never wholly sincere," said Mr. Edyvean dryly. "They respond to every appeal, and like the chameleon reflect the colour of their surroundings."

Michael nodded.

"But I don't call it fair not to call them sincere. They reflect truly."

"For the moment, while it lasts, it is true." Michael nodded again; this time rather sadly. Then he laughed.

Winefride looked from one interested face to the other.

She was very fond of Mr. Edyvean, and anxious that he should approve Michael; but his words did not to her mind convey approval.

"I wanted you to be friends," she said, rather wistfully, and to her surprise they looked at each other instantly and smiled.

"We are even brothers, little one, though he is so young and I am so old," said Mr. Edyvean, "and we have just recognised each other. Come in, come in. Mr. Ferrys shall see the inside of my cabin."

Michael, uncovering his curly brown hair and stooping his head, stepped inside the cottage and perceived that the partitions which had formerly divided the interior had all been swept away. The walls and high-pitched roof were neatly panelled with match-lining, and the solid rafters were encased in stained and varnished deal. Planks were stored across the rafters and upon the planks a variety of articles—including a gun-case, a coil of rope, an old portmanteau, and one of two tin despatch-boxes—were stowed away.

The rafters were pierced by iron hooks from which depended some flitches of bacon and bunches of dried herbs.

At the far end of the cabin a small raised platform, curtained off, formed the sleeping apartment of the occupant. A low window ran along the north wall, lighting the whole length of the solid carpenter's table beneath it. The deep walled porch faced the west end of the cottage, and a verandah, supported on rough posts of yew, shaded the south front.

There was but little furniture. A cooking stove, a couple of wooden arm-chairs with red cushions, a writing table, a small square tea-table, and many books on shelves running round the room.

A little stream of water fell continually from the mouth of an iron pipe in the wall into a curious old stone trough, with an opening which carried the overflow into the garden. Above the mouth of the pipe were fixed some strong wooden shelves, holding a few cooking utensils, pots, and pans.

The scrupulous order which characterised the abode formed a contrast to the careless attire of its occupant.

"He did it all himself; took down the partitions, match-lined the walls, and made the north window and the shelves, and even the chairs. Look how carefully the legs are morticed in," said Winefride, zealously doing the honours. "None of the furniture is bought."

"Would you have a hermit buy furniture," said Mr. Edyvean, with a grim smile. "And one takes care to make those chairs solid upon which one intends to seat oneself. The making of the cushions was a more difficult matter than the making of the chairs."

"He cured the feathers of his own poultry, and sewed up the red cases of turkey twill with string to make cushions," said Winefride, proudly. "He wouldn't let anyone even sew for him."

Michael moved out on to the verandah, and stood looking across the gully and the waterfall to the rounded tops of the bare forest trees opposite, on which the morning sunshine lay calmly, illuminating brown trunks and still interlacing boughs, and brown gold carpet of dead leaves and grass, from which the wild daffodils lifted their pale yellow heads.

THE WEEK IN LONDON

AN AUSTRALIAN'S NOTES.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, Feb. 7.

Pacific Fleet—the Present Position

During the whole of yesterday the New Zealand Minister for Defence, Mr. James Allen, was present at a sitting of the Imperial Defence Committee. The Premier, Mr. Asquith, was in the chair, and Mr. Winston Churchill and Mr. Allen's old schoolfellow, Mr. Sydney Buxton, were amongst those present. The private proceedings of this committee are in the strictest sense confidential; a man is bound to keep them even from his wife. But I understand that Mr. Allen has already seen enough of the British Government to assure him that it is willing and anxious to help the dominions in the Pacific, in their schemes of defence, by any means in its power.

When each of the dominions in the Pacific has come to its decision to inaugurate some scheme of naval defence, then clearly there must be a conference between the dominions and the representatives of the mother country, to arrive at one workable scheme for the whole British naval defence in the Pacific and that whether Canada joins in or not. But the position now is that it is realised that this conference cannot be held as early as those in authority here at first expected. The permanent defence of the Pacific cannot be settled upon until at least New Zealand has decided whether she will actively participate in it. And New Zealand will probably not come to a decision until Mr. Allen has returned and laid before the Ministers there the views of the British Government. I understand that, as far as can be at present foreseen, October is about the earliest date that could be convenient for New Zealand.

The Marconi "Scandal."

Some months ago there was floating around England a rumour that Ministers in the British Government were dealing in Marconi shares. At that time the Government was just completing with the Marconi Company the big contract which sent the Marconi shares hurrying up skywards. Speaking for oneself, the person from whom one heard the rumour was an official of the Marconi Company, and he stated it quite as definitely as people generally do—he gave the name of one of the Ministers, and a very well-known name at that. But as a Marconi official, however high he may be, has no more opportunity of getting inside knowledge about private dealings in Marconi shares, than an official in Bryant and May's, or Day and Martin's, one took this rumour at its true strength—as an everyday rumour of the Stock Exchange.

One very distinguished financial critic, however, Mr. W. R. Lawson, who formerly was, for a time, leader-writer on a South Australian paper, did what many journalists have done before him. He suspected that there was truth in the rumours, shot an arrow more or less at a venture; and when no reply came from the Ministers whom he had shot at, he probably concluded that they were silent because his arrow had gone, not too crooked, but too straight. In short, he was led on into making suggestion after suggestion which, although he has tried to explain away some of them since, were full of very clear meaning to everyone that read them at the time. He said, for example, that the committee of inquiry would have to investigate "the mysterious relations between the Attorney-General and the Marconi Company." He wrote that ". . . altogether three members of the Government had figured more or less in this mysterious episode—the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Postmaster-General, and the Attorney-General." Again he wrote that "in Throgmorton-street four names have of late been associated with Marconi shares. Three of them have already appeared prominently in these disclosures, and need not be repeated. The fourth is a well-known Kaffir magnate."

This week Mr. Lawson has had the humiliation of withdrawing charge after charge before the committee, and confessing that he could find not a fraction of evidence for the rumours about Ministers. He withdrew his statement about the "well-known kaffir magnate," and said he could not remember who the other three men were that he had in mind. He said he thought that the rumours originated somewhere in the West End.

At the same time, the inquiry is not finished. These rumours, however wild they may be, have now been proclaimed to the world, and one cannot help feeling—as the "Financial News" said last month—that "the public requires to know, in the case of those persons who have transacted business in large lines of Marconi shares, whether they were acting on their own account, or whether they were, like the Hon. G. S. Montagu, acting for third parties, and, if so, who those third parties were."

Wanted, a Big Scheme.

There is a hospital-school near London, to which the London County Council sends those children from its schools who are found suffering from infectious eye diseases, such as the "trachoma," which is introduced into the lowest parts of Lodon by immigrants from the East. This hospital-school, like the modern workhouse schools, is built in the shape of a sort of delightful large school village in the country—a ring of houses around a green. There the children are sent for a year, two years, even four years, to be cured.

I was talking last week to a distinguished eye specialist, on whose advice the London County Council largely depends, and he mentioned—as if it were a matter of common knowledge—the fact that a large proportion of the children in this school were feeble-minded. The natural inference was that this feeble-mindedness was in some way connected with the eye disease, and I asked him if this were so.

His reply came as a shock. "Oh, no," he said. "It's their life and the surroundings in which they were brought up that are responsible for that. You see, it's from the worst quarters in London that these children with affected eyes come. Their parents are often the dregs of the population, and what brains they inherit have never a chance to grow under conditions of food and surroundings such as they get there. It is surprising how their brains develop after a couple of years of good food and country air. Their brains have been simply short of nourishment. After a time down here some of them become quite sharp-witted."

I asked him then the question which is continually in the minds of Australians here: whether, if by some bold comprehensive scheme the conditions which are responsible for all this inefficiency were swept away, such a scheme might not be actually cheaper to the country in the long run than the keeping up of all these splendid expensive schools, hospitals, and other institutions. "My own opinion is that it would pay for itself over and over again," he said.

War Correspondence up to Date.

The brilliant correspondent of an Austrian newspaper, the "Reichspost," who for three months gave to the whole of Europe practically all it knew—or thought it knew—about the Balkan war, yesterday published a book, "With the Victorious Bulgarians." Only a few months ago a chorus of admiration went up on all sides as one brilliant despatch after another appeared dated from the Bulgarian headquarters. But what a different reception was given yesterday to his book.

For the other war correspondents have come home in the meantime; and they have each of them stories to tell. The correspondent of the "Daily Chronicle" is home in time to review the book; and he says that for a considerable period, whilst Lieut. Wagner was dating his despatches from "headquarters," he was writing them in the Hotel Bulgarie, at Sofia. The correspondent of the "Daily Graphic" is also chosen by his editor to review Lieut. Wagner's book; and he says: "I dined with him in the filthy little restaurant at ... Zagora, not once, but many times, and I shared the surprise of my comrades when I learnt afterwards of the remarkable exploits by which this correspondent had taken the wind out of our sails. Sometimes I have wondered whether I really did dine with him in that restaurant of unforgettable filth, or whether I dined with the ghost of Hermenegild Wagner in the ghost of his corduroys. Obviously, a man cannot be in two places at once unless he can dump down his flesh in one place and project his spirit to another."

EDUCATION.

QUALIFYING CERTIFICATE.

A parent complains that his son, aged 11 years, was promoted to the fifth class in a Public school last October, sat for the qualifying certificate seven weeks later, and succeeded in passing the examination. He wishes to know who the examiners are, and how long pupils must remain in the fifth class to be eligible to sit for this examination.

The Education Department states that the examiners are the Inspector of Schools and certain members of the staff of the State High schools. There is no minimum period but pupils are supposed to complete the fifth class primary course, before sitting for the examination, but all pupils who have been 18 months in fifth class are expected to sit for the qualifying certificate. In the case under notice the boy may continue in fifth class, and sit in November for a scholarship or bursary, provided he is under 14 years on the date of examination. He may compete each year until successful, or until he is over this age.

JEWISH EDUCATION.

The annual report of the New South Wales Board of Jewish Education states that the extension of the work inaugurated in recent years has been maintained with success, and classes continue to be held, under the provisions of the Public Instruction Act, for the Jewish pupils attending the Public schools at Crown-street, Paddington, Fort-street, Cleveland-street, Bondi, Newtown, and Forest Lodge, with neighbouring centres. Increased difficulty is experienced in obtaining the attendance of several pupils owing to the preparation in all schools for qualifying certificates, bursaries, and scholarships for entry into the divisions of the superior Public schools now classed as high schools. This development is being carefully watched by the council. The solution of some of the difficulties experienced by the board lies largely in the hands of parents, who can support the council and the teachers by keeping well before their children the importance of Jewish instruction. Until the facilities already offered are adequately availed of by the Jewish families concerned, the council hesitates to introduce any of the important expansions it has in view.

Regret is expressed at the irregular attendance of many pupils, which stands in the way of their acquiring during school-years an adequate acquaintance with the tenets of Judaism and the language of its devotions. The religious knowledge and feeling of the Jewish population of this State must steadily decline unless more attention is given to these studies in youth, since little, if any, further study can be expected in later years.

The returns show a considerable diminution of pupils at several of the Public schools visited by the board's teachers. This is partly due to the increased scattering of the Jewish population, as well as to the effect of the High School changes on the attendance of the elder children. The council intends to meet the contingency by opening new centres to be visited as opportunities arise. But it will be understood that centres can be visited only where a sufficient number of Jewish children can be massed.

Some compensation has been felt by the council in observing that so far from attendance at the board's classes prejudicing the progress of those who lose the secular instruction going on at the same time, the most brilliant successes in the attainment of scholarships and bursaries have again this year fallen among the Jewish candidates to those who have been most regular pupils of the board. At the same time with the decrease in week-day pupils there is a continued growth of the Sunday classes. The Sabbath school, open to all comers without charge, does not, however, receive anything like the number of additional pupils to be expected from the progress in numbers of the Jewish community. "This is the more to be regretted," the report adds, "as, owing to the need for teaching Hebrew in the week-day and Sunday classes, the Sabbath school is the chief means of teaching the ethical and doctrinal sides of Judaism to children; and the good repute of the community, as well as its own self-respect, is particularly bound up with the extent of such instruction."

DEPARTMENTAL MATTERS.

Arrangements are to be made by the department for an evening course of instruction in business principles for women teachers, so that competent instructors shall be available next year to undertake the teaching of business lessons as prescribed in the second year of the domestic science course of Superior schools. A class will be formed shortly after the Easter vacation under a qualified expert. A course of twenty-five weekly lessons will be given. The department invites applications from women teachers who have in view the teaching of the subject during 1914 and later years. A class of about forty will be formed, and a selection to that number will be made should there be applicants in excess of the figure mentioned.

First-assistant teachers who desire to be considered applicants for appointment as principal of an evening continuation school should apply to Mr. J. Dawson, chief inspector, without delay. Assistant teachers who desire appointment as subject-teachers in metropolitan evening continuation schools should also make application, stating qualifications in full. Those who have previously applied should now reapply.

Mr. J. Dawson, chief inspector, states that in all cases where pupils have gained the qualifying certificate, and are desirous of attending a school of different type to that which they attended at the time of gaining such certificate, the principal teachers or head mistresses will be expected to advise their to secure enrolment at the school nearest their homes affording instruction of the type desired (commercial, junior technical, or domestic). Pupils must not be encouraged to pass one type of school in order to become pupils of one of a similar type more remote from their homes.

FOOT SMASHED BY GUNSHOT.

WOUND DEFIED ALL ORDINARY TREATMENT FOR 38 YEARS.—MORE WONDERFUL HEALING BY ZAM-BUK.

Convincing testimony to the healing virtue of Zam-Buk is the cure of Mr. J. F. Morey, of 130 Cleveland-street, Sydney, who says:—"While serving with the Cape Mounted Rifles in South Africa in the Basuto War, 1873-4, I sustained a gunshot wound on the right foot. The bullet spread, smashing the foot, and causing a terrible wound. I was incapacitated from further action, and suffered untold agonies. For 38 years I was in an awful state, during which time I tried practically everything I could get hold of to give me respite from the terrible pain. The wound would heal for a time, and then break out as bad as ever. Lead must have remained in the wound all these years, for these terrible outbreaks became more severe.

"At length I obtained a supply of Zam-Buk, and carefully dressed my foot with some, which soothed the wound as nothing else had ever done. In a short time all irritation and rawness were allayed, bad matter withdrawn, and the pain banished. I persisted with Zam-Buk until the wound was completely healed, and I was able to get about without any pain. Zam-Buk gave me ease that I had been a stranger to for 38 years; it is indeed a wonderful healer.

"Now I am employed as a night watchman, and am on my feet a good deal. I find occasional applications of Zam-Buk keep the feet in excellent condition. We always have a supply on hand at home." Sold by all chemists and stores at 1s 6d and 3s 6d pot.—Advt.

(Before Mr. Justice Gordon.)

DECREES ABSOLUTE.

Decrees absolute were pronounced in the following cases:—Caroline Mary Leopold v Steven Walter Leopold; Bennett Frederick Liebich v Rose Anne Lavinia Liebich; Joseph Edward Baylis v Louisa Pearl Baylis; Beatrice Mary Turner v George Michael Turner; Sarah Ann Moore v Alfred George Moore; William Dunstan Wright v Selina May Wright.

HUNTER v HUNTER.

Hephena Grace Hunter (formerly Sutherland) sought a dissolution of her marriage with John Hunter. The parties were married at Cobar on July 28, 1892. The grounds alleged were habitual drunkenness and desertion, and cruelty and drunkenness.

Mr. Mitchell and Mr. A. W. Ralston, instructed by Mr. J. T. Ralston, appeared for the petitioner; and Mr. Whitfield and Mr. Aloysius Cohen, instructed by Messrs. Murphy and Maloney, appeared for the respondent.

This was a cross-petition arising out of the case of Hunter v Hunter, heard during last term, in which the husband sought a divorce on the grounds of alleged misconduct on the part of the wife. That case was decided against the husband, and the wife now petitioned for divorce on the grounds stated.

Argument had not concluded when the Court rose.

BOARD REPRESENTATIVES.

Mr. Moffatt appeared on behalf of the Western District Coal and Shale Employees' Federation, and nominated Edwin Truscott, miner, of Lithgow, as the employees' representative on the Coal and Shale Mining (West) Board. Mr. Bragg appeared for the Lithgow Coal Association, and nominated R. Gibson, mine manager, Lithgow, as employers' representative. The selection of a chairman was held over for a week, by which time, if the parties have not agreed, his Honor will appoint a gentleman to that capacity.

For the nomination of the employees' representative on the Metalliferous Mining (Broken Hill) Board, his Honor said he had received a telegram from Broken Hill nominating W. F. Rowe, engineer.

Mr. E. P. Cohen appeared for the Master Pastrycooks' Association, and nominated J. T. Austin, Oxford-street, city, as employers' representative on the Food Supply and Distribution (No. 1) Group, No. 4 Board.

Mr. R. Croft appeared for the Cutters and Trimmers' Union, and nominated C. Schmidt, Waverley-crescent, Waverley, as employees' representative on the Clothing Trades Group, No. 6 Board.

Mr. T. Miller appeared for the Federated Storemen and Packers' Union, and nominated J. P. Pemberton, storeman, Trades Hall, city, as the employees' representative on the Transport Group, No. 5 Board.

Each of the above nominations were accepted and recommended.

AN APPEAL UPHELD.

The Electrolytic Refining and Smelting Company, for which Mr. R. Windeyer, instructed by Mr. C. Manning, appeared, appealed to the Court against the decision of the Chief Industrial Magistrate in the case of Dunleavy v the company.

This was a case in which Dunleavy, an inspector of the Department of Labour and Industry, proceeded against the company for an alleged breach of an award in declining to pay one of its employees extra pay for working on Prince of Wales' Birthday. In the lower court, the point had been decided on the provisions of the Iron Trades State Board award, issued on August 18, 1911. The appeal was based on the grounds that the company's employees were under the Electrolytic award, issued on May 29, 1911, and which did not recognise the Prince of Wales' Birthday as a holiday for which extra pay had to be given, if worked.

Mr. Lamond, of the Department of Labour and Industry, appeared for inspector Dunleavy.

His Honor allowed the appeal, with £5 5s costs, and £2 2s costs in the court below.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Docker.)

CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

Edwin John Taylor, a caretaker, living at 327 Ernest-street, North Sydney, on behalf of his three-year-old son, Robert, brought an action against G. W. Write, a dairyman, of Meryla-street, Burwood, claiming £400 damages, in connection with injuries said to have been sustained by the child by a kick from a horse.

It was alleged for the plaintiff that the horse was straying on the street, and that it first attempted to bite the child, and afterwards kicked at it. The child did not appear to be injured at first, though somewhat dazed, but a few weeks afterwards developed an abscess over the eye, after an attack of measles.

Mr. Coyle, instructed by Mr. J. W. Abigail, for the plaintiff; and Mr. Chubb, instructed by Mr. G. W. Perkins, for the defendant, who pleaded contributory negligence on the part of the plaintiff.

Mr. Chubb moved for a non-suit, on the ground that there was no evidence to show that the owner was aware the horse was vicious, or that he was straying. An English decision was quoted in support.

His Honor upheld the point, and non-suited the plaintiff.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Backhouse and a jury.)

Mr. Herbert Harris prosecuted for the Crown.

YOUTHFUL HOUSEBREAKERS.

William Herbert Dawson and Herbert Thomas Gerard, two lads of 16, were each bound over in their own recognisances to appear for sentence if called upon

They had pleaded guilty to seven charges of breaking and entering, and stealing.

His Honor pointed out that as each had at least 18 months to serve at the Brush Farm Reformatory, from which they had absconded, he would give them another chance to mend their ways.

A PLEA OF GUILTY.

Louis Henry Walker was charged with having, at Guyra, on September 9 last stolen a quantity of furniture and other articles, the property of the City Finance Company, Limited. He pleaded guilty, and was remanded for sentence.

FALSE PRETENCES.

Austin Edwards, who was charged with having obtained a quantity of goods from F. Lassetter and Co., Ltd., by falsely pretending that he was a plantation owner at Fiji, and had a bank account at Suva, withdrew his plea of not guilty, and substituted one of guilty. He was ordered 18 months' hard labour in Bathurst gaol, permission being given him to petition for release at the end of 12 months.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY.

Ernest George Beesley and William Shearer were charged with having, on December 2 last, conspired to cheat and defraud the Colonial Mutual Life Assurance Society, Ltd., of various large sums of money.

Mr. MacLaurin appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. W. A. Hawkins was the solicitor for the defence assigned to the accused by the Crown.

It was stated for the prosecution that one of the defendants was superintendent and the other assistant superintendent of the North Sydney district for the Colonial Mutual Society, and they were doing industrial insurance business, in which the superintendent used his own discretion with regard to commissions paid to agents. Agents for industrial insurance received eight times the value of the first premium, and also other commission. It was alleged that commissions were arranged, in respect of bogus business, for two dummy agents, and for a third agent who had left the society.

Evidence was called for the prosecution. The case stands part heard.

LAND APPEAL COURT.

The following reserved judgments were delivered by the Court yesterday:—

In re Reeves.

This was a reference by Grenfell Land Board for direction in respect of James Reeves's homestead selection application, Grenfell. A homestead selection was notified as forfeited by "Gazette" notice of August 28, 1912, and was again applied for as a homestead selection on October 28, 1912. The question was whether the land was available on teh latter date.

The Court answered the question in the affirmative.

In re Cousins.

This was a reference by the Minister for Lands for determination in respect of an application by Edward Cousins for permission to transfer to Ivy Albenia Carrigan conditional purchase and conditional lease, Moree.

The Court dismissed the reference.

Re Patrick F. Ryan.

This was a reference by the Warialda Land Board for direction as to the appraisement of the value of Crown improvements on Patrick Francis Ryan's additional settlement lease, Warialda. The board in its reference said: "Being in doubt as to whether ringbarking can be considered such an improvement as is contemplated by section 51, Act 1895, by which tenant right is conferred as being of a permanent, fixed, and substantial character, and necessary for the profitable occupation of the land, we refer the case to the Land Appeal Court for direction."

The Court answered the question in the affirmative, provided that the ringbarking was effective.

In re Hope.

This was an appeal by Arthur Bobart Hope against the recommendation of the local land board in respect of scrub lease of 11,240 acres at Condobolin and Forbes.

The Court held that there were not sufficiently good reasons at present to disturb the scrub lease, and that it would be inexpedient to do so. For this reason it sustained the appeal.

CHARGE AGAINST A CHINESE.

War Lee, aged 35, a Chinese, who has been in Australia for 25 years, was charged before Mr. Love, S.M., at the Central Police Court, on Monday, with having attempted to utter two counterfeit coins to Edmund Ellison, licensee of the Duke of Manchester Hotel, William-street, on March 5. Mr. Carroll appeared for the defence.

It was stated for the prosecution that Lee tried to change first a bad florin, and then a bad half-crown in payment for drinks at the hotel.

Lee stated that he owned a furniture factory in William-street, Alexandria, and on March 5 left home with over £60 in his possession. He was going to pay bills and get orders, and he received the coins, which, it was afterwards found, were spurious as change when he paid an account at the Glenroy Hotel, Alexandria.

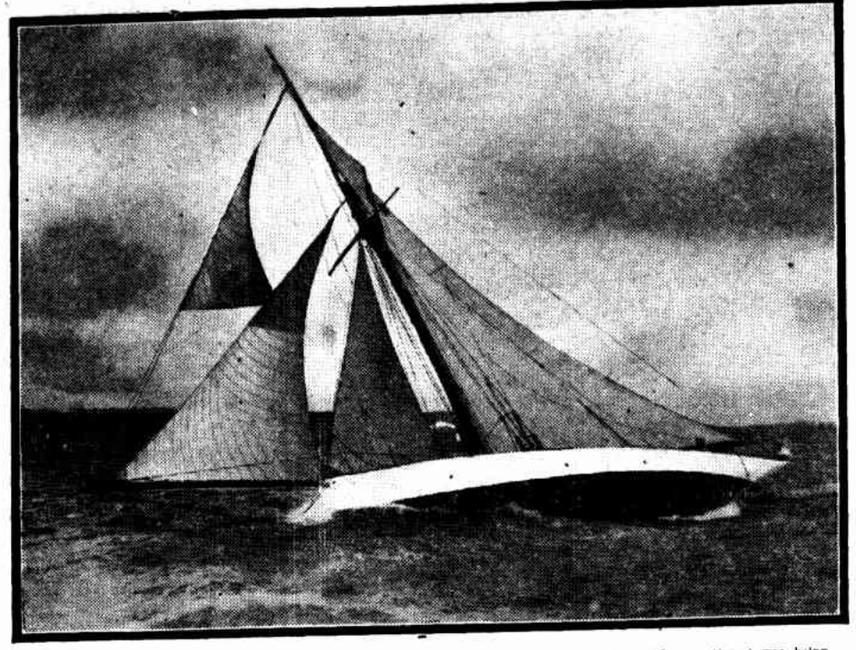

Theresa Glendenning, mother of the licensee of the Glenroy Hotel, said that she gave change to Lee, including a florin and a half-crown, which might or might not be those produced. She took the money out of the till, and, as far as she knew, it was good.

Mr. Carroll urged that the accused had given a satisfactory account of himself, and said that no jury would convict, but the magistrate committed Lee for trial.

POLICE COURTS.

A BOGUS POLICEMAN.

Vernon Stewart Grey, a native of Victoria, aged 24, was charged before Mr. Love, S.M., at the Central Police Court, with having pretended to be a plain-clothes constable. A fine of £5 was imposed, the alternative being seven days' imprisonment.

A CHEQUE FOR £850.

At the Central Police Court, on Monday, Hugh Hollingsworth, aged 29, and Allan Albert Henry Hollingsworth, aged 22, both belonging to South Australia, were charged in connection with a forgery case in Melbourne. The former was charged with having on or about February 12, forged and uttered a cheque for £850 on the National Bank of Australasia, Melbourne, with intent to defraud. Allan Hollingsworth was charged with harbouring the other accused, well knowing that he had forged and uttered the cheque, and also with having in his custody the sum of £274 7s 9d, which might reasonably be suspected of having been stolen.

It was stated that the two accused had about £300 between them in their possession when arrested. A remand was granted till the 17th instant, bail being fixed at £600, with surety for the same amount in each instance.

CARGO STEALING.

James Bush, 21, pleaded guilty before Mr. King, S.M., at the Water Police Court yesterday, to a charge of stealing 11 pairs of ladies' hose valued at 16s 6d, from the German mail steamer Friedrich der Grosse, at Sydney on March 5.

Evidence was given that accused was working on the vessel, and was seen coming from the steamer's hatch with the stockings in his shirt. He was handed over to Constable Cunneen. The magistrate refused to impose a fine, and sentenced accused to three months' hard labour.

STEALING FROM A SHIP.

Frank King, 29, pleaded guilty before Mr. King, S.M., at the Water Police Court yesterday, to a charge of stealing a coat, two vests, one pair of trousers, a purse, and 18s 6d in money—valued in all at £3—the property of Charles Eklund, from the steamship Newcastle, at Sydney, on March 7.

Charles Eklund, a seaman on the Newcastle, identified the articles as his property, and accused was remanded for sentence.

RAID ON STRAYING CATTLE.

The stock-straying nuisance is bitterly complained of in the municipality of Willoughby. At the North Sydney Police Court yesterday, 10 persons were fined for offences in this respect, and fines were imposed of from 2s 6d to 20s.

THE BOXING CONTEST.

QUESTION OF A COMMISSION.

The appeal on behalf of the plaintiff in the action Langford v M'Intosh, arising out of a boxing agreement, was again before Mr. Justice Ferguson, in Chambers, yesterday, when certain legal complications were explained. Mr. Armstrong, instructed by Mr. W. Arnott, appeared for the plaintiff, on a motion to set aside the decision of the Prothonotary, who had granted defendant a commission to take evidence in America in support of his cross action. Dr. Brissenden, instructed by Mr. Arthur Deery, appeared for the defendant, Hugh D. M'Intosh, in support of the Prothonotary's order. Mr. Armstrong said that there had been a development in the matter since it was last before his Honor. To the plaintiff's declaration there were two pleas filed by defendant. One was a plea by way of cross-action, and the other alleged non-performance by the plaintiff of a condition precedent to his right of action. The latter plea was demurred to before the Full Court, which, however, held that it was a good answer to the declaration.

His Honor: So that, as the case now stands, defendant is entitled to judgment in the action.

Mr. Armstrong: Yes; but I am certainly going to, and I suppose that counsel on the other side is likely to raise, in some form or another, the point now before his Honor. Plaintiff opposed the commission, on the ground that the evidence sought to be obtained would be irrelevant and inadmissible.

Dr. Brissenden said his contention was that the evidence sought to be obtained would be material, and that if the fight between Langford and Jeanette had come off in Sydney it would probably have been such a draw that defendant would have been able to satisfy the plaintiff's claim, and possibly make a profit for himself.

After further argument, the matter was adjourned to consider a suggestion that the plaintiff's action and the defendant's cross-action should be tried separately.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

FOREIGN MISSIONS.

CIRCUIT AMALGAMATION.

When the Methodist Conference reasumed its sittings yesterday, the secretary read a letter from the Premier inviting representatives of the Methodist Church to be present at the departure of Lord and Lady Chelmsford.

On the motion of Mr. England, it was agreed that the president of the conference attend as their representative.

The Rev. W. H. Beale gave notice of the following motion:—"That the conference records its grave and emphatic disapproval of the compulsory clauses of the Defence Act providing for the conscription, enrolment, and training for military purposes of the youth of the community, as assailing the foundation of character, outraging personal liberty, invading the sphere of parental rights and responsibilities, and inflicting serious injury upon our national life and character."

Mr. W. Robson, M.L.C., submitted his report of the committee of advice on the investments of the supernumerary fund in New South Wales, which was adopted.

The conference agreed that the secretary should send a copy of the resolution dealing with minimum stipends to the circuit stewards and quarterly meetings.

It was resolved that the conference meet at 9.45 each morning until the conclusion of the sessions.

The business of the foreign missionary department was resumed, with the Rev. J. Danks in charge. A long discussion took place on New Britain affairs, during which the Rev. K. Schmidt moved,—"That this conference recommends to the General Conference that owing to the difficulties prevailing in the New Britain district on account of German-speaking ministers not being available in Australia, steps be taken at once to ensure the legal co-operation of the German Methodist Episcopal Church, with the view of securing more effective help for that district on the basis of an agreement to be arranged by the board to be put before the next conference."

As an addendum to the foregoing, the following was submitted by the Rev. H. Fellmann:—"That, in view of Bishop Nuelsen's letter to the general secretary of the Foreign Mission Society, pointing out certain legal difficulties in regard to the appointment of German Methodist ministers to our mission in New Britain, this conference directs the mission board (1) to respectfully request the conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church to take such steps as may be necessary in order to secure their legal co-operation in the manning of the stations of the New Britain district; (2) that the mission board enter into negotiations with the German Methodist conferences to arrange matters in regard to such ministers as may be transferred absolutely to this conference, and their relationship to the supernumerary fund of the German Metnodist Church, should such ministers desire to return to the home conferences."

Mr. England moved, as an amendment, that the whole matter be referred back to the board of missions, with direction to report to the next general conference. The amendment was carried.

Mr. J. Blanksby gave notice of motion to the following effect:—"This conference declares (1) That any amendment of the station sheet by the ministerial session of the conference is a direct and distinct subversion of the powers and privileges of the enlarged stationing committee; (2) that, before the enlarged stationing committee is asked to consider the sheet for the third reading of stations, it should be assured that all ministers and probationers whose names appear on the sheet as available for appointment are so available, and that no reasonable grounds exist for anticipating that any action of the ministerial or the representative sessions of the conference will render any such minister or probationer unavailable for appointment; (3) that, when it is known that some action is pending which may result in adding to or removing from the station sheet the name of any minister or probationer available for appointment, the presentation of such sheet to the enlarged stationing committee for the third reading is an unjust treatment of the rights and privileges of such committee, destroying any value which might otherwise attach to its work, and tending to make such a committee an object of contempt; (4) that the addition to the station sheet, or the removal therefrom of the name of any minister or probationer available for appointment, renders it necessary that the said sheet be revised by the enlarged stationing committee."

The Rev. W. Woolls Rutledge presented the report of the commission in connection with the amalgamation of the Goulburn Goldsmith-street and Lagoon-street circuits. The commission, which consisted of the Revs. Woolls Rutledge and John Penman, and Mr. J. Garrard, went to Goulburn on Saturday last. Meetings of the quarterly boards of the respective circuits were held separately in the afternoon, at both meetings the members were almost unanimous in favour of the union. In the evening an united meeting was held, and the following resolution was carried unanimously,—"That this meeting, representing the quarterly meetings of the Lagoon-street and Goldsmith-street circuits, agrees to the amalgamation of the circuits at once, so as to form the Goulburn circuit with two married ministers to be appointed by the present conference, and that the conference be asked to take the necessary steps to give effect to this resolution."

The Rev. W. H. Beale moved,—"That the consent to register the college under the Bursaries Endowment Act does not carry with it the approval of the conference that bursaars should be received by the college as pupils." There was some discussion, and when the vote was taken the motion was lost, the voting being 31 for, 54 against.

The Rev. C. J. Prescott presented the report and balance-sheet of Newington College, which showed the average number of boys for the year was 209, some 50 being boarders. A good number of boys had passed the Junior Examination, one of whom won the geology medal. Eight passed the senior examination, three of that number, all sons of the manse, having obtained exceptionally good passes, one having secured a proximo accessit for the medal, two others winning the algebra and the geography medal respectively. Two were bracketed for the Schofield scholarship, and the dux prize. The athletic record was excellent. The school won the cricket shield, the football shield, and the Rawson Cup for shooting.

The council of the college has received permission to celebrate its jubilee, and requests the conference to set aside a minister to canvass the State to obtain subscriptions towards needed extensions and the reduction of the debt on the institution. The report and balance-sheet were adopted.

The evening session was occupied with a discussion upon a scheme for the celebration of the jubilee of Newington College. The proposal was introduced by Mr. Cull, and debated at considerable length. The conference adopted a scheme. The Rev. John Hulme was appointed to carry out the project.

The Rev. P. Clinsham was re-appointed manager, and the Rev. J. E. Carruthers editor, of the official journal.

The Rev. W. H Beale presented the report of the Methodist Book Depot, which was adopted, and Mr. Beale re-appointed book steward.

CITY SHOOTING AFFRAY.

HATTON REMANDED.

The name of Edgar Alfred Hatton, aged 52, appeared on the list at the Central Police Court yesterday, the charge against him being that on the 7th instant he did shoot at Lila Coghlin with intent to murder her.

Sergeant Mankey stated that the doctor had reported that the accused, who shot himself in the head just after he was alleged to have fired at Coghlin in the Cambridge Hotel, was too ill to attend the Court. A remand was asked for till Friday, which was granted.

REGENT-STREET DISPENSARY.

The directors of the Sydney Hospital waited on the Premier yesterday to urge a request in connection with the erection of a building on a section in Regent-street.

Some years ago the board secured the land by a Government grant, and it uses the property as a dispensary. Desiring to demolish the present structure and erect a large building, portions of which it was proposed to let as shops, the board asked Mr. Lee, when Minister for Works, for permission, but this was refused. The board now desired to erect a suitable building with a portion to be let as residential chambers, and with that end in view consulted Mr. M'Gowen.

Mr. M'Gowen quoted the objection of Dr. Paton, Inspector-General of Hospitals, to the shop-letting proposal, but said that he, personally, had no objection, and desired to aid the board in every way. The alternative suggestion (to let as residential chambers) might be acceptable to the Government's expert, and perhaps the deputation could approach him and harmonise their desires.

This suggestion was accepted.

ON THE LAND.

FARM AND STATION.

WHEAT TRANSPORT.

The extremely unsatisfactory conditions attached to the transport of wheat on our railways continues to arouse uneasiness. To those acquainted with conditions and prospects the question is one of the greatest moment. It is acute to-day; later it may become ruinous. There is more involved in this matter than our politicians or the general public appear to realise, otherwise reform could not be delayed. Those who do realise the position towards which we are rapidly drifting cannot fail to be alarmed. The following remarks made by a gentleman closely in touch with the industry show the feeling of many in both city and country. Asked for an opinion, he said:—

"You are to be congratulated for again giving prominence to the vexed question of wheat transport. As a body our wheatgrowers are, as you say, as progressive as any in the world—in fact, compared with the growers of many of the older countries, they show an aptitude for the work which is quite in keeping with the importance of the great industry they have pioneered in this new country. But, despite their up-to-dateness in accepting every device which savours of economy in the production of wheat, it is only to be regretted that they cannot have some say in the selection of methods more economical in the transport and finance of their crop. Will any person say that wheat—which, after all, is food for human consumption—improves by being stacked in the open, or even in a semi-exposed shed, which is open to the ravages of mice, rats, rabbits, and pests of every kind, to say nothing of the damage so often done by rain? As a recent Governor-General said (when speaking at the Sydney Royal Agricultural Society's banquet), he could not understand why wheat was left exposed at the country railway stations. The waste appeared to him to be enormous. This remark was made as the result of the casual glance of an observant passer-by; but there was much behind the statement.

"We have to-day nearly 15,000,000 bushels practically stacked in the open. In the sheds it is partially protected from the weather; but what would occur in the shape of damage if we had heavy autumn rains? Thousands of bushels would be destroyed, and the destruction by vermin is equally great. The system is wasteful to a degree, and no industry can ever expect to attain a leading place when it is handicapped to such an extent at this particular stage of its development. I say 'at this stage' because during the last few years wheat land has nearly doubled in value, and labour is quite 50 per cent. higher, so the cost of production has necessarily increased. Whilst the wheatgrowers have adopted every advanced method for economically producing the crop, the other items which contribute so much to the cost, viz., bags and transport, are dearer to-day than ever before in the history of the industry. Bags which only a decade ago cost 5s per four-bushel capacity now cost 7s and 8s for a capacity of three bushels, and labour incidental to the transport costs about double. Matters have, therefore, about reached a climax, for if the world's prices for wheat dropped to, say, 35s per quarter, growers would only receive about 2s 10d or 3s at country stations, and on our average yield per acre this would leave only the narrowest margin for the producer. We not only want improved methods of transport but there is a matter also which should engage the serious attention of those in authority if the industry is ever to attain the proportions expected. It has been quite an easy matter to finance a crop of twelve to fifteen million bushels, especially in years when money has been obtainable for the asking, but in a tight money market such as the present, when advances are only available for gilt-edged securities, to finance the wheat crop is a serious matter, and the lack of better methods of finance simply means that the producers suffer. The day has gone by when it is expected that the whole crop should be transported from the country and turned into cash in a month or two, and it is not desirable that such should be the case, for it necessarily means that the wheatgrowers receive less for their wheat than they otherwise would. The present system of paying for wheat at the railway yards, and allowing it to remain until trucks are available for its transport to the seaboard, simply means that some undue risk has to be taken by someone, and naturally for an undue risk a much higher charge is made than would be the case if the risk were minimised.

"Seeing that the railways are constructed into the interior mainly for agricultural development, and the revenue from the transport of produce goes to the Government railways, it should not be asking too much for the railways to accept responsibility for the wheat when delivered on their property, namely, the railway station yards. They at present make provision for housing a certain quantity at each station, thus showing their obligation to the industry, and if it is their duty to provide accommodation it should surely be their duty to accept some reasonable responsibility. It clearly then becomes the duty of the Government to see that receipts are given to the farmer, miller, or shipper for the number of bags received at the country railway station. Reasonable responsibility should be accepted to see that the wheat is not destroyed by exposure to the weather whilst waiting for trucks, and the receipt given by the country stationmaster should be such a receipt as would throw the responsibility of the safe delivery of the wheat to the buyers at this end on the railways. This receipt should be in the form of a negotiable document, and the farmer should be able to finance his farming operations with this, should he decide to hold his wheat, or he should be able to demand payment in exchange for this receipt, and the buyer purchasing should in turn be able to finance his operations without serious difficulties. This would not be as complete or as satisfactory a system as bulk handling, but it would serve its purpose for a few years until a proper economic system for handling wheat is installed."

To strengthen the above remarks comes the statement of another gentleman who has recently returned from a journey along the Temora-Barellan railway line. This is all wheat country that has been developed by growers within recent years and this is how our railway service is treating the men carrying out this all-important national work:—

"Along the line from Temora to Barellan, at each station, there are piled huge stacks of wheat. They are standing covered temporarily with galvanised iron on the top of the stacks, the ends and sides being exposed to the weather. It is estimated that there are no less than 3,000,000 bushels of wheat lying at the four stations between Temora and Ardlethan. Some of the owners have tried in vain to have it shipped to Sydney. The wheat has been shifted at the rate of one ten-ton truck per week. At that rate it would take a year or more to get rid of the accumulations. Much of this wheat, perhaps most of it, belongs to the leading buyers, but proportion of it, at least, is the property of farmers who have wanted to send it away and have not been able to obtain trucks. Fortunately, up to the time of my visit the weather had been fine. There had been no rain upon the wheat, so it had not been injured. But if heavy rains come, and they may be expected, there must be enormous loss. It is obvious that the loss must ultimately be carried by the farmer. With past experience in mind, it is hardly likely that the big buyers do not make allowance for the contingencies attached to our railway transport arrangements, or lack of them. As with the wheat, so with other industries. The tin miners at Ardlethan are in a similar plight to the wheat-grower, as they have to stand by and see their ore lying day after day awaiting transit to Sydney. It is a monstrous position all round."

Such facts cannot be ignored. And to emphasise them the dry spell has broken, and in the very district referred to above heavy rain was recorded up till yesterday morning. The rain comes at a good time, just when the ploughing period is at hand. It should be an unmixed blessing in the wheat belt. But while it fell on the paddocks and fallow land, it fell on the grain grown last season, damaging the people's bread. How can politicians ignore such a position? In other ways it is both suicidal and contradictory in the extreme. On the one hand the Department of Agriculture is utilising its forces to endeavour to secure the heaviest results from our wheatfields. Our Lands Department exists to help settlement increase in the wheat belt. Ministers emphasise the necessity for a larger cultivation area, and even threaten drastic legislation if sheep paddocks do not give way to wheat paddocks more quickly if settlement is not accelerated. Every publicist dwells upon the necessity for more population, more wheat farms and wheatgrowers. Every practical man acquainted with the capabilities of our wheat country knows that we are not growing one-tenth of the wheat that we could grow without going beyond the zone of proven safety. And similarly they know that unless our methods of railway transport and handling of wheat are radically altered any attempt to enlarge the wheat area to any considerable extent would be nothing short of calamitous. The Railway Department blocks the fructification of the work of the other great departments, and stands inertly in the way of an urgent national necessity. Departmental opposition and political apathy threaten to virtually paralyse the development of one of our greatest industries—are, indeed, doing so in some districts at the present time. This is no new trouble—it has become chronic, incredible as that may seem. Conference after conference of farmers have proclaimed the necessity for improved methods. The present Government came into power pledged to the introduction of the elevator system. Yet, the above conditions exist.

ENGLISH WOOL TRADE.

MERINOS AGAIN HARDENING.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

BRADFORD, Feb. 7.

Another week has passed, and still wool interests are dominant. As time passes there is nothing whatever to indicate diminishing interest in the raw material, and a steady development is still to be noted all along the line. We cannot possibly trace all the factors which are at work helping to bring about the advance, but every week there are forces at work which are telling for good upon the market, and wool shows increasing strength as the weeks go by. One wonders if the close of the weekly sales in Australia has had any effect upon the course of prices on this side, and whether the laggards have at last determined to join the throng by coming in and covering. Whatever the cause, the effects are clearly to be seen, for we find values still hardening, and in some cases an advance has actually been made this week. Our fear all along has been that values were making headway too fast, and that the foundation of things lacked a little strength. We have found it safest and best to know that the principles upon which operations and advances took place were solid, for we are certain that good paying prices for growers, with a correspondingly satisfactory price for tops, yarns, and pieces, are far better than sky prices for wool, which are inevitably followed sooner or later by a nasty setback. We believe that the majority in the trade have not lost their head, and are striving their utmost to guard against a fall. Nobody wants to see a slump, and if the condition of things at the consumptive end of the industry accounts for anything, we certainly think that there is nothing to indicate a development on wrong lines.

MERINOS VERY DEAR.

It cannot be said that this week has seen any further real advance in merinos, though the movement is still towards higher prices. We have not heard of any sales of 64's under half a crown, even the rank and file topmakers to-day being firm as that price. It is still possible to buy a decent article at 20d, but if this present temper continues, and a few more sales are made, we can easily see a further 1d advance. Some are so sanguine over the future of prices that they make no secret about their willingness to bet new hats that we shall have merinos pence per lb dearer before next July. It is to be hoped that we shall not, but many a more unlikely thing is possible. If forcing tactics are now adopted, and merino wool goes dearer next March in London, of which there is every probability, there is no telling where prices may get to, but at present a decent 64's can still be obtained at half a crown, with corresponding figures for 70's and 80's. Someone said the other day that there is as much quality as any spinner likes to see in the tops this season, and that is quite correct. We have not heard any complaints this time of a lack of quality, it being more in the length of staple where the deficiency occurs. Some think that results were not as good as they might be, but taking tops as a whole, they are giving a fair measure of satisfaction. Topmakers are being asked to keep up to their contracts, and some spinners are even waiving deliveries a month before they are due, a clear proof that they have no surplus by them. Commission wool combers are as busy as industrious bees, but the experience of all topmakers is not alike, some being well able to satisfy all their customers' demands, while others are a little behind with their deliveries. Fine noils are also selling freely, and making more money. We do not hear of large stocks existing, and what looked like being a dragging season for noils is turning out much better than the majority ...

Cape tops are also moving freely, and making more money. It is a fact that for a really good long top 2s 5½d has been made this week, and some are holding out for 2s 6d, but a more average price is 2s 5½d. The market is certainly not overstocked with this class of wool, and it looks as if all available supplies of Cape produce will be readily absorbed.

MORE ACTIVITY IN CROSSBREDS.

The feature of the week has undoubtedly been the move in crossbreds, these manifesting more activity than we have seen since last autumn. It is not altogether clear where the inspiration has come from, but nobody need quibble a great deal over that. We are inclined to think that it is partly due to the continued activity of wool at New Zealand centres, together with the exhaustion of stocks in Buenos Ayres. We have heard a lot lately about shortage, but we hope interested parties are not attempting to frighten the trade and running some into a bog. By all means let us have a true and honest statement of actual facts, and let us not see a spirit of selfishness and greed manifest by those who see a chance of obtaining extraordinary profits on any wools they have bough by way of speculation. When this is the case confidence is soon undermined, the trade loses faith in the future, and prices are bound to suffer. However, the facts are that this week there has been a partial renewal of buying at the crossbred end of the trade, and we are glad to see it. It is high time that crossbreds had a turn, for 40's prepared at 16d look cheap against 64's at half a crown. It is certain that if the Balkan question had not come along medium and low crossbred yarn spinners would have had greater faith in the future, and we know several who this week have refused 16d for 40's, though many of their competitors have been willing sellers, some fair weights being disposed of last Monday at 15¾d. Still, we see no reason why all classes of tops from 36's to 50's should not participate in a little rise, for prices are not yet out of hand, and wool is not too dear. There is also a nice steady business doing in fine crossbreds, and we are certain that, taking all things into consideration, the prospects have much improved so far as crossbreds generally are concerned. When the Balkan trouble is ended, there should be a change from the present unsatisfactory condition of the export yarn trade. One party on Thursday said that burry crossbred noils were a fraction cheaper, but we see no reason whatever why they should be.

ENGLISH WOOLS.

The position of home-grown fleece wools certainly is remarkable, and here, too, there is nothing but satisfaction to be reported. The country has never been so clean of wool at this time of the year for a long time past, the majority of country staplers having sold every fleece. More money is being demanded for lustre wools, and there is a great scarcity of Irish, halfbreds, and Downs. Kents do not seem to be moving so freely, and this is rather significant, as hosiery yarn spinners are all busy. There is less doing on American account in home-grown fleeces, but more activity is seen in the recasing of crossbred New Zealand wools, some important sales having taken place this week. There seems to be any amount of customers for wool, every class from 80's to 22's moving in a very commendable way. Fellmongers seem to be on velvet, although they complain bitterly that they are doing no good, owing to skins being so dear. There is a very noticeable shortage in last summer's pulls, lambs being about exhausted while present pulls are going into consumption as fast as they are bought. Prices are in several cases 1d up on the week, and fellmongers say that they are pulled out of the place for strong hog and wether.

SHEEPSKINS DEARER.

Members of the trade who take an interest in the sources of the raw material cannot to-day overlook the important part which skin wools play in furnishing some very important supplies. Without sheepskins, there would be no pulled wools, and the two-days' sheepskin sale in London clearly shows which way the tide is flowing. The demand has been exceedingly good, and everything under keen competition has to be marked up compared with the previous auctions, which were held just before Christmas. Merino full and three-quarter woolled skins must be called 1d to 1½d dearer, merino half-woolled 1d per lb dearer, merino short and shorn ½d per lb dearer, crossbred, full, and three-quarter woolled ½d per lb dearer; crossbred, coarse, full, and three-quarter woolled ½d per lb dearer; crossbred, half-woolled ½d dearer; crossbred, short and shorn, ½d per lb dearer, and lambs ½d per lb dearer.

STOCKS OF TOPS IN FRANCE.

Seeing that the French wool trade plays an important part in determining the values of colonial descriptions, it is interesting to note the movement in the stocks of tops at the combing establishments in the north of France, and the following are the particulars of the stocks last January 31, compared with the same date for the two previous years:—

	Jan. 31, 1913.	Dec. 31, 1912.	Jan. 31, 1912.
Merinos	2,014,217 ..	2,155,344 ..	4,961,772
Crossbreds	4,868,906 ..	4,574,755 ..	8,253,572
Totals	7,005,412 ..	7,403,599 ..	13,217,344

There has been an increase compared with the end of December to the extent of 156,175 kilos in merinos; crossbreds are up 18,849 kilos, a total increase of 175,013 kilos. When compared with a year ago, however, there is a sensible falling-off, merinos being down 1,849,855 kilos, and crossbreds 3,659,977 kilos, a total reduction of 5,609,232 kilos.

MALTING BARLEY.

GERMANTON.—Mr. W. L. Warby, of Little Billabong, had 20 acres under English malting barley, which averaged seven bags to the acre. This is worth 14s 6d a bag at the Germanton railway station. After paying all expenses, rent, pulling in and taking off, a net profit of £3 per acre was returned. English barley is worth 4s 6d a bushel on trucks at Germanton, and good samples will be taken in any quantity. With barley at 52lb to the bushel at this price, instead of wheat at 60lb at 3s, the former should be grown more extensively in this district. The barley is off before the wheat is ready.

DEPARTMENTAL PERMANENCIES

MR. PEACOCK'S OPINION.

BATHURST.—Dealing further with the subject of departmental permanencies, Mr. R. B. Bonsfield, B.A., gives the expressed views of Mr. R. W. Peacock, manager of the Bathurst Experiment Farm, in the matter. Mr. Peacock, he says, holds that, while the principles of the permanency system are good, he cannot approve of giving permanencies to all men who might be taken on; but that he does approve of men who have been employed for 15 or 20 years, and for whom there will always be plenty of work, being granted permanent positions in the department's employ. Also that it is quite compatible to extend such permanencies, in the case of men who remain fit and capable of properly performing their work, to the age of 60 or 70 years, the two requirements being: (1) The guarantee of the continued existence of work for which these men are in demand, and (2) their capacity to carry out such work.

Mr. Bonsfield commends Mr. Peacock for his outspoken opinion, as, he says, if there is one class of interested people who might be expected to have a natural bias against permanencies, it is farm managers.

HERD IMPROVEMENT.

A dairy farmer writes as follows in an exchange with reference to herd improvement:—"There always is a definite relation between form and milk production. Cows that are blocky, low set, or the other extreme, long and lanky, cannot be depended upon to give a large quantity of milk and keep it up throughout the year. Of course, many individuals that come under either class might be good milkers for a short time, but as a rule they do not prove profitable. Size is of a great consequence, for as a matter of fact a good big cow makes the best foundation. When we reach a point where the herd is uniform size helps the appearance and value. In speaking of the size of the individual, one practical dairyman remarked that a large cow was similar to a large machine, for it consumes more and produces a larger output than a smaller implement with the same cost of labour. There is very little need of discussing the question of constitution, for every breeder realises the necessity of a strong, energetic individual for breeding. Where that characteristic, which is called constitution, is lacking, animals are more susceptible to disease, which in the end lessens production. A weak, poor cow becomes a hothouse creature to be pampered, and a lot of extra expense is incurred by such management. A good, hearty animal is especially essential in cold districts, where they undergo severe weather.

"Capacity is the result of form, size, and constitution. Data on this point can be reached by weighing the milk each day and testing it once or twice a month. The cow that is physically incomplete in the udder cannot do as well as a perfect four-teated individual. There are exceptions to this rule, but one thing is certain, a cow with three teats cannot give as much milk as she might if she had all four. Capacity for milk production is judged by the conformation of the animal, milk veins, and other characteristics feminine in nature. The only sure way is to weigh the milk, for we know figures do not lie. If we do not have such figures to guide us in our selection, characteristics which we know are closely associated with milk production must be considered. Why is ease of milking considered important? Because, first, if this work is done by hired men they will neglect the hard and difficult individuals, and they are dried up before time. Besides, this way requires considerable time and labour. Temperament is also an index of utility. A sleepy, slow animal is to be ignored, as well as a cow that is so nervous she cannot be handled with ease. Either extreme should be avoided. A nervous cow, otherwise very fine, may be spoiled by incorrect handling, but very frequently nervousness demonstrates good breeding and a tendency for milk production. Colour marking may be important. This is, however, a minor point, since we have some of the finest dairy cows varying in colour. Of course, if the breeder has worked for years in trying to produce a uniform type he is anxious that colour be also perfect."

AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENTS.

DEPARTMENTAL EFFORTS APPRECIATED.

DAPTO.—As the value of the experiments conducted by the Department of Agriculture on the South Coast have been questioned in certain quarters, Mr. J. G. Fairley, president of the Dapto A. and H. Society, was interviewed on the subject, and asked for an expression of opinion as to whether any beneficial results had accrued to the men on the land in this district from the work done by the officers of the department. Mr. Fairley was most emphatic in declaring that much practical good had been accomplished, and gave several instances where the farmers and the district had materially benefited from the advice and practical instruction given them by Mr. Inspector Makin. He said that before the appointment of Mr. Makin some five or six years ago there was scarcely a silo in the district, whereas to-day it was the exception not to find silage in some form on nearly every farm in the locality. During the recent dry weather this fodder was a veritable godsend to the dairy farmers, and helped to tide them over a very trying time. This result was without doubt due to the persistent advocacy of Inspector Makin, who spent a lot of time, and went to considerable trouble to assist the farmers, both with advice and practical suggestions as to the best methods to adopt in regard to the conservation of fodder. In this matter alone the Department of Agriculture had rendered valuable and lasting service to the district. Until a couple of years ago very little wheat was grown in this district since the introduction of the dairying industry, experience having proved that this crop could not be cultivated on account of rust. Experiments were conducted by the department's officer, when it was found that several varieties of wheat were suited to the coastal districts, and made excellent winter fodder, by reason of the fact that they came at a time when green food was very scarce, and milk was at high-water mark. To show the extent to which the growth of purebred wheat had expanded in so short a time, Mr. Fairley pointed out that the Dapto Agricultural Society had this season distributed amongst its members 274 bushels of seed, and that many orders remained unfulfilled. Only about half that quantity of seed was distributed last year, which went to show that the efforts of the department in this direction were appreciated, and that they were working on right lines in recommending the growth of this cereal as a winter fodder to the farmers of the coastal districts. The purebred seed, Mr. Fairley added, was procured from growers recommended by the department, and the farmers were receiving it at cost price. It was the intention of his society, he said, this year to offer special prizes for the best acre of wheat, any variety, for winter fodder, with a view of ascertaining which kind was the most profitable for the farmer to grow.

Another matter in which the assistance of the department had been valuable was in regard to the growth of purebred maize. At the suggestion of the officer of the department, the Dapto Agricultural Society had for the last two years been conducting purebred maize competitions, the object being to try and find out which variety, or varieties, were the most suited to the district. The judging had been conducted on the score card system recommended by the department, and as a result of the experiments two new kinds of maize had been discovered which were admitted to be superior to the varieties previously grown by the farmers. Owing, however, to the adverse seasons, the results were not as full and complete as would have been the case under more favourable weather conditions. The Dapto society had gone a step further, and had offered prizes for the best acre of maize suitable for fodder. The results of this competition were not yet known, as judging was now in progress. This contest was also being judged on the score card system, as recommended by the department.

The Department of Agriculture, continued Mr. Fairley, had also been very helpful to the men on the land by arranging lectures and practical demonstrations by Mr. Veterinary Surgeon Sanderson, of the Stock Branch. The demonstrations, which farmers travelled many miles to witness, were given on the Show Ground, and dealt with various diseases relating to the dairying industry. In conclusion, the president of the society said these were a few of the many directions in which the Department of Agriculture has rendered good service to the farmers, and if they availed themselves more of the facilities offered, there would be less complaint as to the apathy of the department towards the men on the land.

THE MILK TRADE.

Mr. G. H. Ray, Picton, writes:—Mr. Mackenzie's statement before the Food Commission that country suppliers could produce milk cheaper than the city dairyman is wrong, and misleading to the public. Under the existing conditions of the milk-producing area it costs the suppliers more to produce milk for the city supply than the cost to the city dairyman. The man supplying milk to the city is compelled to buy fodder in the same market, add railway freight, cartage from railway to farm, which will enhance the price of fodder at least 10s per ton over the cost to the city dairyman. Many farmers have heavy rents to pay in addition to buying fodder. The city dairymen contend they can't sell milk under sixpence per quart in consequence of the high price of fodder. The country supplier has to face the fodder market, and sell his milk at 2½d per quart. If a dairy farmer produces his own fodder he must debit that against the cost of production of his milk. I also noticed in the daily paper that 11d per gallon was the record price paid for milk in the summer months. This statement is not correct. In January and February, 1908, country suppliers received 1s per gallon for milk supplied to the city. The climatic conditions then were not so bad as the present. I believe, to the best of my knowledge, at that time the retail price was 5d per quart the present retail price is 6d per quart. Consider the association was wrong to accept 11d per gallon, thus leaving a margin of 1s 1d between producer and consumer. Vendors complain their profits are small owing to high cost of living and horse feed. They must remember the producer has the high cost of living, horse feed, wear and tear, to railway station, and, in addition, the feeding of his herd to produce milk at 11d per gallon. It was stated that there are 300 vendors doing an average of 50 gallons per day. This represents an average income of £14 11s 8d per week a vendor after having paid for his milk.

There is one thing that is always very conspicuous in flourishing seasons and in dry ones, that is the margin between producer and consumer. For example, take the old 6d per gallon market, there is 10d per gallon margin. The present market there is 1s 1d margin. Take the price quoted by the Venders' Association at Wollongong, there would have been 11d margin. If the vendors had quoted 10d per gallon, which is half the consumers' paying price, then producer or consumer would have no just cause to complain. The original margin of 10d per gallon would still be left for the vendor. Any time the producer gets an advance in price it is passed on to the consumer. But the most serious part is that the producer never receives the full amount of advance contributed by the consumer, according to quotations at Wollongong. Vendors contend that it requires 11d per gallon for the distribution of milk, and only 9d per gallon for production. But that is not reasonable. Why should the margin for distribution be 2d per gallon above the price paid for production? It is worth every fraction of half the consumers' paying price to produce milk in the seasons of late years.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

KYOGLE.—An interesting statement is furnished by the acting inspector of stock, Mr. G. B. Elliott, showing a comparison between the tick infestations of February, 1913, and the same month, 1912. The infestation for 1913 was 58 head of cattle on 20 holdings; whereas, in 1912, there were 246 cattle on 50 holdings. This comparison shows the good work the department is doing in the work of checking, if not in eradicating, the ticks.

SINGLETON.—The Pastures Protection Board has adopted the following rates:—11d per head large stock, 1s 9d per hundred sheep.

DAIRYING.

JONES' ISLAND.—Last week was a record for the Manning River Dairy Co., when 872 cases of butter, equal to 24 tons 12cwt, were manufactured. This is the largest output in the history of the company. The next best week was March 2, 1912, when 832 cases, 23 tons 6cwt, were manufactured. The supply is still increasing, but more is badly needed. The intense heat and heavy northerly winds have had a bad effect in the district during the last fortnight.

PROGRESS OF EDUCATION.

NEW WING AT THE NAREMBURN SCHOOL.

The progress which the Education Department is making under the new system was referred to by the Director of Education, Mr. Board, at the opening ceremony in connection with the new buildings at the Naremburn School yesterday. At the end of the year this school was raised to the classification of a superior public. Mr. Board announced yesterday that it had now been created a junior technical school. The advantage of the education imparted would be that the children going on to the Technical College would be advanced fully two years, so that their progress would be greatly facilitated in the life that they chose. The system to-day and the system of a few years ago greatly differed. Under the old regime, he said, young people grew up without acquiring a taste for any technical calling, and this made for delays in their after-life.

The head teacher, Mr. Carroll, explained that the school was opened in 1887 with accommodation for 149 scholars. Now there were 750 enrolled.

The new wing will accommodate 200 children. There are four classrooms, with office and other rooms. The cost of the wing and other improvements to the main building is set down at £2800. Up to date there has been spent on the block £6288.

The Mayor of Willoughby, Alderman Backhouse, eulogised the present system of education, and said that the country was fortunate in having at the head of so important a department a man of the calibre of Mr. Board, who was being backed up by a Minister with progressive ideas.

THE RECENT GAS STRIKE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Now that the strike of the gas employees has terminated, and, as the names of some, and the addresses of many, of those citizens who voluntarily came forward to assist the three gas companies which have been affected by the late strike in the recent days of stress and difficulty are unknown to the officials, the directors of those three companies desire to convey, through your widely-circulating columns, their high appreciation of, and most grateful thanks for, the very valuable and important services rendered not only to the companies but to the community generally by the large number of citizens, headed by the Lord Mayor, who, at the call of duty, and at great inconvenience to themselves, left their ordinary avocations and undertook duties to which they were unaccustomed, in order that light might, as soon as possible, be restored to the city.

So generous was the response to the appeal made to the citizens, that on more than one occasion the officials of the companies were with great regret compelled to refuse the services offered, as all available spaces were at the time filled, but, although such services could not, for the reason given, be accepted, they were most thoroughly appreciated.

That the work of the citizens was not in vain is evidenced by the fact that, before the strike was terminated, the companies had commenced to distribute gas, and looked forward to furnishing the public with an uninterrupted supply at an early date.

Now that the strike has been settled, the directors do not propose to discuss the merits or demerits of it, but desire, rather, to restore as quickly as possible friendly relations with their many employees; but, whatever the rights or wrongs may be, they feel that the example set by the citizens during the recent crisis must be productive of nothing but good, as affording unmistakable evidence to whatever Government may for the time being be in power that whenever the need arises they can safely rely upon the loyal support and active assistance of all those who have the welfare of our fair city at heart.

We are, etc.,
R. J. LUKEY, Secretary of the Australian Gas-Light Company.

SCALY RASH APPEARED ON NECK.

"The Bungalow," Sunny Corner, N.S.W.—"For some time past my neck has been a source of great annoyance to me, a kind of scaly rash appearing, which at once to me, a kind of scaly rash appearing, which at times was very irritating. During the last summer the pain was like as if a lot of needles were being pricked into my neck. I procured some ointment from the store here, without getting much relief.

"Seeing the Cuticura advertisement, and noticing a similar case to my own, I sent for a sample tin of the Cuticura Ointment. I first bathed my neck with warm water, and used Cuticura Soap. I then applied the Cuticura Ointment each night before retiring. I found it gave me great relief. I purchased another tin of Cuticura Ointment, and now, after two months' use, my neck is as smooth as velvet, which I attribute solely to using the Cuticura Remedies, which, in my opinion, are worth their weight in gold." (Signed) James Coghlan, April 26, 1912.

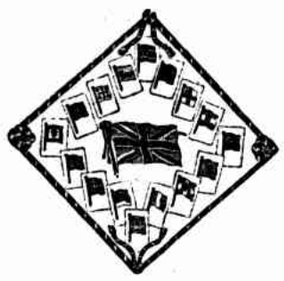

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of each, with 32-page Skin Book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. M., Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

Sanatogen's reputation has its foundation firmly fixed in that unshakable bedrock—the justified experience of the medical profession; and that, after the most searching and exhaustive tests.
Among the disordered conditions in which Sanatogen is pre-eminently beneficial are nervous weakness and break-down, weakened and disordered nerves, brain-fag, insomnia, and loss of memory, disordered digestion and dyspepsia, anæmia, with its inevitable languor, palpitation, shortness of breath, and loss of vitality.

Sir Frederick Milner, Bt.:
"Sanatogen seems both to nourish me and give me strength."

Lord Edward Churchill:
"I have derived benefit from taking Sanatogen."

Sir William Bull, M.P.:
"I have much pleasure in stating that I consider your preparation, Sanatogen, is of decided value. It performs that which it promises to do, and I have recommended it to several friends."

Sanatogen's constituents are known to every doctor. They are milk-proteid and glycero-phosphate of sodium, chemically combined to form a new compound which exercises the most potent and profound influence over the Brain, Body and Nerves. For this reason it acts like a charm in the above-named conditions, its beneficial effects being invariably felt in a very short time.

AUSTRALIAN MEAT.

AGENTS IN EUROPE.

SIR GEORGE REID'S SCHEME.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Acting on instructions from the Minister for External Affairs, the High Commissioner (Sir George Reid) has spent much time inquiring into matters concerning the Australian trade, with a view to the adoption of methods for making Australian meat more widely known. The results of his investigations are embodied in a report, which has just been received by the Minister. In it Sir George Reid has recommended the appointment of representatives in Vienna, Berlin, and Paris. To act in the Austrian capital the High Commissioner recommends the appointment of Mr. O. S. Phillpotts, who was formerly British Consul, and has had experience as a journalist. The High Commissioner's choice for Berlin has fallen upon Professor Manes, who has visited Australia, and has written a very able book on the southern Dominions. He has also a reputation as a lecturer, and will undertake the task of making Australia better known. He is to receive a salary of £300 a year and expenses. With respect to the prospects of Australian business with Germany, the High Commissioner says:—"I think the more important markets of Germany are, perhaps, the most promising for us in immediate results of any European community. The prices for more than one important line of Australian exports are, I am sure, considerably higher in the German markets than in the English markets, even after allowing for the payment of duties. Publicity is, of course, one of the most important methods of pushing the sale of our products." In Paris the High Commissioner has recommended that the British Chamber of Commerce be appointed representative of Australia. The payments to be made by the Commonwealth for the Paris representation will amount to £600 per annum, with an added amount for rent, if the Chamber of Commerce takes some larger offices in a more central part of Paris, which it is contemplating.

Mr. Thomas has informed the High Commissioner that the Government concurs in his recommendations as a tentative measure, subject to review after a year's experience of their results.

CASUALTIES.

FATAL FALL FROM A PLANK.

An inquiry concerning the death of James Doig, stonemason, of Mary-street, Leichhardt, was held at the City Coroner's Court yesterday morning. The evidence showed that deceased was employed at Temple Court on the corner of King and Elizabeth streets, and in crossing a plank slipped and fell from the ground floor to the basement, a distance of 8ft. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

A DOUBLE BAY TRAGEDY.

The circumstances surrounding the death of Keziah Dunlin, aged 55 years, which occurred at the residence of her son, Thomas Ward, 24 Epping-road, Double Bay, on March 3, were inquired into by the City Coroner (Mr. H. S. Hawkins) yesterday.

Thomas Ward stated that his mother had arrived in Australia about 13 weeks prior to her death. She had been ill, and did not like the climate, and felt the separation from her friends. She had threatened to take her life. On March 3 he returned home in response to a telephone call, and found his mother hanging from the transom bar of the front bedroom door, quite dead. The Coroner's verdict was to the effect that deceased died by hanging herself.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

While working on one of the Harbour Trust's new buildings at Dawes Point yesterday morning, James Castleton, aged 26, a labourer living at Fairfield, was crushed to death by a piece of timber weighing about a ton falling on him.

BURNED AT A WASHTUB.

While Sarah Daniels, 56 years of age, living in Bourke-street, Woolloomooloo, was working at a washtub yesterday, her clothes caught fire, and were completely burned off her. She was admitted to the Sydney Hospital in a critical condition.

FATAL FALL DOWNSTAIRS.

Before the City Coroner (Mr. H. S. Hawkins) yesterday an inquiry was held touching the death of George Henry Smith, which occurred at his home in Gordon-street, Brighton-le-Sands, on March 1. Hannah Smith, widow of the deceased, deposed that he fell downstairs. A verdict of accidental death was returned.

CHILD RUN OVER.

WENTWORTH, Tuesday.

At Merbein, a two-year-old child named Low was killed by the wheel of a trap passing over her head.

GORED BY A COW.

CASINO, Monday.

The eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Campbell, of Bonalbo, was gored by a cow in the school paddock when on his way to school. He was carried some distance, and the cow's horns, which penetrated the lad's face, inflicted a nasty gash. The paddock at the school is being fenced, and it was open pending completion. After the cow attacked the lad the schoolmaster, Mr. Henderson, tried to drive it out, but it charged him, and he had a narrow escape.

MOTOR CAR AND CYCLE.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

A collision on Saturday morning between a motor car, driven by Dr. J. F. Bartley, and a motor cycle, ridden by Peter De Lavel, in Oxide-street, resulted in the cycle being smashed and De Lavel being thrown on to the roadway, and sustaining a fracture of the left leg and a severe cut on the head. He was taken to the hospital.

CHILD'S DEATH.

BROKEN HILL, Monday.

James Lewis Hiscutt, 8 years of age, met with a shocking accident on Thursday, and died in the hospital on Friday night. He fell backward on to a board, out of which a long nail was sticking. The nail entered his back, penetrating through to the stomach.

SEVERE FALL.

WEST MAITLAND, Monday.

Patrick Dorney, licensee of the Carrington Hotel, on Saturday morning fell over the balcony of the hotel, a distance of about 25ft. He was picked up by a constable, and on removal to the hospital was found to have sustained a compound fracture of the arm and a dislocated ankle.

DROWNED IN A DAM.

COROWA, Monday.

At Coreen a young man, David Talbot, 20, lost his life in a dam. He took a horse to the dam to wash it down before proceeding to the Daysdale picnic races. He was precipitated into the water, and, being unable to swim, was drowned. At the inquiry a verdict of accidental death was returned.

CHILD KILLED.

CORAKI, Monday.

A child, aged 3 years, son of Mr. George Hansen, was fatally kicked by a horse which was tied to a fence near his parents' residence.

WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

LAUNCESTON, Monday.

Mrs. Mary Hutchinson, 54, of St. Leonards, who was staying with friends at Invermay, committed suicide early this morning by strangulation.

SERIOUS BICYCLE COLLISION.

DUBBO, Monday.

A young man named Harry Williams met with a serious accident while riding a bicycle from Dubbo to Brocklehurst to attend a dance. The night was dark, and at a bend on the road Williams collided with another cyclist, Walter Pettiford, who was riding to Dubbo. Both were picked up insensible. Pettiford soon regained consciousness, but Williams, on removal to the Dubbo District Hospital, was found to be suffering from a fracture of the base of the skull. His condition is serious.

THE MILK SUPPLY.

Mr. T. R. Bavin, Commissioner investigating Sydney's food supply, heard further evidence yesterday.

Mr. Michael Lynan, milk dealer, Marrickville, said he had observed in a recent purchase of milk from a city firm a difference in the milk, which he considered was due to hand-feeding. His view was that this was an outcome of the rise in the price. Farmers, who were anxious to maintain the supply, had had resort to artificial methods. This was only his opinion, but it was a singular fact that the change he had noticed in the taste of the milk should date from the time milk went up in price.

MODERNISM.

"STRIKING THE CHRISTIAN FLAG."

CRITICISM BY FATHER O'REILLY.

BATHURST, Monday.

Recent events at the Methodist Conference in Sydney came in for some criticism at the hands of Father O'Reilly, C.M., president of St. Stanislaus'.

"I am really afraid," said Father O'Reilly, "that in what I am about to say I shall have to speak as a party man, but I can answer such fears before they are formulated by protesting that I am speaking without a vestige of any conscious polemical aim. I speak simply as a Christian who is shocked to the very innermost fibre of his being at the blasphemies, as they seem to me, of men who, speaking from the chair of truth, make a base surrender of the hard-won Christian position at the summons of a discredited and effete materialism. I am not assuming—though, of course, I believe it with all my heart—the truth of Catholicism. I preach the unchangeable Jesus Christ, 'yesterday and to-day, and the same for ever.' In spite of our sad religious differences, have we not all, with an illumination that came not from flesh and blood, but from our common Father who is in Heaven, made the noble confession of Peter, 'Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.' And have we not all believed, for so it is written, that 'Heaven and earth shall pass away, but not one jot or tittle of the words of his mouth.'

"Who, then, has bewitched us that we shall not obey the truth? Who are the new teachers to whom we are directed to go? At the bidding of what superior powers are we told to strike the Christian flag? What language is strong enough to stigmatise those who would cast Christ's doctrine into the melting pot of their own unbelief? The ordinary layman—and I am delighted to see this proved by Methodist Conference itself—has not patience with such theological wobblers. Despite our divisions, I believe that there is still, in our Australian people, sufficient belief in the truth of the Christian message to protest against any man being entrusted with the preaching of the gospel of light, whose own way is but a slippery path in the darkness. Under any conditions such men are unfit to be guides. If scientific materialism were really a power in the land their concessions might be extenuated as the policy of cowards who were hard-pressed; but the reaction has come, and materialism is a lost case. If any frightened curate still says that it will be awful if the darkness of freethought should spread, we only answer him in the high and powerful words of Mr. Belloc, 'Do not, I beseech you, be troubled about the increase of forces already in dissolution. You have mistaken the hour of the night; it is already morning.'"

NEWCASTLE.

MINING POSITION UNCHANGED.

WORKING OF NEW COLLIERIES.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

No new phase was added to the general mining position to-day; and nothing is expected until the conference between the representatives of the colliery owners and miners takes place on Wednesday morning.

Lymington colliery, near Cardiff, has been working intermittently for many years. A few months ago it was closed down, and now preparations are being made for its reopening.

In regard to the agreement for the working of the Abermain No. 2 colliery, a reply has been received by the federation from the company, and to-morrow two of the executive officers will proceed to the colliery.

Maryland, Co-operative, and West Wallsend collieries were idle to-day, owing to flood waters running into the various parts where the men had been working.

ADULTERATING LIQUOR.

Six hotelkeepers were each fined £1, with 6s costs, and £1 1s analyst's fees, for adding water to the liquor sold at the hotels.

COAL AND OTHER EXPORTS.

The following vessels were cleared at the Newcastle Customs House to-day:—Alabama, s, for Melbourne, with 2660 tons coal and 115 tons bunkers; Luneburg, s, for Hamburg and ports, via Adelaide, with 75 empty casks and through cargo.

TWO HORSES KILLED BY ELECTRICITY.

Two horses, valued at £120, belonging to the A.A. Company, whilst being driven along one of the streets of Newcastle on Saturday, were killed by an overhead electric wire breaking.

QUEENSLAND'S SCHOOL TEACHERS.

BRISBANE, Monday.

A deputation from the Teachers' Conference waited on the Minister for Public Instruction to-day.

The president drew attention to a resolution passed at the conference expressing the opinion that in recognition of past services a pension should be granted to teachers who retired before superannuation came into force. He said there was no desire for special treatment, but it was felt that the case of old teachers might be considered. It had been suggested some arrangement might be come to between the Federal and State Governments by which old-age pensions could be made available and payable to retired teachers through the Public Instruction Department.

Miss Carraway urged that female teachers should receive the same salaries as male teachers of the same classification.

The Minister, Mr. Blair, said to grant the request would mean an additional £30,000 a year. An appeal board for teachers, which was asked for, involved a question of Government policy. The necessity of a training college for teachers was urged, and Mr. Blair said he would very much like to see the college established during his regime. Possibilities were another thing, but he was seriously hoping to do something towards meeting the wishes of the deputation.

HUDDART, PARKER'S, LIMITED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Beyond the statements of the net profit, dividend allocation and the capital account, a directors' report accompanies the first audited balance-sheet and profit and loss account of Huddart, Parker's, Ltd. The document deals with the year ended December 31 last, and sets forth that net earnings were £74,673. Of this amount flotation and preliminary expenses absorbed £4869, and auditors' fees amounted to £315, leaving a net profit of £69,389. The interim dividend for the half-year ended June 30, at the rate of 6 per cent. on the amounts paid up on the ordinary and preference shares at that date, required £26,250. The dividend for the six months ended December 31, at the rate of 6 per cent. on the preference capital, and at the rate of 8 per cent. on the ordinary capital (making 7 per cent. on the ordinary capital for the year), will absorb a further sum of £35,000, leaving a balance of £8139 to be carried forward.

The balance-sheet shows that of the authorised capital of £1,500,000, divided equally into 6 per cent. preference and ordinary shares of £1 each, 1,000,000 has been issued, 500,000 being preference and 500,000 ordinary shares. Other liabilities are reserve fund, £3354; insurance fund, £16,709; reserve for contingencies, depreciation of property, and shares in other companies, repairs and maintenance, boiler renewals, superannuation fund, etc, and the balance of the amount of the reserve for contingent liabilities received from the proprietary company, are lumped in one item of £39,849. Shareholders' deposits, with accrued interest, stand at £58,295; and sundry creditors figure at £65,785; while the profit and loss balance is £43,139, from which has to be deducted the dividend for the last half of the year. On the assets side an item of £657,035 covers steamships, tugs, lighters, plant, furniture at valuation, as well as freehold properties and shares in other companies at cost. Debentures, Government stock, fixed deposits, and other investments (at cost) stand at £432,045; coal, stock, and stores (at cost), £31,949; sundry debtors (after providing for bad and doubtfuls), £86,047; and cash, £11,054.

MORT'S DOCK EMPLOYEES' PICNIC.

KEENNESS OF COMPETITION.

Despite the threatening weather, there was a good attendance on Saturday at Clifton Gardens, where the employees of Mort's Dock held their annual picnic. Mr. J. Walsh (joiners' department) presided at the luncheon. Among those present were Messrs. Kelso King (chairman of directors), J. P. Frankl (manager), King (works superintendent), J. H. Storey, M.L.A., and G. M. Merivale.

The chairman, at the luncheon, proposed "The Company," and referred to the harmony existing between the masters and the men.

Mr. Frankl, in replying, said that the company was building four boats, and also a dredge for Melbourne. The contract prices would not result in much profit to the shareholders, but the men would have the work. Competition was keen, and much depended on the employees whether the company had a clear bill or a loss on the work undertaken. Considering the wages paid, they had a right to expect the best energies of the men. If the shipping industry was not kept alive by sustained effort, it would die, and the results would be disastrous to all concerned.

BUILDINGS AND WORKS.

PROGRESS OF THE TRADE.

GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS.

The contractors' room at the Public Works Department did not present quite as deserted an appearance yesterday as it has done for some time past. There were plans on the table, but the works involved were small, the majority being in connection with Public schools. The contracts let last week were more numerous than has been lately the case, and the board had more tenders to deal with than last week. But the amount of work handed down for tendering is small, compared with what it used to be.

Among the contracts let last week by the Government was one for extending the Argyle Bond by erecting alongside the present stone building a new building of four stories, constructed of brickwork. The new building will have a 42ft frontage and a depth of 123ft. It will be a plainly finished store on the inside, well lighted by windows from both the front and back walls. The floors will be wooden on steel stanchions. The cost of the building will be nearly £5000. The contractor is Mr. H. Longworth.

Tenders are called for making improvements to several Public schools. At Camperdown a new infants' school is to be erected, which will provide two additional classrooms, one for 60 and the other for 50 pupils. There will be a teachers' room, hat and cloak rooms, and a verandah 12ft wide, which can be used for teaching purposes should occasion require. In addition to the school, there are a new play shed and additional outhouses. The interior of the present school is to be remodelled in order to bring it into line with modern ideas. The Kegworth Public School at Leichhardt is to be enlarged. The present two-story building is to be extended, in order to provide for two additional classrooms. Each classroom will accommodate 50 scholars. The hat rooms, corridors, etc., are also to be extended, and the general architecture of the new work will be in keeping with the present building. At Broken Hill the Alma South Public School is to have three new classrooms, each for 48 scholars, all leading off a large assembly hall, which is to be built in the centre. At each side of the assembly hall will be wide verandahs. There will also be teachers' rooms and hat and cloak apartments. A number of improvements are to be made to existing buildings. At Coonamble a new school is to be erected of brick, with iron roof. There will be four large classrooms, each leading off the main assembly hall in the centre, and verandahs at each side. The new building will be erected in front of the old school-house.

A telephone exchange is to be erected at the post-office at Berrigan. It will form an addition to the front of the existing building, and will be carried out in brickwork to correspond with the front elevation of the post-office.

A large quantity of shelving, cupboards, fittings, harness racks, and other work of a similar nature is to be carried out at the Commonwealth Stores at Darling Island.

At Trundle a new post and telegraph office and a residence for the postmaster is to be built. The plans provide for a brick post-office, with extensive accommodation and fittings of the latest type, including an exchange and a store. The residence will be built of weatherboard.

NEW BUILDING AT BRISBANE.

Messrs. Robertson and Marks, architects, of Sydney, have completed drawings for a building to be erected in Eagle-street, Brisbane. It comprises merchants' flats and suites of offices, and will consist of five stories and a basement. The front elevation will be carried up in double-pressed bricks, with stone dressings and a trachyte base. A very fine awning will be over the footpath. The building will have a frontage of 93ft, with a depth of 140ft. The interior will be in steel construction work, with concrete floors. The ground floor will be arranged as offices for insurance companies or banks. The staircase and vestibule will be finished in marble, and passenger and goods lifts will be installed. Tenders are now being received for the erection of the building.

GENERAL NOTES.

As a result of the severity of the storm on Saturday night, damage was done to property which will take thousands of pounds to repair. Yesterday architects and builders were kept busy attending to calls from the public respecting the condition of roofs, fences, and other exposed portions of buildings that had received damage. Many buildings in course of erection suffered severely. A large percentage of the basements in the city were flooded, not because of defective construction, but because the gully shafts and sewerage connections of the city could not carry off the water fast enough. The street decorations which the Government is erecting in connection with the ceremony of the landing of the Governor this week suffered more or less. One of the decorations was a very fine arch at the Macquarie-street entrance to the Domain. The main posts were 6 x 6 Oregon, and the arches were formed of 1in black piping. The whole structure was well braced, but the severity of the storm and the exposed position of the arch told its tale. The main posts snapped off at the ground level, and down came the arch.

Two buildings in George-street which were recently partially destroyed by fire are to be reinstated. In each instance tenders are now being called to carry out the work. One building is the premises of Messrs. Groth and Co., which will be reinstated under the supervision of Messrs. Robertson and Marks, architects, by Mr. H. J. Thompson, builder. The other building is the Crystal Palace, for the reinstating of which tenders are now called by Messrs. Scott and Green, architects.

Tenders are being called for a lease of the Tivoli Theatre, Adelaide, so long in the possession and under the control of the late Mr. Harry Rickard.

A contract was let last week for an up-to-date fire station at Newtown. The new building will be erected on the site of the present fire station, which is to be demolished. Messrs. Spain and Cosh are the architects for the new station, which will be erected by Messrs. Baker and Son, at a cost of about £6500.

In the office of Mr. D. Esplin, architect, plans are being prepared for a factory at Marrickville; and in the same office tenders close on the 19th inst for cottages at Mosman.

Mr. R. Louat, architect, has plans in hand for five houses to be built in Bedford-street, Newtown.

In the office of Messrs. Nixon and Son, architects, plans are complete for two cottages at Bondi; also for a cottage at Glenorie. Drawings are being prepared for a residence at Rose Bay, and for two residences at Lindfield.

Waltham-buildings, in Bond-street, is to be extended by the erection of three additional stories, and the present building is to be altered to suit the new conditions. Mr. T. Hodgson is the architect, and the work will be carried out by Messrs. James Stedwell and Son.

Arrangements are being made to enlarge the Leichhardt School of Arts. The present building has proved inadequate. It is expected that a start with the work will be commenced next month.

Mr. Bertram W. Ford, architect, is preparing plans for a villa residence at Killara, and for additions and alterations to a bungalow at Wentworth Falls.

Messrs. Ross and Rowe, architects, are preparing business premises at Rookwood and Manly, and for a block of six shops in the city.

THE FEDERAL CAPITAL CEREMONY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I ask permission to thank Mr. King O'Malley through your columns for his decision to christen the Federal capital or objects connected with it by the use of water instead of with an intoxicant. In discarding the customary breaking of a bottle of champagne or other liquor he is creating a right precedent. Probably nearly all of the great and glorious minority of 212,889 persons as a total who voted for no-license in the last local option poll in this State will in their hearts thank him, too. While there may be individual freedom as to what each should drink at a banquet, there can be no question that Mr. O'Malley is right in a matter in which a nation is represented. The act of naming, etc., the capital will be national in a high degree.

Had an intoxicant been chosen, whether whisky or champagne, very probably the most destructive agent the world has ever known would have been honoured. Witness the tragedies through drink in the last fortnight in this State alone! Alcohol, sometimes useful, I can admit, as a medicine, is responsible for not only a large proportion of our poverty, pauperism, lunacy, immorality, and crime, but also for wrecked homes, ruined lives, and death. On the other hand, water, God given, with its marvellously beneficent uses in this country, especially in view of the doubtful rainfall, stands for purity, peace, health, and life.

I heartily applaud in this case Mr. King O'Malley for the fine example he has set. It will live in history to his honour.

I am, etc.,
March 10. F. B. BOYCE.

THE UNIVERSITY ELECTIONS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

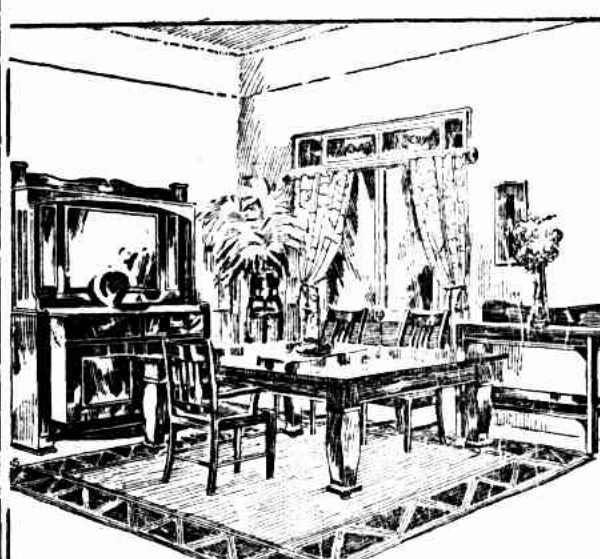

Sir,—In view of the increasing interest now being taken in the senatorial elections, may I be allowed to express, through your columns, the attitude of those who have formed what may be termed the progressive association of graduates? We are united in the opinion "that an effort should be made to secure the services of men who are in touch with modern development of education, and in sympathy with a wider extension of University teaching and influence." To that end a meeting of graduates was held on Friday last, when a large number of nominations were received. A committee has been formed for the purpose of reporting on these nominations, and such further nominations as may be received up to noon on Thursday next, and to make a selection of ten names to be placed before a meeting of graduates at 4.30 on Friday next. A ballot will then be taken of all the candidates nominated for selection, and an appeal will be made to graduates to support the candidature of those chosen by the meeting. In this way the fullest consideration will have been given to the important question of selecting the ten best men available. While we hope that there will be some approximation to unanimity in the support of selected candidates, we do not exact any rigid pledge to uphold a ticket. We ask graduates in the meantime not to commit themselves to any limitation of choice, but to reserve the liberty of using their knowledge and judgment in the best interests of the University.

I am, etc.,
P. R. WATTS,
March 10. Hon. sec. Graduates' Committee.

THE OUTLOOK IN EUROPE.

Although in the Balkans the war drags its slow length of atrocity along, and it is difficult to see what Turkey can hope for in prolonging her share of the catastrophe, yet every day seems to lead us nearer to that real European crisis which seems more and more likely to emerge. Neither Turkey nor the Balkans can be regarded as more than pawns in a game that affects much huger interests than concern either of them; but they have never appeared more like the trivial match that starts universal conflagration than they do at present. The question merely is as to how far the European Concert is likely to go; and the war has changed the aspect of affairs in many notable respects. It has, for instance, converted almost into an actuality the long-postponed dream of a Slav Confederation in Western Europe. Such a confederation might, no doubt, begin as a cloud no bigger than a man's hand, but it would spread as storm clouds do, and might be reckoned on to disturb the whole balance of European diplomacy. It is perhaps too soon to expect Russia to assume her natural place as the head of a great Slav reconstruction in the Near East, but that is a chance she has been waiting and working for these many years past—that for a brief moment at least before her disasters in Asia she did hope to achieve. Race affinity after all goes further than most things in high politics, and Russia's friendship for France and for England, after all a somewhat unnatural one, could not be wholly trusted to stand the strain of opportunity. With a Balkan confederacy to build on, who can say what she might not achieve? And just at that point is Austria, emphatically the dark horse of Europe. For a decade her diplomacy has been unfathomable. But such devotion to Pan-Germanism as she can boast would hardly carry her free from a Slav menace that is always at her doors. There, perhaps, lies the chief difficulty of the situation, for strong as her leaning to Germany is, Austria can hardly hope to entangle the latter with a life-and-death struggle with the Slav nations—and what else can happen if a real Slav nation in the Balkans should evolve out of the chaos? The truth is that Germany, however she may like to pose as the mailed fist of Europe, already begins to find the cost of that pose far too great, and she cannot afford to strike the blow that would help Pan-Germanism, though she knows only too well that delay will be fatal to her hopes.

It is plain, therefore, that a quite new situation is developing, and absolutely anything may come of it. It is perfectly true, as the "Manchester Guardian" remarked the other day, that Austria is becoming less and less a German power, although a few years ago that seemed her only destiny; and on the other hand both France and Russia are becoming a danger by land to Germany even more than the British Empire can be supposed to be by sea. In spite of her tremendous efforts at the overlordship of Europe, therefore, Germany is on what a popular preacher once described as the down-grade. She can maintain the struggle of armaments; but she cannot maintain it for very long. That she can have any serious hopes of reconciliation with France is, of course, worse than absurd; but the mere suggestion of the thing is a useful indication of the pass to which Germany may find herself driven before very long. Her huge war-tax is becoming more and more intolerable, and it is already out of all proportion even to her immense industrial resources. It has become necessary to cast a fresh drag-net over the fortunes of the whole nation, and for the time even the wild dream of wresting the trident from Great Britain has to be left in abeyance while the paramount demand for an overwhelming army is secured. This is fortunate for us. By the time Germany is ready to stake all on one throw for the mastery of the seas, the daughter nations of British birth will have come well together, and the world opportunity will have been missed. But for Europe the growth of militarism must be a new disaster. It involves an economic strain that cannot continue, and that can only find relief, as the pent-up volcano does, by sudden explosion. Our cables the other day gave some extraordinary figures as to this all-round increase in the personnel of the continental armies, and though the response to the call has so far always been met, it would seem that the breaking-point cannot be far off. It is a terrible thing for civilisation that so much of its strength should be thrown away; but for our own part we have one consolation. Costly as a great Imperial navy must be, it is a trifling insurance premium as against the cost of keeping Europe an armed camp, and the Empire is in a better position to pay that premium than are any of its rivals—only do not let us allow the premium to become overdue!

AMENDING INDUSTRIAL ARBITRATION.

In order to induce the gas employees to return to work the Government has undertaken to amend the Industrial Arbitration Act by giving the Industrial Court and the appropriate wages boards power to vary and discharge industrial agreements. In their frantic haste to settle the strike by any means, Ministers have not stopped to reflect that the amendment they propose strikes at a most vital—and in our opinion most salutary—principle of the present Act. The policy of the Act is to settle industrial disputes by one of two means, collective bargaining resulting in an industrial agreement, or appeal to a judicial tribunal. To encourage collective bargaining it provides that if the parties come to an agreement such agreement will be enforced by the Court for the period named by the parties. It does not provide any means by which one of the parties, who has afterwards repented of his bargain, can come to the Court, and ask to be relieved of his obligations under the agreement, and be given more favourable terms. And quite rightly so. For it has long been a principle that lies deeply rooted in all departments of our law, that parties must observe and carry out their agreements. And such a principle is as applicable to industrial agreements as to ordinary commercial contracts. Any other rule would strike at the security of contracts, a principle of vital importance in modern life. But the Government proposes to abrogate this principle in the industrial sphere, and no longer require the parties to an industrial agreement to keep to their bargains; but as soon as one or other of the parties has repented of its bargain, it is to be free to apply to the Court to set it aside. Such a change seems to us to undermine the whole policy of the Act regarding collective bargaining. That policy hitherto has been to encourage such bargaining. This is evidenced both by the jurisdiction given to the Court to enforce industrial agreements, and by the provisions relating to the constitution of conciliation committees, the sole purpose of which is to endeavour to induce the parties to come to an agreement without resorting to litigation. But if such agreements, when made and procured, are not to be binding on the parties, what encouragement is there to either employers or employees to negotiate with the other party with a view to the conclusion of an agreement, or to expend time and trouble in sitting on a conciliation committee with a like object? For if the amendment proposed by the Government be engrafted on the Act, such negotiations will prove futile, and such time and trouble wasted, as soon as one party feels dissatisfied with the agreement; and the decision of the conflicting claims of the parties will be shifted from the quiet atmosphere of the conference room to the stormy arena of litigation. It is therefore to be hoped that, when the Government embodies its proposals in a bill, and lays that bill before Parliament, members will not blindly pass it into law, but will seriously consider the effect of the proposed amendment, and in especial address their minds to the question whether it is to the interests of the community to deal this blow at the system of collective bargaining.

THE RECENT GALE.

Australia is proverbially a land of violent contrasts, and this fact has received striking illustration in the events of the past week-end. Since Christmas Sydney had been almost without rain, and had, in addition, suffered from continuous heat such as is unusual even in summer. From the country came ominous reports, and in the South Coast in particular inhabitants of that happy region complained that they were threatened by a serious drought. Then in a few hours came the change. The complaint was not lack of water, but excess of it. With a record of seven and a half inches, and a gale whose velocity reached at times the rate of sixty-five miles an hour, the dry spell has been most drastically broken, and, indeed, the havoc created reminds us of the old saw that the remedy may be as bad as the disease. The damage and destruction have been enormous, and the full extent has yet to be learned. From every suburb come stories of loss. Houses have been unroofed and blown down, roads washed away, floods have covered low-lying areas, tramway services have been suspended, telephone and telegraph communications stopped, shipping has been delayed, and, in fact, Sydney has suffered all the worst accompaniments of a typical southerly gale. Merely from a monetary point of view, the bill for our recent experience will be a formidable one, but unfortunately it involved items whose value cannot be measured in money. Lives were lost as a consequence of the gale; not many, to be sure, but that it should have been attended by any fatalities at all gives this one a sinister pre-eminence.

It is cold comfort for all who have suffered one way or another during the past few days to suggest that it might have been worse, and equally cold comfort to remind them that the country at large benefited. Yet while we extend our sincerest sympathy to the many victims, we cannot but feel that there is reason for congratulation upon both grounds. Our coast is, at the best of times, notoriously a dangerous one, and from Gabo to Point Danger it was exposed to the full fury of the storm. Yet in spite of the unprecedented violence of the weather no losses have hitherto been reported. This speaks well for the staunchness of our "mosquito fleet," and for the efficiency of those who navigate it. Moreover, there is no doubt that the rain, though we could have done with less of it, was badly needed, and has come at an opportune time. All the coastal belt required a thorough drenching, which it has got. In the South Coast the dairy farmers were at their wits' end, and the evidence recently given before the Food Commission has proved that the high prices for milk and butter now ruling are directly attributable to the scarcity of feed in the southern coastal districts. The city-dweller, though as a rule he may know little, and may care less, about conditions in the country, will regard the recent disturbance with more equanimity when he recognises that its speedy result may be the cheapening of supplies. An old philosopher observed that the gifts of the gods are double-edged swords, which is a dignified way of expressing the platitude that we must take the good with the bad. At present, with fresh reports of damage coming in to swell the already alarming total, we are naturally apt to look upon the darker side of what has happened. But when the beneficial effects of the rain begin to appear we shall forget this, and the individual suffering and hardship, great though they undoubtedly have been, will be thought a worthy sacrifice for the general good.

PRIVATE EXTRAVAGANCE.

More has been heard of late of public than of private extravagance. Both exist, the latter in no less marked a degree than the former. Anyone who keeps his eyes and ears well open can see and hear of it all around him. Luxuries that but a few years back were quite unknown to the mass of the people have now almost descended to the category of necessities. Despite the great increase in local manufactures, which have expanded quite 100 per cent. in the decade, imports of merchandise last year were by far the largest on record. Side by side there was very little growth in exports. Heavy imports should involve heavier exports with which to pay for them and the ever present interest bill on our foreign indebtedness. In part the exports have ceased to expand because the weather last year was adverse, and in part because the State Governments have attracted labour away from productive enterprises on to Government works. A large portion of the 5¼ millions that the Treasurer disbursed last year out of loan funds went into the pockets of those who, had this money not been available, would have been forced to do their share in increasing the products of the country. Imports, on the other hand, have expanded, partly because loan moneys have been imported in the form of goods and partly because of the people's extravagance already referred to.

It is, of course, always difficult to draw the line between a legitimate raising of the standard of living and mere lavishness of expenditure, which is so reprehensible in a people or in the individual. What is taking place in the Commonwealth is also taking place, perhaps, in an exaggerated form in New Zealand. Evidence of this fact was recently given before the Empire Royal Commission, and the heavy imports of motor-cars and pianos especially were drawn attention to. Now, both these articles are usually classed as luxuries, but neither of them is necessarily so. As was recently pointed out in London, the motor-car revolutionised traffic in the metropolis for the rich, and if the revolution had ended there the good that had been done would have been restricted in its operation. But it did not end there. The motor-car was quickly followed by the taxi-cab, which revolutionised traffic for the middle classes, and this was soon followed by the motor 'bus, which performed a similar revolutionary change for the poorer section of the people. In Australia these developments have not yet reached their full fruition. In the United States, too, some years ago not a little alarm was expressed on the subject of the extravagance of the people in the purchase of motor-cars. It was said that farmers were mortgaging their farms to buy cars, and all sorts of dire predictions were indulged in as to the probable outcome of this apparent extravagance. Now, however, a different view is being taken. It is being seen that the motor-car is modifying, if not annihilating, great distances in the country districts, is rapidly breaking down that feeling of lonesomeness which is the greatest drawback under which the settler labours. Pianos and other so-called luxuries of that kind also tend to bring more social life to the farm and make farm life endurable. If in Australia the effect is similar, and if by these among other means it is possible to make life out-back more bearable, then we shall come to regard the instruments of the changed order of things no longer as luxuries, but as necessities to the rapid increase of production. Of course, there must be a proper adjustment of the national income, represented by exports, to the national expenditure, represented by imports. Unless this is established trouble must come.

The Week in London.—Our special correspondent, writing on February 7 (page 4), touches on Mr. Allen's visit to England in connection with Pacific defence, on the Marconi "scandal," on the relation of feeble-mindedness in children to brain-starvation, and on Lieutenant Wagner's war despatches to the "Reichspost."

What the Rain Means.—The splendid rains which have been reported from the Central, South-eastern, and Riverina districts will prove most beneficial to farmers. Ploughing will be commenced in a few weeks, and a couple of inches of rain always puts the land in a suitable condition for the plough. If the present falls are followed by others later on an ideal sowing season will be assured. The rain will also be very welcome in the pastoral industry, and will help to provide feed for the winter. In addition, it will put a good supply of water into the tanks, and this has been badly needed in many places.

Airship Expedition to New Guinea.—The adventurous young German explorer, Lieutenant Paul Graetz, who recently returned to Berlin from a motor boat trip across Africa by way of the Zambesi and the Congo, is preparing for a new expedition. This time his goal will be the hitherto unpenetrated interior of New Guinea, and his means of getting there will be by airship. This expedition will not be entirely German in character. The airship will be built in Germany, but it is intended that half the crew shall be Englishmen, and one of the members will probably be Count Morner, formerly Swedish Consul-General in Sydney. As a protection against the savages of the interior, the airship will be armed with several small machine guns. The dirigible, with a gas generating plant, and the whole equipment of the expedition, will be transported to New Guinea by steamship, and this vessel, anchored off the coast, will act as a base of operations. The expedition is expected to leave Europe in October.

A Unique Industry.—A party of Austrians who arrived by the Friedrich der Grosse a few days ago will leave for Auckland to-morrow to engage in the kauri gum digging industry in the north of New Zealand. Kauri gum, which is the fossilised resin of the kauri pine, is found only in the extreme north of the North Island, and for the manufacture of high-class varnish has no equal, with the exception perhaps of Zanzibar gum, which is, however, much dearer. It forms one of the greatest assets of the Auckland province. The equipment of the digger consists of a thin, long spear, one or two heavy spades, and a scraping knife. The gum is usually found on poor land, and the theory is that the giant trees that yielded it have so exhausted the land that now nothing but tea-tree, or "manuka," as it is called in the Dominion, will grow on it. In former days kauri gum digging was comparatively easy, as plenty of gum was found a few feet under the ground, and on some of the few untouched areas this is still the case, but virgin fields are getting very rare, and, as it has been discovered that the gum exists in some places 12 and more feet under the ground, the work of securing it is far more strenuous than formerly. Until about 25 years ago the gum was entirely produced by British labour, and to some small extent by Maoris. Then Austrians made their appearance, and are now there in such numbers that it is safe to say 75 per cent. of all the gum produced is the result of their labours.

Factory Owner's Responsibility.—Under the Factories and Shops Act an owner is liable to a penalty if any children are found on the premises, whether they are there by his sanction or not. He may order them off, but if they return again, and the inspector happens to come along, proceedings may be taken. At the North Sydney Police Court yesterday Walter Armitage, inspector under the Department of Labour and Industry, proceeded against George M'Donald (M'Donald and Ecklund) for permitting a boy of the age of 11 years to carry a piece of ice from the saw to a storage room. The boy acted entirely on his own volition. In his evidence the defendant said that boys frequently came into the works for ice, and every time that they were on the premises he was liable. The magistrate, Mr. Wilkinson, D.S.M., inflicted the nominal penalty of 2s 6d. A fine of £2, however, was imposed on the same defendant for not fencing in his machinery in accordance with the Act.

Lighting the Three Kings.—That group of big rocks to the north of New Zealand which became notorious owing to the wreck of the steamer Elingamite in 1902, and which are a perpetual danger to shipping, being right in the track of vessels between Sydney and Auckland, are at length to be lighted, and there is to be a powerful automatic fog signalling apparatus attached to the lighthouse. A light on the Three Kings might not have prevented the loss of the Elingamite, as she struck in foggy weather, when a light could not have been seen. Moreover, the ship was on a course that, had the Kings been correctly charted, would have taken her clear of them. The decision of the New Zealand Government, which will be very gratifying to all shipmasters in the Sydney-New Zealand trade, follows on the survey made of the group by the exploring ship of the British Antarctic expedition from July to October of 1911. To those who ask what practical benefits have resulted from the expedition, this may be cited as one of a great many.

Police Methods.—A correspondent writes:—"The method of changing police reliefs in the metropolitan district is detrimental to the interests of the public, and is responsible for many breaches of the peace. It is customary for constables to leave the boundaries of their beats 15 or 20 minutes before the hour at which their period of duty ends, in order to be adjacent to their divisional station, and to be officially dismissed from duty at the hour at which time the relieving party leaves the station. This relieving party occupies at least 10 minutes in distributing itself over the various beats; thus some beats are left entirely unprotected for 25 or 30 minutes at each change of duty. Members of "pushes" are fully cognisant of this weak link in the chain of police methods, and are quick to take advantage of it—as witness the disgraceful scene at the corner of Bay-street and George-street West at about half-past 9 p.m. on the 7th inst., when several men and one woman were knocked down and kicked in the public thoroughfare before the eyes of a hundred people, who were sheltering from the storm under Grace Bros.' verandah."

Lady Billiard Champion.—A billiard tournament was held last night at Heiron and Smith's rooms in aid of the Captain Scott fund. Among the 16 competitors were several of Sydney's best amateur and professional players. Included in the list was Miss Ruby Roberts, the professional lady champion of the world. This young lady succeeded, by defeating four strong players, in winning the final round. Her victory was loudly acclaimed by the crowded house. Miss Roberts is a niece of the well known billiardist, Charles Memmott. She is about 22 years of age, and her style of play is more than usually graceful.

Stamp Duty.—During last week the sum of £2912 0s 10d was paid at the Stamp Office in connection with the estates of deceased persons. In the estate of Patrick Hill Throsby, of Redbrace, Moss Vale, grazier, valued at £29,810, the duty paid amounted to £1726 19s 7d.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

Consequent upon the departure of Lord Chelmsford, the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir William Cullen, will to-day assume the administration of the Government of New South Wales. The oaths of office will be administered to Sir William by the senior Puisne Judge in the Executive Council Chamber at noon. A supplement to the Government "Gazette" has been issued inviting members of the Executive Council, Judges, members of the Legislature, the Lord Mayor, aldermen, heads of churches, consuls, chief civil, naval, and military officers, and such other of the inhabitants as may think proper to be present, to attend at the Executive Council Chamber at the hour specified.

Owing to the staff of his Excellency the Governor being so busily occupied in matters incidental to his Excellency's departure yesterday, his Excellency was unable to be represented at Sir James Graham's funeral. In any other circumstances his Excellency would have deputed a member of his staff to have represented him at the funeral.

The Governor of Victoria received an official call from his Excellency Sir Gerald Strickland (Governor-Designate of New South Wales) yesterday.

The Minister for External Affairs (Mr. Josiah Thomas) is at present in Sydney, and he leaves this evening for the Federal capital site.

The Minister for Lands and Agriculture (Mr. Trefle) is leaving to-night for Narrabri, where he will open the local show.

The Minister for Works (Mr. Griffith) leaves for Yass-Canberra to-night.

The Minister for Mines (Mr. Edden) is leaving to-night for the Ardlethan tin field.

The Agent-General for Tasmania (Sir John M'Call), who is returning to London, was entertained at a banquet at the Launceston Hotel last night by public bodies of the city. The Mayor (Ald. Geo. Hills) presided.

The Chief Secretary of South Australia (Mr. J. G. Bice) will represent his Government at the ceremony of laying the foundation stone at the Federal city, and he left by the Melbourne express yesterday afternoon for the eastern States. While in New South Wales and Victoria Mr. Bice will make inquiries into several departmental matters. He will be accompanied by Mr. H. Blinman, accountant to the Chief Secretary's Department, as several questions to be considered involve intricate actuarial and accountancy details. These will probably have reference to a superannuation and pension scheme.

Sir William Lyne, whose health has been indifferent of late, is now making good progress towards recovery.

Mr. A. C. Mackenzie, engineer of the Geelong Harbour Trust, has been appointed chief engineer for the Melbourne Harbour Trust. Sixteen applications were received, and last week it was agreed by the Commissioners that the choice should be made from Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. W. E. Adams, assistant engineer of the Sydney Harbour Trust. At a meeting yesterday the Commissioners decided to appoint Mr. Mackenzie to the position, which was rendered vacant by the death of Mr. J. Halliday.

Miss Mary Proctor, who has been visiting the Kodaikanal Observatory, obtained valuable information there, besides seeing the stars of the Plough and the Southern Cross at the same time, whilst the splendour of Venus at 7000ft above sea-level was ever-memorable. Miss Proctor will reach Sydney once more on Thursday, and will leave on a lecture-tour of New Zealand on Saturday. The astronomer's next lecture in Sydney will be at the Town Hall towards the end of April.

Dr. Thomas W. Sinclair, assistant health officer to the metropolitan combined sanitary district of New South Wales, which embraces 53 municipalities, was yesterday appointed health officer to the Melbourne City Council. The position carries a salary of £750 a year, rising to £900 a year.

Mr. James Fielding, managing director of Fielding and Co., Ltd., and Mrs. Fielding sailed by the Sonoma on Saturday on their way to England. They intend to spend a year's holiday in Europe.

The Rev. J. Hulme, of Ashfield, has just returned from an extended tour of Great Britain.

Mr. Grayson, a member of the Queensland Legislative Assembly, and Mrs. Grayson, who have been on a visit to Adelaide and Melbourne, are spending a few days in Sydney.

Mr. F. H. Molesworth, secretary of the Church of England Men's Society of New South Wales, was welcomed on his return from England by the Victorian society at the chapter-house, St. Paul's Cathedral, last night. Mr. Molesworth said that the movement had grown very quickly in England, and that the growth had not always been healthy. Though in Australia the movement was started later, he considered that the progress made, allowing for the difference in numbers, was really greater.

WILL OF MR. JUSTICE O'CONNOR.

The late Mr. Justice O'Connor, by his will, appointed the Permanent Trustee Company trustees of his estate, and devised to them his real and personal estate, upon trust, to convert as they deemed wise. They were directed to pay to his wife, Sarah Jane O'Connor, during her life the annual income of the investments, and after her death to set apart £2500 for the benefit of his elder daughter. In the event of the daughter dying without having exercised the power of appointment, and without issue, the money is to be held in trust for his youngest daughter. To his younger daughter he bequeathed £2500. It is provided that £5000 is to be divided amongst his sons after attaining the age of 21 years, or their children in case of death; the balance of the estate to be equally divided between them. The estate is valued at £12,247.

DEATH OF AN OLD FOOTBALLER.

Mr. G. Smith, a prominent Rugby footballer, and member of the old Newcastle Carlton Club, died at the Sydney Hospital yesterday.

LATE SIR JAMES GRAHAM.

FUNERAL AT WAVERLEY.

The remains of the late Sir James Graham, Kt., M.A., M.D., ex-Mayor of Sydney, were laid to rest in Waverley Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

The service in St. James' Church, King-street, which was conducted by Bishop Stone-Wigg, assisted by Revs. Wentworth Shields and A. A. Yeates, was very largely attended. The Dead March in "Saul" was played by the church organist, the hymns chosen being "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "On the Resurrection Morn." The chief mourners were Lady Graham (widow), Mr. Stuart Graham (son, medical student at Sydney University), Mr. G. W. Millard, Dr. R. J. Millard, and Mr. B. G. Millard (brothers-in-law).

The funeral cortege was a lengthy one. It moved from the church at 2 o'clock, and was watched by hundreds of people who had congregated at the corner of Phillip and King streets.

Every section of the community was represented at the graveside, where the Rev. Wentworth Shields, rector of St. James', officiated. Alongside the prominent legal medical and commercial men of the city were a number of residents of Surry Hills and Woolloomooloo. TRIBUTE BY MR. COOK.

The leader of the Federal Opposition (Mr. Joseph Cook, M.P.) said yesterday: "I regret more than I can express the passing of Sir James Graham. It came to me as a shock to read the news in the train on my return from Adelaide. I had no idea he was in any way ailing.

"He was a devoted servant of the State in all high causes. Nothing seemed to damp his patriotic ardour. Of his services to our Liberal cause, it is impossible to speak too highly. They were able, unceasing, and ungrudgingly rendered. He fought more than one 'forlorn hope' with great courage. 'In days of old, when knights were bold,' there were none who possessed the qualities in rarer degree than he who has just left us. His services to his State, to his party, to his fellow human beings—to the poorest and most unfortunate of them—will keep his memory fragrant for many a year to come. Take him for all in all, he was a man to be proud of."

LIBERAL ASSOCIATION'S TRIBUTE.

At the council of the Liberal Association of New South Wales last night the following resolution was carried:—"That this council place on record its deep sense of the great loss sustained by the Liberal party in the death of Sir James Graham, and expresses its sincere sympathy with his relations." The council, after the passing of the resolution, adjourned out of respect to Sir James Graham's memory.

HOSPITAL MAINTENANCE.

DUTY OF THE STATE.

LITHGOW, Monday.

There was a representative attendance at the hospital on Saturday, despite the wet and cold weather, when a new wing was opened by Mr. Fred. Flowers, M.L.C. Mr. S. H. Gannon, president of the hospital committee, stated that the total cost of the additions was £2518, and asked the Minister for a grant of £840.

Mr. Flowers, in replying, contended it was not right that hospitals should have to depend on race meetings, bazaars, lotteries, etc., for their maintenance. A healthy man and a healthy woman were the best assets of the State. He believed in some system whereby the size and accommodation of a hospital would be proportionate to the population, and there would be no need to rely on any precarious means for support and maintenance. The State believed that by educating the young it made them better citizens, and so it made itself responsible for their education. The State made itself responsible for a healthy mind, and those who were interested in hospitals certainly thought it was the duty of the State to look after the body. (Applause.) He thought that was coming, because public opinion was agreed that the finances of the hospitals should be met by the State, and that the responsibility should fall proportionately on every member of the State. Regarding the request for financial assistance, he promised that the money for connecting with the sewerage system would be available when required, also that the balance of the amount asked would be placed on the next year's Estimates.

THE FAREWELL.

GOVERNOR'S DEPARTURE.

SCENE AT RAILWAY STATION.

GREAT PUBLIC TRIBUTE.

"Good-bye!"

It was a solitary voice.

Lord and Lady Chelmsford were standing in the midst of a throng of representative citizens. The crowd that surrounded the station had up to this point been quiet—exceedingly quiet for a Sydney crowd. Their feelings were a little too deep for a noisy demonstration.

But when the voice rang out his Excellency turned from his friends and officials, and, facing the crowd, returned the greeting, "Good-bye!"

It was a simple farewell, spoken by the King's representative to the King's people, and somehow it broke the silence which a keen regret had cast over the multitude. Hats and 'kerchiefs waved in the air. There was a fusillade of "good-byes" from every side. Then someone gave the signal, and three hearty cheers were given for the Governor, followed by three more for Lady Chelmsford.

"AU REVOIR."

Then while the vice-regal party moved towards the waiting train, there came another voice, with a militant ring in it: "No, not good-bye—au revoir." This was received enthusiastically by the crowd, for it seemed that every individual present wanted, and even expected, that some day Lord Chelmsford would return to Australia—as the Premier expressed it—"in a more exalted position."

As his Excellency's carriage traversed the city streets from Cranbrook to the railway station, preceded by a contingent of mounted police, there were crowds of people lining the footpaths, and every now and then there sounded a farewell cheer. But for the most part it was a silent, sympathetic farewell, the feeling of loss on the part of the citizens precluding any outward manifestation.

At the station the departing Governor and his lady were received with a guard of honour of the Royal Australian Garrison Artillery, under Captain Watts. A posse of a hundred police, under Superintendent Goulder, preserved an open space in front of the entrance to the platform. Lord and Lady Chelmsford were accompanied by Captain De Meleyns and Captain Dumaresq, and on the platform was a representative gathering of citizens, amongst whom were the Chief Justice (Sir William Cullen), the Premier (Mr. M'Gowen), the Lord Mayor (Alderman Cocks), the State Commandant (Colonel Wallack), the leader of the Opposition (Mr. Wade), the Minister for Works (Mr. Griffith), the Vice-President of the Executive Council (Mr. Flowers), the Minister for Mines (Mr. Edden), the President of the Legislative Council (Sir Francis Suttor), Mr. Solomon, M.H.A. (Premier of Tasmania), the Chief Railway Commissioner (Mr. T. Johnson), Mr. Josiah Thomas, M.P., Mr. McDonald (Speaker of the House of Representatives), Mr. J. Goulston (president of the Masonic Club), Mr. J. G. Moon, the Dean of Sydney (Rev. A. E. Talbot), Mr. J. G. Farleigh, M.L.C., Archdeacon Boyce, Rev. J. E. Carruthers, Mr. John Garland, M.L.C., Professor David, Alderman T. H. Kelly, Lieut.-Colonel Luscombe, Mr. Justice Pring, Judge Docker, Professor Anderson Stuart, Mr. Coghlan (Principal Under-Secretary), Mr. H. S. Budge (official secretary to the Governor), Mr. Harkness (secretary to the Premier), Mr. W. G. Layton, Mr. O. J. McDermott, Mr. Churchill Tucker, and a large number of ladies, including Mrs. M'Gowen, Mrs. Cocks, Miss Suttor, Mrs. Edden, and Mrs. Curnow.

Lady Chelmsford was presented with a number of beautiful bouquets, and the vice-regal carriage was beautifully decorated with fruits and flowers.

THE PERSONAL NOTE.

When his Excellency arrived, he was accorded a Royal salute, the Artillery Band playing the National Anthem. After inspecting the guard of honour, Lord Chelmsford said good-bye to the crowd, and then returned to shake hands with his coachman and outrider. Further cheering marked Lord and Lady Chelmsford's advent on to the station, and here they personally bade farewell to all the friends who had assembled. There were many expressions of regret at their departure, and the hope was freely voiced that some day they would return again to Australia. Here and there amongst the crowd could be detected the personal note, as one and another citizen or official bore testimony to the sterling worth of the Governor, or the kindly sympathy of Lady Chelmsford. Having boarded the train, the last farewells were spoken, and one more representative of the King, having played his part in the affairs of the dominions beyond the seas, turned his face again towards the motherland.

AULD LANG SYNE.

Punctually at 8 o'clock the signal sounded, and the express moved out. Cheers again rang out. The artillery, having marched in from the road, were drawn up along the platform, and they presented arms as the band played "God Save the King." Then suddenly as the Vice-Regal carriage passed the soldiers the band struck up "Auld Lang Syne," and the crowd joined in with full sympathy.

Looking out from the car window the last thing ord and Lady Chelmsford saw was a gleaming row of bayonets, and a confused waving of hats and handkerchiefs. The last sounds to reach them were the diminishing strains of "Auld Lang Syne."

"PARIS OF AUSTRALASIA."

SYDNEY'S GREAT STRIDES.

ENTHUSIASTIC NEW ZEALANDER.

The wonderful strides that have been made by Sydney during the last decade have greatly impressed Mr. Ernest Davis, managing director of Hancock and Company, one of the biggest concerns operating in New Zealand, who left on his return to Auckland by the R.M.S. Moldavia yesterday.

"The population of Sydney at the present moment is nearly four-fifths of that of the whole of New Zealand," he remarked to an interviewer yesterday. "The population of the Dominion increased by only 28,000 last year, while that of your metropolitan area alone shows an increase of nearly double those figures. It is, I think, safe to assume that in 12 years time the population of Sydney will exceed that of the whole of the Dominion. I don't think Sydney people themselves fully realise the potentialities of this great city. It has quite left Melbourne behind. The shops here are larger than those in the southern capital, and are better stocked. Sydney is the Paris of Australasia, and its great attractions are a tremendous asset. The floating population must be enormous, and everyone who comes spends money liberally, and so vastly more money gets into circulation here than is the case in any other Australasian city."

Unlike some New Zealand visitors, Mr. Davis has a good word for the tram arrangements. "I consider you have an excellent service," he said. "Your Circular Quay, with its thousands of trams passing to and fro every day, looks to a stranger like a human mincing machine. Why don't you put a subway from the foot of Pitt and [illegible] streets for the foot passengers to the [illegible]? To see people crossing and dodging the cars coming in all directions always [illegible] me of chickens flying away from dogs on a poultry farm."

Speaking on the naval question, Mr. Davis said that a great many New Zealanders would like to see an Australasian navy, but there were some obstacles in the way at present. The main one was that New Zealand was so far away from Australia, and had a number of outlying dependencies, such as Cook Islands, and New Zealanders were afraid of their interests being subordinated to those of Australia. Therefore, it was probable that for the time being New Zealand would adhere to its present policy. When a change was considered desirable he hoped the matter would not be decided by a conference of Premiers in London, but by a conference of naval experts, whose opinions would carry such weight as would satisfy both Australia and New Zealand that whatever course they might recommend was the best for both nations.

Finally, Mr. Davis said he had been surprised to find how little was known in Australia of the arrangements that were being made for the New Zealand Exhibition, which was to be held at the end of this year. New Zealanders expected that it would be largely patronised by Australians, and it was clear that if that was to be the case an advertising campaign would have to be entered upon.

PEACE EFFORTS.

ALLIES' ATTITUDE.

PORTE'S STRENGTH DOUBTED.

TURKISH UNREST.

BELGRADE, March 10.

The Cabinets of the Allies are continuing their conversations, but have so far not reached any decision regarding the peace proposals of the Powers.

The Allies fear that the Turkish Government would not prove strong enough to assure peace against fresh revolutionary outbreaks.

MILITARY OPERATIONS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 10.

The Turkish artillery at Bulair, at the neck of the Gallipoli Peninsula, checked the Bulgarian advance on Kuru Chiflik, inflicting considerable loss.

The Bulgarians fired on a Turkish cruiser which, however, ultimately silenced the land batteries.

A Bulgarian aeroplane dropped a bomb into Bulair yesterday, but it did no damage.

Adrianople was bombarded on Thursday and Friday, but both sides were quiet on Saturday.

THE FALL OF JANINA.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 10.

The loss of Janina has created a painful impression in Constantinople.

ATHENS, March 10.

European Sovereigns have congratulated the Crown Prince on his victory over the Turks at Janina.

The German Emperor was particularly cordial.

The Greek cavalry have captured 2300 Turkish fugitives north of Janina.

When Janina surrendered the Greeks sent large supplies of food to the Turks who had suffered great privations during the siege.

AFFAIRS IN CONSTANTINOPLE.

GRAND VIZIER MAY RESIGN.

LONDON, March 10.

The Constantinople correspondent of the "Daily Chronicle" states that it is rumoured in the Turkish capital that Mahmud Shefket Pasha, the Grand Vizier, is about to resign.

The correspondent adds that large crowds attended the memorial services in the Suliemanieh Mosque in connection with the death of Nazim Pasha, and there were loud cries of "Vengeance on the murderers."

Twenty-five military officers who attended the service have been arrested.

BULGARIA AND SERVIA.

SOFIA, March 9.

The Bulgarian Government is seeking explanations from Belgrade in regard to the action of the Servians in expelling the manager of the Bulgarian National Bank from Monastir.

THE HUNTED HAMIDIEH.

ATHENS, March 9.

The Turkish cruiser Hamidieh, which is being chased by the Greek squadron, left Symi Island on Wednesday.

It is reported that her stem and one of her boilers have been damaged.

AERONAUTICS.

MACHINE GUNS ALOFT.

LONDON, March 10.

Owing to successful tests at Aldershot of a bi-plane fitted with a machine gun, a fleet of bi-planes is to be equipped with similar weapons.

It is understood that rapid fire at an altitude of 1000 feet during the Aldershot tests did not affect the stability of the aeroplane.

[The latest issue of "The Navy" to hand reports that Mr. Henry Farman has built for the Russian Government a machine which has a bullet-proof compartment for the pilot and his passenger, and also a quick-firing gun mounted in front.]

ANOTHER GERMAN HOAX.

AN IMPUDENT SWINDLER.

BERLIN, March 9.

A man wearing the uniform of an officer called and inspected the books of the Sutterhausen Municipal Council, and finding several thousand marks above the correct amount, took the money away, with the consent of the officials, alleging that he was taking it to the Ministry of Finance in Berlin.

The municipal officers subsequently discovered that they had been robbed.

They have also decided to withdraw their money from the Post Office Savings Banks, and to reinvest it in countries where women's suffrage has been granted.

HERESY HUNT.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT

SIX MEMBERS INDICTED.

THREE MINISTERS INCLUDED.

EXCITING PROCEEDINGS.

Behind doors locked and bolted, the P.L.L. Conference last night debated in the Protestant Hall the report of the Heresy Hunt Committee.

True to the promise made that, as the conference proposed to deal with the Labour party as it had never before been dealt with in the history of the movement, this should be the most secret meeting ever held, extra precautions were taken to make the meeting quite exclusive, a circular having been sent out to the various leagues and unions that only members of the P.L.L. executive and members of the State and Federal Labour parties, and, of course, delegates of the Labour leagues and unions forming the conference would be admitted past the doorkeepers.

EXCITING PROCEEDINGS.

The meeting started at 7 o'clock under the presidency of Mr. E. Farrar, M.L.C., and there was a full atendance of delegates. The proceedings were of a most exciting character. The committee of inquiry, consisting of Messrs. T. Andrews (A.W.U.), Cohen (Glebe P.L.L.), Ivey (King P.L.L.), Clara (ex-M.L.A.), and D. J. Sullivan (general secretary of the Railway Workers and General Labourers' Union) presented their report, which concluded with a drastic recommendation for the exclusion from the party of certain Ministers and members.

The tenor of the report showed that the committee had inquired diligently into two specific counts, namely, alleged unfaithfulness to the leasehold plank, and according a left-handed support to Mr. Beeby on the occasion of the Blayney by-election.

The six members of the State Labour party proposed by the committee to be ostracised by the movement were:—

- Mr. CARMICHAEL (Minister for Education and Labour).
- Mr. GRIFFITH (Minister for Public Works).
- Mr. TREFLE (Minister for Lands and Agriculture).
- Mr. G. BLACK (member for the Namoi).
- Mr. M'GARRY (member for the Murrumbidgee).
- Mr. LYNCH (member for Ashburnham).

MR. WATSON'S WARNING.

The conference appeared to be evenly and certainly acrimoniously divided on this recommendation of the committee for the expulsion of three prominent Ministers and three members of the rank and file, two of whom are of very long standing. The gravity of the position thus precipitated politically was recognised especially by Mr. J. C. Watson, at one time leader of the State Labour party and Prime Minister of the Commonwealth. Mr. Watson pleaded with conference not to jeopardise the Labour movement in New South Wales, and perhaps in Australia, by adopting such a recommendation.

Other delegates supported Mr. Watson in urging that at the very worst, if the findings of the committee were to be upheld, the six proposed to be proscribed should be merely censured. A hint was thrown out by one of the Labour members present that the conference should be wary in what it did in this matter, because it was an open secret that the Ministry as a whole would brook no act of conference directed against any members of the Cabinet individually.

Confronted with this prospect conjured up of the whole of the State Ministry resigning if the recommendations of the committee were carried, the conference apparently viewed with greater seriousness than ever the issues that had to be decided.

CHAIRMAN OF THE COMMITTEE.

The most prominent speech on behalf of the committee's findings and recommendations was delivered by the chairman of the committee (Mr. Andrews). He laid great stress upon the fact that members generally of the State Labour party had treated the committee when engaged in its work of investigation with scant courtesy. It transpired that only a few of the Labour members appeared before the committee, and one of them, Mr. G. A. Jones, member for Moree, flatly told the committee that he would be no party to any repudiation in regard to holders of Crown lands obtaining a freehold title by the statutory right of conversion given to them.

Although the alleged support accorded by the six members of the party to Mr. Beeby, or rather the lack of active hostility by them against Mr. Beeby, was the ostensible ground for the committee's drastic recommendation, as it was generally described by the various speakers, there was an undercurrent in the debate, which showed that the recent gas strike had not increased Mr. Carmichael's popularity with a certain section of the conference, nor had the fact that Mr. Griffith was the author of the Newcastle Ironworks Bill made him a persona grata with the more Socialistic wing of the movement.

Mr. Trefle's political crime in the eyes of the committee of inquiry appeared to be of a negative character, viz., that he had not entered the field with his customary vigour against his ex-colleague at Blayney.

The fault chiefly found by the heresy-hunters in Messrs. Black, McGarry, and Lynch was that they were unsound in their leasehold faith. The trio, it is well known, hold country seats, where the farming vote is a factor not to be despised.

While half the conference urged caution in giving effect to the proposed expulsion of six from the party, the opposing section made some bitter speeches in support. As one Labour member pathetically put it, the militant element in the party was "flogging it into us." It was pointed out by the cooler-headed politicians present that the exclusion of six members from the Labour movement, with parties so evenly divided to-day, would mean the wreck of the party as soon as Parliament met in the next week or so.

"Better to have a few men there we can trust, than a great many that we cannot," was the retort to this practical warning.

The debate was carried on with great animation from 7 to 11 o'clock, and not even the most skilled in feeling the pulse of a meeting could say with certainty what would be the ultimate result of it.

The recent gas strike played a greater part in the hostility evidenced towards the Ministry than appeared on the surface. The speech by Mr. J. C. Watson seemed at the time to sway a great part of the gathering, and it is likely that, if the recommendation is defeated by a small majority, it will be due to the telling arguments that Mr. Watson advanced.

MR. TREFLE'S POSITION.

Although both Mr. Carmichael and Mr. Trefle were present, only Mr. Trefle spoke. The Minister for Lands made a powerful protest against such an extreme recommendation. It reminded him of cracking a Barcelona nut with a steam hammer, because, even admitting for the sake of argument, that he had not spoken against Mr. Beeby, such an admission did not amount to political venality.

Speaking from the point of view of the party, Mr. Trefle declared that to carry such a resolution would be suicidal, and he said that with no personal spirit, but as a sincere well-wisher of the Labour movement, which had such high and ennobling humanitarian aims.

THE MEETING ADJOURNED.

By 11 o'clock the locked doors were thrown open, and the delegates emerged from the heated atmosphere of party debate into the cool air of an autumn evening. They had arrived at no finality. Delegates were loth to allow such a momentous occasion to pass without recording their views, but it is likely that a decision will be reached to-night.

The meeting was adjourned till 7 o'clock this evening.

"NOT HANGED YET."

"We have not hanged them yet," said one delegate, laughingly, as he came out into the street, replying to the anxious inquiry of a brother delegate who had temporarily withdrawn for light refreshments and was on his way back to hear if any decision had been arrived at.

The utmost secrecy was observed by the officials of the P.L.L. as to what had taken place.

The president, Mr. Farrar, M.L.C., said: "There is nothing for the press. Not a word. We did nothing. The conference stands adjourned till 7 o'clock to-morrow night."

The secretary, Mr. Grant, also declined to make any statment for public information with regard to the evening's proceedings.

A SENATOR BLOCKED.

The conference was open to Federal Labour members, although the conduct of none of them was impugned. Senator Macdougall put in an appearance late.

A doorkeeper stood in his path after he had knocked and sought to enter. "Who are you?" he demanded of the burly Senator. "What is your name?"

The Senator showed his gold pass.

The sight of the golden decoration was enough, and the Senator gained admittance, by no means pleased that "the man who had topped the score" on the famous 13th of April was so unknown to fame.

The combatants in the meeting carried the verbal fray into the street, and the debate, so to speak, overflowed at 11 into the public thoroughfare.

The champions of the Parliamentary party took great exception during the proceedings in the hall to paid officials in the movement girding against sitting Labour members.

It is understood that Mr. H. Lamond, at whose instance the political heresy hunt was instituted, will speak to-night.

AUSTRALIAN NAVY.

THE H.M.A.S. MELBOURNE.

PREPARATIONS FOR THE WELCOME.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The cruiser Melbourne, which is the first big fighting ship of the Australian fleet, is expected to reach Melbourne on March 26. The Federal Government is making arrangements to extend a suitable welcome to her.

To-day the Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) stated that arrangements would probably be made for chartering one of the large bay steamers, so that members of the Federal Cabinet and representative citizens and their wives could be taken down the bay to the anchorage off Williamstown. Arrangements are also being made to concentrate the three torpedo boat destroyers—Parramatta, Yarra, and Warrego—in the bay; and H.M.A.S. Encounter and the training ships Pioneer and Protector will also be on the spot to welcome their new ship. In the evening the officers of the Melbourne will be asked to an official dinner by the Federal Government. Half of the crew will be entertained next day at a theatre party, and the remainder will be similarly treated afterwards.

Senator Pearce has forwarded the following message of welcome to Captain Silver at Fremantle:—"On behalf of the Naval Board and self I desire to extend to H.M.A.S. Melbourne a hearty welcome upon her arrival in Australian waters. The Melbourne comes as a proof of the sincerity of Australasia's spirit of self-reliance, heralding a new era in her naval defence. I desire to express our confidence that the pioneer cruiser of Australia will set the standard for her sister cruisers. Good wishes to yourself, officers, petty officers, and men."

ENTHUSIASTIC WELCOME AT FREMANTLE.

FREMANTLE, Monday.

Yet another important stage in the development of the Australian scheme of naval defence was marked to-day by the arrival of the Commonwealth cruiser Melbourne, which with her sister cruisers, Sydney and Brisbane, the battle-cruiser Australia, and a number of other warcraft of lesser importance, is to form the nucleus of the Australian navy.

Immediately intimation was received that the warship was in sight the Union Jack was hoisted at Arthur's Head, and large numbers of people went to the Quay. All the ships in the harbour were gaily decked in bunting, and the scene was an inspiring one.

Along her decks were to be seen the handy men of the first Australian adult ship of war. Fully two-thirds of them are Australian-born.

The officers speak very highly of her seagoing qualities, and are immensely proud of her. During the voyage she was well tested, as she met with indifferent weather conditions almost throughout.

She will take in 850 tons of coal at Fremantle, and will resume her voyage to the eastern States via Albany, where she will remain a day on Friday next.

This afternoon the officers were tendered a reception by the Mayor of Perth; while this evening 200 men and officers were entertained at dinner by the Fremantle citizens.

The Governor-General received a wireless message to-day from Dr. Mawson sent from Adelie Land, via Macquarie Island, as follows:—"I and my comrades deeply appreciate your kind message, and are rejoiced at the receipt, through your Excellency, of the sympathetic communication from his Majesty the King."

"MISSING" VICAR.

REPORTED ARRIVAL IN MELBOURNE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The story of the "missing" vicar of Christ Church, Leeds, was revived to-day, when the steamer Port Lincoln from London, via Capetown, cast anchor in the bay. On board the ship was a man described as "the missing vicar," who was accompanied by a woman, who appeared to be between 30 and 35 years of age. They were among hundreds of others classed as assisted immigrants.

When the Port Lincoln dropped anchor in the bay, the immigration officers went off in the launch Imogen. Mr. A. Y. Bramwell at once sought out the man in question, and after telling him that his identity was known, asked that he return £10, the difference between the ordinary and assisted passages fare to Australia. The money was paid at once. The man and woman then descended the gangway on to the launch, and were conveyed to Port Melbourne.

As they left the side of the steamer, the couple were loudly cheered by the passengers crowded along the Port Lincoln's bulwarks.

FEDERAL CAPITAL.

"A BEAUTIFUL CITY."

THE DESIGN DISCUSSED.

TO-MORROW'S CEREMONY.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

CAPITAL CITY SITE, Monday.

"The Minister's instructions are that the city shall be a beautiful city, absolutely a healthy city, and also that the design shall be a practical one, with a due regard to economy."

These words were used by Colonel David Miller, the Administrator of the Federal territory, in discussing the approved design of the capital city with me. Having had an opportunity of a close inspection of the original design, together with visits to the site itself, I am able to bear testimony to the fact that everything has been done on paper to ensure that those ideals shall fructify in practice as the work of construction proceeds.

AN AUSTRALIAN DESIGN.

Two facts should be made clear in connection with the approved design: First, that it is an Australian design, and second that it is mainly the work of men who will be responsible for carrying it out. Both Colonel Miller and Mr. Scrivener, the Director of Lands and Surveys, have emphasised the fact that in most respects the departmental board adopted their own ideas in their design, based on local knowledge, and were not necessarily guided by the winning competitive designs, which were for all intents and purposes completely ignored. The series of circular avenues radiating from Canberra Hill was a feature of the American design, which secured the first prize. The large sheet of ornamental water now proposed was included in the design by the Australian architects which was recommended for first prize in the minority report of the designs board, and the location of Parliament House on Canberra Hill is a feature common to several of the designs. But in the main the men who recommended the site in the first instance, and have by residence and work on the spot acquired an intimate acquaintance with the conditions prevailing there, have secured the approval by the Minister of their own ideas.

THE ORNAMENTAL LAKE.

Colonel Miller described the ornamental lake to me as "the end" feature of the city. The only way by which it could be secured was by impounding the waters which pass through the city, that is to say, the Molonglo River, respecting which the authorities have convinced themselves that there is no question as to the capacity of that river to fulfil the requirements of the design, even under the abnormal conditions of an exceptionally dry season.

CIRCULAR AVENUES.

In designing the avenues which are to encircle the city, two main principles have been adopted. They are all directed to either an architectural feature or a natural feature. Thus the grand avenue, 400ft in width, which starts from Parliament House, is directed towards Mount Ainslie, and after crossing the lake culminates in a bold architectural feature in the military barracks. The main circular avenue, which is to be eight miles in length, and constructed right round the city, will be 200ft in width, and this will make it possible to set a portion apart for fast motor and other traffic. The other principal avenues will be 150ft in width. There will be no slums in the Federal City. Another feature of the thoroughfares is accessibility from one part of the city to another by roads which in every case are practical—that is to say, they are designed on gradients which lend themselves to easy traffic. In this connection Colonel Miller mentioned to me that the gradients in no case are more than 1 in 20, and those in places which are not likely to be often used.

THE RAILWAY.

The example of Sydney is not to be followed at the Federal capital. The railway station will be in close proximity to the business and administrative portion of the city. The banks, post-office, principal hotels, and public offices will all be near at hand, and roads will radiate in all directions so that other portions of the city may be easily reached. The approach to the city by the railway will not be an ugly colourless series of backyards as in Sydney or London. The line is to traverse park lands, and the immediate approach to the city will be through gardens a thousand feet wide.

DESIGNS FOR THE BUILDINGS.

In view of the criticism which was directed against some of the conditions of the competition for the general design of the capital, I discussed with Colonel Miller the probable character of the conditions under which the principal public buildings would be erected. He expressed the view that the design for such buildings as the capitol and Parliament house would be thrown open to world-wide competition, with the object of securing the very best structure that could be obtained. Parliament House may eventually be 600ft. in length by 200ft. in depth, and it will therefore be an imposing edifice worthy of the services of the best architects in the world. The work will be carried out by the officers of the Department of Home Affairs, but probably the conditions of the competition will be such as to render it quite convenient for the successful architects to co-operate in the supervision, but the usual arrangements under which the architect preparing the accepted design supervises the work of construction until completed will not be possible. In this case, in the first instance, only those portions of Parliament House which are required for the immediate purposes of the Legislature will be erected. Later on the building will be finished, but this will take some considerable time. Probably only from £150,000 to £200,000 will be expended on the building in its initial form.

I asked Colonel Miller when he thought the people of Australia might expect their Parliament to meet on Canberra Hill. He replied: "That depends first of all on ample financial provision, and then on strict adherence to the scheme under which these works will progress systematically. If both these conditions are satisfactorily fulfilled the principal buildings should be ready within seven years—that is to say, the Parliament House, necessary administrative offices, railway, and a substantial portion of the residential and business quarters of the city, together with the requisite public utilities."

Only 600 men are engaged on the site at present, but it will not be possible to increase this number very considerably for at least two years. Colonel Miller pointed out that the preparation of the necessary surveys and plans would take at least 12 months, but in the meantime a good deal of progress was being made with water supply, sewerage, brickmaking, roadmaking, construction of railway, and similar works. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof in the Federal capital of Australia as elsewhere.

COMPLETE ARRANGEMENTS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Everything is now in readiness for the laying of the foundation-stones of the commencement column and proclaiming the name of the Federal capital on Wednesday.

By the Sydney express last night his Excellency the Governor-General, together with Lady Denman, and party, the Minister for Home Affairs, Mr. O'Malley; and the Attorney-General, Mr. Hughes, left for Yass, where they will be met by motor cars, and conveyed over the intervening 40 miles of road to the scene of Wednesday's festivities to-morrow afternoon.

The 180 guests who constitute the Victorian section of the Federal party will take their departure from Melbourne by special train.

Wednesday's ceremonies have been carefully outlined, and a rehearsal has taken place, so that all hitches should be obviated.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S RESOLUTION.

The Australian Historical Society, at its annual meeting, passed the following resolution:—"That, in the opinion of this society, the name 'Canberra' should be retained as that of the capital city of the Australian Commonwealth. That such resolution be forwarded to the Federal authorities and the press."

AFTER THE STRIKE.

FULL PRESSURE OF GAS.

The whole of the gas employees were back at work yesterday, and the gas was on at full pressure in city and suburbs.

The men, of course, are anxiously awaiting the meeting of the State Parliament, when steps will be taken to allow of a wages board being established.

LABOUR PARTY.

THE LEADERSHIP.

STATEMENT BY MR. M'GOWEN.

WILL BE GUIDED BY HIS PARTY.

"I see that the question has again been raised of my probable retirement," said the Premier (Mr. M'Gowen) yesterday.

"Of course, there is nothing new in this. It has been known and published from time to time that I was anxious to retire. The only question has been when should my retirement take place. I said on a previous occasion that party interests would largely govern my attitude. That still applies.

"If I follow my own inclination, I will retire at the end of the present Parliament, from Ministerial office. That has been my intention all along. But the interests of the party have to be considered, and I have yet to hear what my colleagues think about the matter. The attitude of my friends is that I should continue to lead the party until after the general election, and then retire if I think fit. My own personal view is that, whoever succeeds me should take the responsibility of fighting the election.

"It is not a fact that I wish to retire, because I have been harassed by the movement. Such is not the case. I am on the best of terms with the unions, and all those connected with the movement. My feeling is that I have given the best of my life to the movement, and that it is 'up to me' to enjoy a well-earned rest.

"I have given all that is best in my life during the last 39 years for the movement, being in the thick of the fight on all occasions. I am glad that I have worked for it, because it is a grand movement, which nothing can keep back. Other leading men in it besides myself must drop out in course of of time, but the movement will go on for ever. One man dropping out makes no difference.

"Of course, it is a matter for the party to decide who shall succeed me, and I will be largely guided by the party in any decision I may come to as to retirement.

"The position in regard to the leadership is just the same as at the close of last session. In fact, it is premature at the present time to discuss it."

THE NEXT LEADER.

MR. HOLMAN'S CHANCES.

It was indicated in the "Herald" of December 17 last that Mr. M'Gowen would retire from the leadership, and that Mr. Holman would probably lead the next State Labour campaign in the country.

On present appearances it looks as if such would turn out to be the case. Several articles appeared in the "Herald" just before Mr. Holman left for England, on the subject of the leadership, and prominence was given to the divided feeling both in the Cabinet and in the party respecting Mr. Holman's claims. At that time the indications were that an election would take place in June or July. Things have changed considerably since then, both in respect of the political situation and in respect of Mr. Holman's claims to the leadership, and it is probable that when the time comes Mr. Holman will be chosen unanimously to succeed Mr. M'Gowen.

If there is no further change in the political situation the House will dissolve in September, or some other date shortly before the Parliament would expire by effluxion of time. Present intentions are to hold a very short session, to deal with the gas industry, go into recess, and then meet again in June or July for supply and one or two urgent matters. The campaign in the country will then be the next order.

Mr. Holman will be due back in Sydney about May. A private letter was posted to him by the last English mail conveying a hint from an influential quarter regarding the prospects of leadership.

When Mr. M'Gowen retires from the leadership he will go out of office, but not out of politics. His intention is to still give his constituents the benefit of his services as member for Redfern.

ANOTHER INDARRA.

BIG INTERSTATE LINER.

THE OPTIMISM OF SHIPOWNERS.

It is stated that the A.U.S.N. Company have another new 9000-ton steamer on the stocks at Wm. Denny and Bros.' yards in Dumbarton.

Very little definite information is obtainable here regarding the new liner, but visitors to the yards in question at the time the company's fine new flagship Indarra was nearing completion, state that they saw an exact replica of the Indarra there.

Further inquiries go to show that the new steamer will, in all probability, be brought out here to run in conjunction with the Indarra in the interstate trade between Sydney and Fremantle.

During the past year the increase in size of our interstate steamers has been phenomenal. The Adelaide Steamship Company, Ltd., has placed in the service the Warilda and Wandilla, two 8000-ton vessels, to which will shortly be added another similar vessel called the Willochra. The Howard Smith Company, Ltd., also have a fine 8000-tonner in the Canberra, which is now due to leave Glasgow for Australia. Still another palatial interstate liner will swell this number when Messrs. M'Ilwraith M'Eacharn's improved Karoola, the Katoomba, puts in an appearance.

The A.U.S.N. Company's present flagship, the Indarra, was looked upon as being the limit for size and comfort in the interstate trade when she arrived here a little under two months ago. Doubts were expressed at the time as to whether shipowners were not over-sanguine in their views of the prospects of trade between the various States. Their optimism, however, will be considered unbounded when it is learned that the Indarra, which is the biggest liner in the interstate trade at present is to be joined by a sister ship.

The Indarra is a twin-screw steamer of 9200 tons. Her leading dimensions are:—Length 450ft, breadth 60ft, and depth 32ft. She has seven decks, with an electric lift operating between the upper deck and the boat deck in the first-class entrance. She has accommodation for 230 first-class passengers in one, two, and three berth cabins. She also carries 140 second and 120 third class passengers. There are four suites of special state rooms, verandah cafe, drawing-room, and smoking-room. She also has a fully-equipped and commodious swimming bath, with dressing rooms and all accessories. Her speed is 15 knots.

These few details will show how the travelling public are being provided for in the interstate service. It remains to be seen, however, when all the huge liners at present building arrive, whether the trade itself justifies the sinking of such large sums in floating palaces like those coming forward of late.

YASS ELECTION.

WAS IT IRREGULAR?

STATEMENT BY MR. FLOWERS.

Mr. Flowers, who is associated with the Premier in the administration of the Chief Secretary's Department, disagrees with Mr. Wade's suggestion that the Yass election was irregular.

"Black Range Post Office was not declared a polling-place," said Mr. Flowers, yesterday, "but Black Range was. It is left to the returning officer to find a convenient place to take the poll. He decided upon a certain place. Then his officers went there and decided to shift it somewhere else—for what reasons we don't know. Under the Act they can do that.

"It was a house that was decided on. Suppose there happened to be sickness in that house, and they found it inconvenient to take the poll there. In that case they would have the right to move it somewhere else, and an executive minute could be put through to validate the action. Of course, the right remains to petition the House. In that event the matter would be referred to the Parliamentary Elections Qualifications Committee."

THE STORM.

HEAVY DAMAGE TO PROPERTY.

EFFECT IN COUNTRY.

ROUGH WEATHER ON COAST.

Further details of the damage caused by Saturday's cyclonic storms continue to come to hand.

These show that hundreds of houses were flooded, unroofed, or damaged in various ways. Many municipal works, both in the city and suburbs, were torn up by the rush of water. M'Cathie's, Ltd., in Pitt-street, had stock valued at several thousands of pounds damaged by rain which found its way through the roof. Messrs. Langdon and Langdon had three valuable horses killed at Milson's Point, owing to a wall collapsing and falling upon them. Several wards at the Coast Hospital were unroofed; but the patients suffered no inconvenience. The residence of the station master at Como was completely wrecked; while at North Bondi an avalanche of sand and mud struck a boarding-house and practically buried a number of bedrooms. The boot factory of Messrs. John Hunter and Sons, Ltd., in Redfern was flooded, and numerous other cases of damage to property occurred in the city and suburbs; while many parts of the country suffered severely. Altogether, it is estimated that the damage will run into many tens of thousands of pounds. Numerous instances of narrow escapes from death were reported.

The storm was also felt off the coast, the steamer Warilda, which arrived from Melbourne last night, reporting heavy seas and a strong southerly gale. The steamer Kanowna, which is running many hours' late, sent a wireless message stating that heavy seas had swept her hatch coverings away.

The storm has now passed away to the south-west, and, according to latest advices, was situated over the Gippsland district, in Victoria. It left some splendid rainfalls in its tracks in New South Wales, which should prove very welcome to farmers.

Further phenomenally heavy rainfalls were reported yesterday, especially from the suburbs and the Blue Mountains. Ashfield headed the list with 828 points.

The water police were engaged throughout the day yesterday in searching the beaches and rocks in the vicinity of Dobroyde Point for the body of Mr. W. Moore, who was lost overboard from the yacht Thelma during the storm on Saturday. Up to midnight last night it had not been recovered.

ON THE COAST.

KANOWNA'S TRYING TIME.

HATCH COVERINGS WASHED AWAY.

According to a wireless message which was received yesterday from the A.U.S.N. Company's steamer Kanowna, Saturday's cyclonic storm has been felt severely on the coast.

The Kanowna left Melbourne at 6 p.m. on Saturday last, and, under ordinary weather conditions, should have arrived here yesterday morning or early yesterday afternoon. The vessel had not been reported along the coast yesterday. This fact gave rise to a certain amount of conjecture, and it was concluded that the vessel had come within the influence of the storm, and was standing well out to sea for safety.

Any fears which were entertained for her safety were dispelled when a wireless message was received from the vessel. The message showed that the Kanowna had indeed had a very trying time in the storm, which proved of a most boisterous nature. Heavy seas dashed over the steamer, carrying away her hatch coverings, and damaging the deck fittings. She made very poor progress against the storm, and the wireless message intimated that she would not arrive before 5 o'clock this morning.

The Kanowna has on board between 60 and 70 head of valuable prize stock, which was being brought to Sydney for the forthcoming annual agricultural show. These were accommodated in stalls in the 'tween decks, and, although the wireless message has not made reference to them, it is likely that they have felt the effects of the seas also. It is not known whether much water entered the open hatchways, or whether the cargo has been affected.

The Adelaide Company's fine steamer Warilda, which arrived about 6 o'clock last evening, also felt the storm on the run up from Melbourne. After rounding Wilson's Promontory, the Warilda encountered the full force of a strong south-easterly gale, with very high seas. Though the vessel's progress was considerably retarded, she displayed excellent seagoing qualities. The passengers suffered very little inconvenience, and were impressed with the steamer's splendid behaviour throughout the storm.

LOUISA CRAIG IN GALE.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

The barque Louisa Craig, which arrived at Newcastle at an early hour this morning, was off Sydney Heads on Friday morning. She reached Norah Head on Friday night, encountered the southerly gale, and made out to sea. On Saturday she was near Broughton Island and on her way south was taken in tow off Port Stephens. Her voyage from Melbourne lasted 12 days. She received no damage by the strong southerly.

M'CATHIE'S, LIMITED, FLOODED

The rainfall on Saturday played havoc with the stock of many city storekeepers. At the Pitt-street establishment of Mrs. M'Cathie, Limited, great damage was done, several thousand pounds' worth of new season's goods being soaked by the rain.

The roof was unable to bear the weight of water. The ordinary overflow pipes could not carry off the surplus water, and the result was that the rain forced its way through the ceiling and flooded the showroom upstairs, the ground-floor shop, and the basement.

When Mrs. M'Cathie's premises were opened yesterday morning it was found that water several inches deep had accumulated. Rolls upon rolls of costly dress material were saturated, and quantities of expensive millinery were soiled. Costly feathers and sprays presented a bedraggled appearance. In fact, nearly every department suffered.

The interior of the building will require extensive renovation. The firm's insurances do not cover damage by the rain.

DAMAGE AT BONDI.

At North Bondi a boarding-house was deluged with a great mass of sand and silt, some of the bedrooms being completely buried. The inmates, not expecting such an avalanche, were only rescued with difficulty. One of the rescuers was obliged to swim through the thin mud. The flood of mire was due to the inadequate drainage system and the extraordinary character of the storm. The water and silt gathered at the rear of the house, and the sand which held it was no longer equal to the strain, and it burst with a roar. It swept a fence away, and, travelling like a moving wall, launched itself against the building. Confusion reigned. Women screamed, and men rushed to the rescue. The floating furniture impeded the efforts of the rescuers, William A. Anderson and William Sampson, but they worked heroically, and got everyone out of the building. One lady had a narrow escape. She was being washed away, when Mr. Anderson caught her by the dress, and dragged her to safety. Another young lady was taken off a floating wardrobe.

BOOT FACTORY FLOODED.

The deluge had the effect of slightly prolonging a strike at Redfern, for when the employees of Messrs. John Hunter and Son, Ltd., turned up to work yesterday morning at the firm's boot factory in Castlereagh-street, after having been on strike, they found that they could not resume duty. There was six feet or more of water in the engine-room, and some 250 hands were kept idle till the water could be reduced by pumping.

PATIENTS IN DANGER.

ROUGH TIME AT COAST HOSPITAL.

It has been reported to Mr. Flowers (Vice-President of the Executive Council) that several wards were unroofed during the height of the storm at the Coast Hospital.

"At the time this happened," said Mr.

National Library of Australia http://nla.gov.au/nla.news-page1286965

Flowers yesterday, "the rain had practically stopped, and there was no difficulty in making the patients comfortable again. No one was injured, and the patients did not suffer any setback."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Four girls had a close call at Sylvania. The tornado swept a narrow strip in the Como Valley, and cleared a track. In its career of destruction a house of a farmer, occupied at the time by four girls, was destroyed. The storm fell with great suddenness. The roof was lifted off, and one of the walls collapsed. Some of the loosened stones were actually carried over the wall of the room where the terrified girls were. Their beds were broken by the debris and buckled up. Other furniture was destroyed. Luckily the outburst lasted only a few minutes.

IN THE QUICKSANDS.

The secretary of the North Bondi Life-saving Club, Mr. J. Watterson, had a narrow escape. In company with Mr. Wright, he was returning from a camp in the blinding rain, when he got into some soft sand, in which he sank till only his head remained on the surface. Wright, standing on firmer ground, grabbed him, and, with the aid of a third party, the disabled secretary was saved.

A BALGOWLAH EXPERIENCE.

Mr. Charles Sanders had a thrilling experience at Balgowlah. The wind lifted things and hurled them around. The noise and the confusion were terrifying. It was impossible to go outside, owing to the great volume of water which was surging down the hillsides. When the lull came Mr. Sanders went out to get an idea of the results, when he saw that two cottages which were in the course of erection had been wrecked. Indeed, one was blown clean away.

WRECKED STATIONMASTER'S HOUSE.

The house occupied by the stationmaster at Como was completely wrecked. The roof was carried half a mile before it fell into St. George's River.

At Hurstville, a shop which had been previously damaged by lightning was shattered, and the roof lifted up and deposited on top of another building.

THREE HORSES KILLED.

During the height of the storm a large stone wall, flanking the rear of the sawmilling yards belonging to Langdon and Langdon, North Sydney, collapsed. At the time three horses were in the yard, and it is supposed they were sheltering close to the wall when it fell. Their bodies were completely mangled, as the falling mass was many tons in weight.

THE DAMAGE AT NORTH SYDNEY

Officers of the North Sydney Council made an inspection of the municipality yesterday, and found that, though no serious washaways had occurred, the damage was very general, and to repair it will involve a fair outlay. The worst case to be grappled with is at Neutral Bay, where the streets leading down to the foreshore are rapid in descent. A report will be presented to a meeting of the works committee to-night.

OIL LAUNCH WRECKED.

A small oil launch moored at the Spit was driven from her moorings during the gale, and was dashed to pieces on the rocks. The seas which ran there, sweeping in from the Heads, were the highest known.

THE YACHTING DISASTER.

Yesterday the Royal Sydney Yacht Squadron received a telegram from the Royal Yacht Club of Victoria conveying that club's sympathy in regard to the yachting disaster, in which Mr. Walter Moore lost his life.

TRADING BOAT SUNK.

WISEMAN'S FERRY, Monday.

The trading boat Union, owned by Mr. Booth, of Lower Portland, sank at her moorings, presumably during the exceptionally heavy storm on Saturday night. Practically the whole cargo of general merchandise was lost. This boat sank about 12 months ago, but was refloated.

RIVER RISES TWENTY-TWO FEET

CAMDEN.—Five hundred and fifty-two points of rain were recorded from Thursday last till Sunday. The rain was just what was wanted. The river rose 22 feet above summer level, but no damage is reported. The block on the railway line was repaired, allowing traffic to be carried on to-day as usual.

STORM IN MELBOURNE.

WALLS COLLAPSE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The heavy rain which fell over Geelong this afternoon did a good deal of damage at Collins Bros.' Union Woollen Mills. The north and east retaining brick walls, the foundations of which were undermined, collapsed and fell upon a quantity of machinery. The damage done is estimated at £300.

At the new Federal Woollen Mills in course of erection at North Geelong, the works were flooded. A large basement on which the machinery was to rest collapsed, and two concrete walls fell in, the whole being irretrievably ruined. The damage is estimated at between £400 and £500.

DUNGOG.—A cold snap was experienced on Saturday. Steady rain fell during the day, accompanied by a strong southerly breeze. During the afternoon a storm passed over the town, and over an inch of rain fell in 20 minutes, flooding the street and lowlying lands.

GOOLAGONG.—Splendid rain fell during Saturday and Sunday, 364 points being recorded.

LEADVILLE.—Very beneficial rain—total 210 points—has fallen. Water for stock and domestic requirements was getting very scarce, and stockowners were trucking stock to more favoured districts.

MORUYA.—There was a terrific gale on Saturday night, and was accompanied by very heavy rain squalls, 251 points falling since last report. Many roofs were damaged, and telegraph lines blown down. There is now a plentiful supply of water. Farmers are enabled to plough for winter feed, and the prospects are much brighter. The weather is still threatening.

MUNDOORAN.—Rain set in here early on Saturday morning, and continued throughout the day, two and a half inches falling. Fine, warm weather now prevails.

STROUD.—Three hundred points of rain fell here between Thursday and Saturday last.

TAMWORTH.—Good rain set in on Friday and Saturday. The district was badly in need of rain, the tanks having become low, and grass feed for stock scarce. Ploughing operations were considerably interfered with on account of the hardness of the ground. Good rains were also recorded in various outlying centres. Tamworth benefited to the extent of 70 points.

FEDERAL BOUNTIES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Returns were published by the Customs Department on Saturday showing the amount of bounty paid by the Commonwealth under the various Acts for the quarter ended December 31. As usual, the largest amount went for pig-iron, no less than £4790 being paid in respect to the manufacture of 7983 tons.

There was a falling-off in the amount claimed in respect to kerosene, as the bounty paid only totalled £582 for 69,821 gallons, as against £1477 the previous quarter. Manufacturers of wool tops drew £3658 in respect to 877,873lb of that product. Nothing was paid for wire netting, linseed oil, tobacco leaf, preserved fish, or puddled bar iron.

WATER HYACINTH.

SPREADING ON RICHMOND RIVER.

TIMBER TRADE AFFECTED.

CASINO, Monday.

The growth of the water hyacinth in the south arm of the Richmond River, the main water route to Casino, is spreading so rapidly that it is probable that in a few weeks steamer traffic will be entirely blocked, and this will mean the stoppage of goods by water to Casino. At Bungawalbyn Creek it has had a serious effect on the timber trade. About one mile on the Casino side of the junction of the north and south arm, at Coraki, the weed is almost across the river.

At the Tomki Shire meeting Councillor Sullivan was authorised to arrange a deputation to the Minister for Works to urge upon him the seriousness of the position, and ask that the eradication of the pest be made a national work.

"PASSING IT ON."

THE PUBLIC PAYS.

CARRIERS' ASSOCIATION.

AN INTERESTING SPEECH.

Speaking to the toast of "The Day We Celebrate" at the annual picnic of the Master Carriers' Association of New South Wales, held at Correy's Gardens, Cabarita, yesterday, Mr. S. L. Cole (who said he had been connected with the carrying industry for the last 30 years) expressed pleasure at the success of the function, but said they were all extremely sorry at the absence of the familiar figure of their old and genial friend Mr. James M'Mahon, who had resigned from membership.

Every member, said Mr. Cole, had a free right to please himself. The masters, as an association, had not, however, the privileges of the working classes, whereby they could force men to belong to their association by having it laid down that only association members should contract to do work. Mr. M'Mahon was the oldest identity in the carrying trade of to-day. While they all regretted his absence, there was some satisfaction in the fact that on the very day he resigned the association received 12 new members. The association was not going to die even if others left it. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Cole went on to say that the new schedule of rates was not intended to inconvenience the public. The members felt that they had to protect their own interests without attempting to penalise anybody. The rates were not put up for fun, or because they, as members, believed they were in such a strong position that they could compel the public to pay what they liked. But, after what had happened last year in the way of increased expenses, added to by the recent awards, one of two things had to be done: they had to ask the public to pay more or face the year with a deficit in their accounts. "We are not like some employers," he said, "who are protected by Act of Parliament. There was legislation passed to protect the public from the grasping proclivities of the gas companies. But now, it seems that whatever amount is to be granted to the gas employees will be passed on to the public. The master carriers have no such protection. We, however, do not wish to have any exclusive right to charge the public anything more than what is fair and equitable. If we did competition would step in and adjust matters. I think public competition would do a lot to remove the increased cost of living."

Mr. T. Gray regarded Mr. M'Mahon as having been a strength to the association, but he had the right to please himself. The association had been compelled to pass on its increased expenditure. The merchants would do the same if similarly situated.

The luncheon was presided over by Mr. W. E. Budd, the president of the association. Several other toasts were honoured. Following the sports programme there was dancing in the large pavilion, the picnickers returning to the city at about 10 p.m.

MORE WORKERS.

WHAT NEW ZEALAND WANTS.

EVIDENCE BEFORE TRADE COMMISSION.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Monday.

Giving evidence before the Empire Trade Commission, Mr. Tregear, ex-Secretary for Labour, said that labour always had a jealous eye upon importations from abroad, fearing there might be a surplus of labour from which to pick and choose. He would not deny there was a shortage of rural labour. As to the requirements of woollen mill labour, there was a shortage of young people. He could not see how the Dominion was to keep on without an influx of young people.

Mr. Eman Smith, Under-Secretary Immigration Department, said that from 1904 to 1912 24,585 assisted immigrants arrived in New Zealand, and brought a capital of £59,000. It cost the Government to assist them out £91,000, or £3 15s per head. Had the Government paid the whole cost of the passage it would have had to pay £196,000. Out of 24,585 immigrants, over 3060 were domestic servants, and 4662 farm labourers. The demand for labour was for 861 men, required in various industries, 1864 women and girls, and 216 boys, in all 2941. The Farmers' Union requirements were 3090 farm labourers, 2000 domestic servants, and 2000 boys. It had been ascertained that over 6000 workers were required. He was of opinion that if further inquiry was made it would be found that the number of people required for farming and other industries would be far greater than the figures put before the commission.

It was stated that the birthrate of New Zealand was lower than any part of Australia, except Victoria.

THE BANKSTOWN CRIME.

£250 REWARD.

DETECTIVES HOPEFUL.

The Inspector-General of Police (Mr. Day) has recommended to the Government that a reward of £250 be offered for information that may lead to a conviction in connection with the murder of the girl Esther Porter, whose body was found in the bush near Punchbowl on Wednesday last.

The force of detectives and police who have been engaged in endeavouring to elucidate the mystery of the girl's death, ever since the day the body was found, were again at work at an early hour yesterday, and their investigations took them far afield. The days' work resulted in valuable information being received. The girl is known to have arrived at Punchbowl by the train which reached there at 8 o'clock on Monday, the 2nd instant, and the police are anxious to hear from anyone who saw the girl, or a girl answering her description, on the train on that date, as the definite knowledge whether she travelled alone or in company with anybody would materially assist them. She is stated to have travelled second-class, was dressed in a light-coloured blouse and dark skirt, and was wearing a black hat with small artificial roses round it. She was a well-built girl, and would look about 16 years of age.

PARTY POLITICS.

CANDIDATES FOR PARLIAMENT

PREFERENTIAL VOTING ADVOCATED

LITHGOW, Monday.

Speaking at a smoke social in Oberon, Mr. E. S. Carr, M.P., said that the Industrial Workers of the World at Lithgow, some of whom were identified with the Labour party, were not satisfied with the course of Federal politics, and not satisfied with the speed towards a socialistic Utopia, and had nominated a man in opposition to him, and a ballot was to be taken. That, however, was toned down by the fact that he knew that among those who were taking advantage of constitutional methods to run an opponent against him were included men who held extreme views, who were inclined to think Lithgow was now the Macquarie electorate.

Mr. John Miller, M.L.A., who spoke at the same function, said: "Parliament is now what you make it. If you allow party politics to dominate it there will soon be only a small section of the community who will make it. A few votes out of 40,000 have got to decide whether Mr. Carr starts for the great Macquarie electorate or whether he looks on. That should not be allowed in a British community. Every man should be allowed to go to the ballot booth. With preferential voting you will determine at the ballot-box who is to represent you. You will then allow no little section of the community, whether they call themselves members of Liberal leagues or of Labour leagues, to dictate to the main body of the community who are going to be the candidates. (Applause.) If you allow the system of party politics to get the upper hand you must have what they have in America, Tammany, and spoils to the victors, and have your interests in the hands of a few professional politicians outside the House. (Applause.)

FERRY EMPLOYEES.

A NOVEL POINT.

EVIDENCE OF BOARD MEMBER WANTED

The Shipping Wages Board (Mr. H. E. Manning chairman, Messrs. Doran and Duncan representing the employers, and Messrs. Stone and Nicholls representing the Ferry Deckhands and Firemen's Union) sat at the Water Police Court last night. Inspector Kirby appeared for the Department of Labour and Industry.

Mr. O'Grady, representing the employees, called attention to the statements that had appeared in the press, that he had repeatedly caused delay in the proceedings of the board by applications to amend the claims.

Mr. Broomfield, representing the Sydney Ferries, Ltd., and the New Balmain Ferry Company, Ltd., explained that every adjournment since he had been on the case had been granted on Mr. O'Grady's application, or on the application of the union.

The chairman said one statement that had appeared in the press came from him, and for that he took every responsibility.

Captain J. J. Allan, secretary of the Masters and Engineers' Association, said his union took the stand that the whole of the ferry services in Port Jackson had in the past been regulated by one system of hours, and he said it was only natural that his men should be heard before the board made its award.

Mr. Broomfield objected. Other hands had claims pending. All that was before the board was a claim by the deck hands and firemen.

The chairman said he would consult the members of the board before deciding the request.

T. Plunkett, traffic manager for the Lane Cove service, gave evidence as to working conditions.

John Henry Wise, chairman of directors of the Balmain New Ferry Company, Ltd., stated that during last year his company had made increases to firemen and deck hands by way of new conditions, which operated from March, 1912. This had caused an increase in fares up to 30 per cent. in some cases. The opening of the electric trams to Balmain had caused the company a loss of £5 per day. His men earned £2 15s per week.

In reply to Mr. Broomfield, the witness said that when he had an interview with Mr. Nicholls last year the impression was left on his mind that a threat had been used.

Mr. Nicholls (a member of the board: The words used are unjust. I never made a threat.

The chairman read his note of the evidence.

Mr. Nicholls said Mr. Wise's statement was unfair.

"Will you admit that is your signature?" said Mr. Broomfield, holding up a document.

"I cannot say," said Mr. Nicholls. "I have not my spectacles on."

"Will you put them on?"

"I won't."

"I will call Mr. Nicholls then. I'm not used to this tomfoolery," added counsel.

Mr. Nicholls claimed that board members should not be taken off the bench and placed in the witness-box.

The chairman intimated that Mr. Nicholls had admitted to him that it was his signature.

The letter, Mr. Broomfield explained, asked that Mr. Wise's board should receive a deputation from the union.

Later on, Mr. G. E. Flannery, barrister representing the Watson's Bay Ferry Company, Limited, called Mr. Nicholls as a witness.

Mr. O'Grady objected. He said the board would not be legally constituted for the time being if Mr. Nicholls was off it.

Mr. Flannery: Will he take the oath, or does he refuse? I want to know is he prepared to expedite the proceedings by going into the box.

The chairman (to Mr. Nicholls): Will you go into the box?

Mr. Nicholls: I will if you think the board has jurisdiction.

The chairman (to Mr. Flannery): He is prepared to give evidence.

Mr. Nicholls: Only under protest.

Mr. Flannery: Mr. Nicholls made threats which preceded the granting of these increases.

The chairman (to Mr. Flannery): Can you do without calling him on a subpoena?

Mr. Flannery: Well, I invite Mr. Nicholls to go into the box.

Mr. Nicholls: I will not, then.

Mr. Stone: In view of the present position, and in the interests of industrial peace, I don't think Mr. Nicholls should go into the box.

The chairman hoped Mr. Stone would not persist in this attitude.

The board adjourned till 4.30 this afternoon.

MUNICIPAL TAXATION.

SYDNEY AND MELBOURNE COMPARED.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

In a statement submitted to the City Council to-day it was shown that the valuations of property for 1913 had been increased by £207,459. The valuation for 1912 was £1,860,347, while for 1913 it was £2,067,806. No increase in the rate was contemplated this year.

During the discussion Councillor Cabena said as a contrast to what was done in Sydney and Melbourne, he might mention that in Sydney £320,000 was collected in rates in 1911, and £121,000 in Melbourne. The area of the city of Sydney was about half that of Melbourne, and the streets were much lower than in Melbourne.

Sir Samuel Gillott: Does not the amount collected in Sydney include 1d in the £ on the unimproved value of land?

Councillor Cabena said that the council received the money and spent it. The Melbourne rate was 1/4 in the £, while in Sydney it was 1s 9d on a very much higher valuation. Of the money received from the Unimproved Land Values Tax the whole was spent in municipal work excepting £20,000. That went to the Government.

The Lord Mayor (Councillor Hennessy) said that Melbourne ratepayers should be satisfied with their light taxation as compared with Sydney. Sydney was rated at 1s 9d in the £, with an addition of £101,000 from the Unimproved Land Values Tax. This was equal to a tax of 2s 7d in the £ in all. At the meeting of the council last week it was found that there was a shortage of £60,000. Increased taxation was proposed which would mean an annual tax of 3s in the £, as compared with 1s 4d in Melbourne. The water and sewerage rates were 1s 3½d in Sydney, as compared with 1s 8d in Melbourne.

SMUGGLERS CONVICTED.

HEAVY FINES.

BRISBANE, Monday.

In the South Brisbane Police Court to-day, before Mr. C. A. Morris, P.M., Henry Buse and Franz Wegeling were charged with smuggling and being in possession of uncustomed goods.

Mr. MacGregor, for the Customs Department, stated that about midnight on Sunday, both defendants were seen to approach the steamer Grieffswald, and a package was lowered from the steamer to a punt. The defendant Buse then rowed away. Customs officers who were on the look out chased and overhauled the defendants. In a package in the boat were found 510 cigarettes, 1000 cigars, and a pound of tobacco. On returning to the steamer a search of the steward's room revealed a further 200 cigars of the same brand. A steward admitted having sold the cigarettes to Buse.

Buse was fined £20, with £2 2s costs, and Wegeling £50, and £2 2s costs. Wegeling was further charged with smuggling, and being in possession of uncustomed goods, and further fined £20, with £2 2s costs.

WONGA SHOAL DISASTER.

CRIMINAL PROCEEDINGS.

ADELAIDE, Monday.

The Wonga Shoal Lighthouse disaster on the night of November 17 last formed the basis of criminal proceedings against Captain John Jones, master of the ship Dimsdale, before the Chief Justice and a jury to-day.

The vessel ran into the lighthouse on the Semaphore, and the two keepers were drowned. Captain Jones was charged with having "feloniously killed and slain" Henry William Franson, one of the victims.

It was the fourth inquiry into the circumstances of the collision, and the case stands part heard.

THE ANTARCTIC HEROES.

SYMPATHY FOR LADY SCOTT.

MESSAGE FROM DR. MAWSON.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The following telegram was received to-day by Lady Scott, in reply to one of sympathy and congratulation which she sent to Dr. Mawson:—

"I wish you to accept my warmest feelings of sympathy for your great loss. We in Adelie Land are full of admiration for Captain Scott's magnificent achievement. Many thanks for your kind message."

"A MAGNIFICENT RESPONSE."

COMMANDER EVANS'S APPRECIATION.

Commander E. R. G. R. Evans, R.N., and the other members of the British Antarctic Expedition at present in Sydney have been deeply touched by the splendid response that has been made, not only in Australia, but in all parts of the Empire, to the appeal to the public on behalf of the dependents of the gallant party who perished. Yesterday Commander Evans sent letters to the Lord Mayor, the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Hugh J. Ward, and others, thanking them for their efforts on behalf of the fund, the letter sent to the Lord Mayor being as follows:—

"On behalf of the surviving members of the British Antarctic Expedition, I am writing to thank you most sincerely for the very active interest you have shown in our expedition. On our homeward voyage from the Antarctic we felt that our first duty was to see that those dependent on our late leader and his gallant companions were really properly provided for. Thanks to the magnificent response to Captain Scott's appeal for funds for this purpose, the expedition is freed from its greatest responsibility, and the members can now devote their whole energies to the completion of Captain Scott's plans, and the publication of the scientific results. In thanking those who have so generously contributed to your fund, may I be permitted to gratefully mention the names of Sir Allen Taylor, Professor David, Mr. Sam. Hordern, Mr. Barter (of Birt and Co.), and Mr. Hugh J. Ward (of J. C. Williamson, Ltd.), whose individual efforts on our behalf have largely helped our expedition through. The fact that the Lord Mayor's fund has almost reached £3000 is particularly gratifying to the Australian members of the British Antarctic Expedition."

Commander Evans will leave Sydney to-night to be present at the ceremonies at the Federal capital. He will return to Sydney on Thursday, and will remain till Sunday night, when he will leave by the express for Melbourne, where he will join the R.M.S. Otranto for England.

AMUSEMENTS

THE HARRISON ALLEN RECITAL.

The pupils of Mr. Harrison Allen, and the members of his dramatic club, assisted that elocutionist in a humorous and dramatic sketch recital in costume last night, when the entertainment was brightly carried out before a well-filled house at St. James's Hall. Mr. Allen himself recited Will Carleton's "The First Settler's Story," for which he was cleverly and completely disguised as a grey-bearded, sun-tanned backwoodsman—a decidedly picturesque figure. His characterisation, which was less rugged than some artists affect, was marked by a refined pathos that reached the audience unfailingly, and there were recalls of enthusiasm at the close. Mr. Allen did not then add an extra number, however, but later, after his humorous delivery of "Tommy Atkins' Autograph," he made a lightning-change and returned freshly in character for "The Dude's Philosophy," which again caught the fancy of the audience. Mention should also be made of the success of Mr. Hugh D. Jennings and Miss Lottie Glenfield in the vivacious comedietta, "The Wrong Door," in which, after a country ball, a belle, seeking for her Aunt Jane's suite at the local hotel, walks into the flat of a recent partner at the dance. Falling asleep on a couch, she scares him considerably on his own arrival before mutual explanations terminate in a proposal. Others assisting were Mr. Harry Ferguson and Misses Grimason, Lilian Long, Gladys Shaw, and Millie Cleland. Mr. Cyril Monk was encored with enthusiasm after the fascinating Malaguena and Habanera from Sarasate's "Spanish Dances," when he added as encore "A Poem" (Fibich), and after Rubinstein's "Pace Angelique" he responded with the Beethoven "Minuet." Miss Isabel Varney accompanied the brilliant violinist.

NO ONE

The following without being impressed by the honest truth that rings in every word:—

"I cannot say more in recommendation of "Robur" Tea than that I use it exclusively in my own home, and have done so for a very long time.—

Not many words, but each one is full of meaning, particularly when you come to understand that they were written by so experienced an Expert as the late Government Analyst of Victoria.

We recommend the "No 2 Grade" as being a fine, strong, saving Tea; you can buy it at almost any grocer's shop.

BLOWING UP A WRECK,

LAST OF THE FRIENDSHIP.

HUNDREDS OF FISH KILLED.

TWEED HEADS, Monday.

The remains of Messrs. Corrigan's steamer Friendship, which was lodged in the channel at Tweed River, had to be blown up on Tuesday. Six cases of explosives were put into her, causing a large volume of water to go up about 500 feet, a sight not seen at Tweed Heads before. Hundreds of fish were killed, some being groper, weighing to 150lb.

On Sunday another three cases had to be exploded to remove the remainder. Boats in all directions secured fish. On Monday morning a shot was let off under the engine near the bar, close in towards the south wall. To all appearances this did the work required. It was a great sight for visitors to Tweed Heads.

FEDERAL ELECTIONS.

LABOUR SELECTION FOR LANG.

The ballot for the selection of a Labour candidate to contest the Lang Federal electorate took place on Saturday night. There were four candidates—Messrs. A. A. Jones, J. Kays, H. Lamond, and T. Miller. Owing to the storm the poll was a small one. Mr. Lamond secured an absolute majority on the first vote, and his name will be submitted to the P.L.L. executive for formal approval. Mr. Lamond is a member of the Australian Workers' Union, and a former president of the Political Labour League of New South Wales.

MR. W. E. JOHNSON ENTERTAINED.

Under the redistribution of Federal electorates Kogarah and district have been cut off from Lang and attached to Illawarra, and the local Liberal leagues determined to give a complimentary picnic to the retiring member, Mr. W. E. Johnson, at Sans Souci last Saturday.

There was a large company, despite the inclement weather. Alderman Smith, Mayor of Kogarah, presided, and speeches were delivered by Mr. W. E. Johnson, M.P., Mr. W. Taylor, M.L.A., Mr. G. W. Fuller, M.P., Mr. Varney Parkes, M.L.A., the Mayor, Alderman Birch, and others.

The following resolution was carried by acclamation,—"That this gathering of Liberal electors of Kogarah and district desires to express its appreciation of the work of Mr. W. E. Johnson as its Federal representative and Mr. W. Taylor as its State representative in Parliament."

GLEN INNES, Monday.

Senator Gould and Mr. C. W. Oakes addressed a well-attended meeting on Thursday night in the town hall in support of their candidature for the Senate. They were accorded an attentive hearing.

PORTLAND, Monday.

Mr. E. S. Carr, M.P., who is being opposed for selection for the Macquarie electorate at the forthcoming elections, addressed a large gathering here on Thursday night. He received a very cordial hearing, and was accorded a vote of confidence.

THE WEATHER.

PHENOMENALLY HEAVY RAINS.

At 9 a.m. yesterday it was cloudy to overcast in the central and southern districts, and rain was still falling at many places, chiefly in the south-western quarter of the State; in northern parts finer conditions were returning. Temperatures throughout the State were still depressed, but somewhat higher than those of Saturday, the highest being 82 degrees at Grafton. The night temperatures were cool to cold generally, and for the most part ranged in the forties, while on parts of the southern tableland and Blue Mountains temperatures receded to the thirties.

The cyclonic disturbance is now situated over the Gippsland districts of Victoria having travelled about 600 miles south-westward since 9 a.m. on Saturday.

Unfortunately, owing to the severity of the storm, many of the reports are missing, but from those to hand light to heavy rain is shown to have fallen generally, but scattered in the north-west; phenomenally heavy in the metropolitan area and on the Blue Mountains. The heaviest amounts reported yesterday were:—Ashfield 828 points, Marrickville 814, Raymond Terrace 785, Glebe Point 754, Mosman 657, Sydney 652, Lawson 618, Riverview 590, Bondi 517, Picton 483, Blackheath 480, Maitland 472, Killara 434, Beecroft 407, Turramurra 448, and Parramatta 365. Some further heavy amounts were received in other parts of the State. Katoomba had 370 points, Carcoar 277, Orange 275, Molong 249, Forbes 239, Wyalong 217, Condobolin 212, Dubbo 206, Blayney 222, Hill End 272, Trundle 231, Parkes 207, Adelong 212, Tumut 201, Murrumburrah 223, Crookwell 227. Picton had 483 points, Sutton Forest 352, and Moss Vale 305. The remaining quantities diminished from about one inch and three-quarters to a few points.

BATHURST.—Heavy rain, accompanied by a low temperature, has fallen in Bathurst during the past couple of days. The fall for the week totals over three inches.

CASINO.—A very heavy thunderstorm passed over the district on Saturday. Some 40 points of rain were recorded at Casino, but in the outlying centres the downpour was much heavier.

CROOKWELL.—During the last four days heavy rain has fallen, accompanied by bitterly cold winds. Altogether 313 points were registered. The rain was needed for farming operations and for water for stock.

GOULBURN.—Since the change in the weather nearly 3in have fallen. Both rivers are running strong. The fall will do much good.

RICHMOND.—Showery weather commenced on Thursday, followed by heavy rains on Saturday. Up to 6 p.m. on Saturday 195 points were registered in Richmond, but a long, heavy fall during the night brought the record up to 540 points, whilst substantial rains are reported from all parts of the district. Tanks and dams are all running over, the grass will get a good start for the winter, and the crops will be revived.

WAGGA.—The heavy rain storms which occurred throughout the district on Thursday were followed by a violent change of temperature. A fall of 40 degrees took place in a few hours. Since then quite wintry conditions have prevailed. Early on Monday heavy rain set in again, and has continued all day. Coming after a fall of from 100 to 180 points on Thursday, the rain ensures a good season, as it comes at a most opportune time for farmers and graziers. Over an inch fell at Wagga.

TOTTENHAM.—Good rain fell on Saturday and Sunday, 175 points being recorded. Cold southerly winds prevail, and the weather is still unsettled.

WINDSOR.—After a prolonged spell of dry weather, rain set in on Thursday, with a light fall, followed by heavy downpours on Saturday. Most parts of the district have had over four inches so far.

WISEMAN'S FERRY.—A shortage of water for domestic and other purposes had been experienced for some months prior to Friday, when heavy rain set in, and 410 points were registered.

RAILWAY FATALITY.

EVIDENCE AT INQUIRY.

TOOWOOMBA (Q.), Monday.

The inquiry concerning the death of the six men who were killed in the recent railway accident on the Range was continued at Toowoomba to-day.

George Patrick Forbes, district engineer at Toowoomba, said he did not speak to Carmody about protecting the line, nor to anyone else until he told Inspector Russon after the accident to see certain things done. When the fatal accident occurred he was about fifty yards away on the other side. He thought he saw a movement in the debris, and steam escaping. Subsequently, knowing that 26A was expected, he told Russon to slip out and see if there were any flags in case there was no protection for 26A. He thought it advisable to see that precautions were taken. He wished to say that that was the first occasion on which he gave instructions to a man to put out flags.

John J. Smallwood, loco. superintendent at Toowoomba, said he never heard it suggested before that protection duty devolved on his branch.

FIRE NEAR NEWCASTLE.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

Mr. D. Watson, the miners' president, had all his furniture destroyed by fire at his residence, Waratah, this afternoon. The origin of the fire is not known. Both Mr. and Mrs. Watson were away from home, the former conducting his Senate campaign in the north. The value of the furniture, which was not insured, was £200.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

The great storm responsible for the very severe weather conditions on the central and south coastal areas has worked south-westward. It is now centrally situated, although in a much enervated condition, over Gippsland districts of Victoria. As a whole, the disturbance covers eastern Victoria and the south-western quadrant of New South Wales.

A considerable loss of energy is noted in the "highs," both over the Southern Ocean and the Tasman Sea. The one which was shown over New Zealand on Saturday has extended westward since then, as a narrow ridge through Southern Queensland to Central Australia.

The immense "high" over the continent on Saturday has surged southwards until now, like the disturbance it was then co-operating with, it has lost most of its energy. This explains the absence of very strong winds.

A large depression is shown over the eastern half of Western Australia.

Mor rain is expected in Riverina, SW slope and S tableland.

Ocean Forecasts.—Rough, but moderate between Hobart, Melbourne, and Sydney.

NORTHERN TERRITORY.

FEDERAL STEAMER SERVICE.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The establishment of a steamer service on the coast of the Northern Territory has been decided on. It will be owned by the Federal Government, and will provide for both passenger and cargo traffic.

The steamer Moruya, of 250 tons, was recently purchased by the Commonwealth authorities, at a cost of a little over £10,000, and about £2000 has been expended in improvements. It is anticipated that the steamer will be ready for work in the course of a few days, and the Minister for External Affairs (Mr. Thomas) will make an official inspection at the earliest possible moment. Captain Mugg has been appointed to the command.

DARWIN, Monday.

The criminal sittings of the Supreme Court were opened this morning, before Judge Bevan. Two aborigines, Koppio and Ketterinyan, were charged with the murder of two old Chinese gardeners at Howlet, in November last. Several native witnesses were examined. The jury returned a verdict of guilty against Koppio, but failed to agree on a verdict in respect to Ketterinyan. Judge Bevan passed the death sentence on Koppio.

The steamer Guthrie, from Hongkong, arrived and departed yesterday. The steamer Mataram, from Singapore, resumed her voyage south early this morning. Dr. Gilruth and 11 other European passengers are travelling by the Mataram.

VICTORIAN POLICE.

FINANCIAL.

PACIFIC PHOSPHATE COMPANY.

In the House of Commons recently the Secretary for the Colonies was asked if he was aware that the license which the Pacific Phosphate Company holds, giving it the monopoly of shipping away the guano phosphates from Ocean Island, in the Gilbert Group, on the payment of /6 per ton royalty, was obtained under false pretences; that the company's statement that these phosphates were only worth about 10/ per ton was entirely incorrect; that Australian statistics showed that these Ocean Island phosphates were in reality at the time realising £3/17/ per ton in Australia, giving them a value of between £2 and £3 at the island; if the Australian Government officials were capable of ascertaining the correct value of these phosphates, could be explain how the officials of the Colonial Office were totally incapable of doing so; and was he aware that while, by the terms of this license, the Imperial Government and the natives had, during the last 10 years, received between them on an average about £3500 per annum, the company had on its real cash capital of £50,000 made an average net profit of about 400 per cent?

Mr. Harcourt: It is the case that when the question of extending the lease of the Pacific Islands Company from 21 years to 99 years was under consideration in 1901 the company represented that it was led to believe that the value of the phosphate at Ocean Island was about 10/ a ton. The Colonial Office was, however, aware that in the case of another island in which royalty was being paid at 5 per cent. of the value on the island, the value at that date was about 24/ a ton, so that on this basis a higher royalty than /6 a ton might have been required. He had, however, been for some time negotiating with the Pacific Phosphate Company for the payment of an additional royalty of another /6 a ton. The royalty was not paid to the Imperial Government, but to the revenue of the Gilbert and Ellice Islands Protectorate.

INCREASING GAS CONSUMPTION.

Though the consumption of gas has received a temporary check locally, the illuminant is holding its own the world over in a remarkable way. Lecturing before the members of the Institute of Chemistry at University College, London, recently, on "Chemistry in Gas Works," Mr. W. J. A. Butterfield said the requirements of a public gas supply at the present day were that the gas should supply the greatest number of heat units at the lowest cost, that it should not have a strong smell, should give a flame having some natural luminosity, and should not yield on combustion products harmful to life or destructive to property. Dealing with the rapid growth of the gas industry, he gave the world's production of town gas in 1912 as 620,000 million cubic feet, in the manufacture of which about 60 million tons of coal had to be consumed, while 30 million tons of gas coke, about three million tons of tar, and the equivalent of 550,000 tons of sulphate of ammonia would be produced. The estimated annual consumption of gas per head of the population in the world's chief capital cities showed that London still headed the list with over 8000 cubic feet, as compared with 6000 cubic feet in Amsterdam, Berlin, New York, and Paris. This increase in gas consumption was due to its greater use for heating purposes, and although it was not to be expected that the same rate of increase would be continued, there was little doubt that by 1920 in all the capital cities of the world the consumption would be about 10,000 cubic feet per annum per head.

NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

The report of the above company states that during 1912 the company received in premiums £17,659,875, and in interest, rents, etc., £6,843,025, making a total income of £24,502,900. The increase in the earning power of the company's assets during the last seven years is equal to 0.29 per cent. Translated into pounds this means an increase in earning power over 1905 of more than £410,000. The increased earning power developed in 1912 is notable. It is represented by 9-100 of 1 per cent., and, if maintained, will increase the income of the company in 1913 by comparison with what it would have been had the earning power remained as at the close of 1911, by the sum of £133,000. Of the amount which the law allowed the directors to spend in 1912 for new business, they actually spent 91 per cent.; of the amount which the law allowed them to spend for all purposes they spent approximately 63 per cent.; of the amount of new business which the law allowed them to issue in 1912 they issued 100 per cent.

BUTTER BOX CHARGES.

"A Country Retailer" writes:—

Sir,—We would like to remind the Sussex-street merchants, also the country butter factories, the position the country retailer is in if they agree to the wishes of the city retailer.

The city retailer has always bought his butter at a fixed daily price without any addition for railway or boat freights, whereas the country retailer pays the same price at the factory with railway freight to his town, plus the cost of boxes, as the factory price is always the city price. Now if the extra charge is added to the price of butter by the hundredweight the country retailer will also pay it, plus the charges he is paying now. In comparison with the country retailer the city retailer is "spoon-fed" on every occasion, and it is time little inequalities like they are trying to work here were given the light of day.

EMU BAY RAILWAY COMPANY.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The receipts of the Emu Bay Railway Company for the last month amounted to £5717, as compared with £5219 for February, 1912, making the total receipts for the two months £11,116, as against £10,398 for the same period last year.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mass and Mass Ltd., has been registered with a capital of £20,000, in shares of £1 each, and will carry on as electrical advertisers, etc. The first directors are:—Messrs. Edw. H. Mass (managing), A. J. Willis, and Geo. C. Mass.

Longworths (Laurieton), Ltd., has a capital of £35,000, in shares of £1 each, and will acquire the timber business of Longworth and Co., Laurieton.

Latham Timber Company, Ltd., has a capital of £20,000, in shares of £1 each, and will acquire a timber and sawmilling business at Coopernook. The first directors are:—Messrs. Jos. Latham, Jun. (managing), Geo. F. Earp, Chas. A. Earp, A. and R. Beveridge, and C. J. Woodcock.

A letter from Amsterdam to the "Information," of Paris, announces that a group of Belgian and Dutch capitalists in that city has just founded an Australian diamond syndicate, to finance the prospecting for diamonds in New South Wales, where options have been acquired. Preliminary prospecting is said to have already given good results.

At the annual general meeting of J. C. Ludowici and Son, Ltd., the report and balance-sheet, which have already been summarised, were adopted; and Mr. J. C. Ludowici and F. J. Ludowici reelected directors; and E. W. Foxall, F.I.A.A., auditor. The chairman announced that Mr. Charles E. H. J. Ludowici had resigned his positions of director and managing director, and would no longer associated with the company in an official capacity.

Messrs. Samuel Montagu and Co. stated in their annual bullion review that "nearly all the gold dug in South Africa is buried afresh in the soil of India." "This" says Capital, "is undeniably true. Most of the sovereigns which are finding their way to India are being used for hoarding, as being to the ryot the only safe way of putting by for a rainy day."

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

In Eastern produce markets yesterday canary seed had no relief from the abnormal prices now being paid. In distributing lots 24/ for sacks was quoted firm, and for those few who bought at £21 per ton there was a good profit. Stocks on spot remain very low. The little that is coming by the steamer Persic, scraped together from London, will be most welcome, and another lot of about sixty tons of January shipment will also be used for distributing trade. Little of the former and none of the latter will be put on the market. Tapioca was steady again in Singapore, after the lower price quoted in the middle of last week. Tentative efforts were reported to be in progress with a view of getting rice on to a remunerative basis. Peppers were hardly so firm by cable reports. Oatmeal was beginning to have inquiry.

In grocery lines salt fish had most movement, but the Lenten trade has now practically finished, and only odd lots were wanted to supply some retailers whose stocks had unexpectedly run out. Sardines, especially Trefavenne, were firm at 5/ and 7/, distributing. Whiting was in better request at 80/ per ton. Inquiries from America as to the opening for tinned asparagus met with the discouraging reply that the import duty in Australia was 5/ a dozen tins. Hence the laid down cost would be in the neighbourhood of 13/9 per dozen 1lb tins. That would not make the commodity a popular article of consumption. The reduction in the price of currants was generally approved. Although samples of Australian new season's dried fruits were available in Melbourne, none were procurable in Sydney, and until samples are procurable business will not be extensive. Citric acid was again firmer. No parcel business was done, but distributing quotations varied from 1/11 to 2/ per lb. It is only a few weeks since the price was 1/6½.

Samples of tea received by the mail yesterday showed quality unchanged from that of the previous week. Advices from Colombo, dated February 21, stated that at the week's auction sales, with 1¼ million lb of tea submitted, in good common and low medium teas, and all good liquoring tippy kinds, were considerably dearer. A London letter, dated February 7, advised that the marked continued remarkably buoyant, common and medium Ceylons registering a further advance of ½d, while other sorts were firmer and dearer. With the Indian season rapidly closing, and short supplies from Ceylon, a remarkably strong market was expected in the following week, and expectation which cables have since informed us has been realised.

Oils continued slow. It was not expected that there would be any further easing in linseed oil till the arrival of the Port Lincoln, due in about two weeks. The reason for the recent advance in linseed oil, and its subsequent decline to former easy rates, is given in a report in the last mail. That report states: "In spite of a further heavy shipment of seed from America, amounting to 78,000 quarters, sellers of both seed and oil for near positions have been hard to find, and with a big demand to fill the month's requirements, coupled with heavy bear coverings, prices have had a sharp advance, and to the extent of in the case of oil £2 per ton for near positions. Although forward positions naturally were not affected much, the tendency towards the end of January was easier, especially forward, owing to a large shipment of seed from Argentina during that week, amounting to 133,000 quarters, against 38,000 quarters for the previous week. As to turpentine, a report from London of the end of January predicts that, in view of the very large American production last year, and the high visible stocks, there would not be any further considerable rise in the near future. The c.i.f. price, it will be remembered, went up to 2/11, but last week receded to 2/10 3-8. Castor oil was not quite so well held, business to the extent of 100 half-cases being done at 2/4½, a halfpenny down on Friday's rates. Twenty-five barrels of G resin sold to arrive at £15/10/.

In consequence of the continued fall in lead prices of lead manufactures were reduced 10/ per ton yesterday. Sheet lead in full rolls sold at £22, and in cut rolls 23/ per cwt. Stocks of pig lead were low, and the quotation was £18/10/ per ton. The situation with arrivals from Port Pirie will ease next week. The rain, it is believed, will give a more hopeful feeling in the country, and a better business in wires and nettings should then result. The surplus of cement was steadily being reduced. Parcel rates were firm at 12/6 to 13/. Distributing, the price was 13/6 per cask. Supplies of Knight Bevan brand were small, and as a result, somewhat higher prices were paid when this brand was insisted upon by the purchaser.

The market was quiet in all jute fabrics. Naturally, the rain had eased the demand, and had made holders rather anxious. For spot lots the quotation was 7/9. About 50 bales of January shipment sold at 7/3 delivered. There were buyers abroad for February shipment at 6/11 slings, but no sellers. For March shipment sellers asked 6/4½ slings, and for April 6/1½. For all shipments of branbags up to June the market in Calcutta had been bought up by two Indian houses. Woolpacks were unchanged, and so were cornsacks. In their report, received by yesterday's mail, Messrs. Gillanders, Arbuthnot, and Co., of Calcutta, state, under date February 14: "The tendency in heavy goods has been to lower prices for all positions. Owing to want of rain up country, country buyers have been holding off, and bazaar stocks have accumulated, with holders anxious to sell. Lower rates have been accepted all round. The best inquiry has probably been from Australia and South Africa, and a fair business is reported for these markets at declining rates. Hessians have been somewhat easier, but there is not the same weakness apparent as in heavy goods. A fair quantity of woolpacks has been done for Australia at easier rates. Small parcels of branbags have been done for all positions up to December. These goods remain steady. A line of Australian cornsacks for next season is reported, probably by speculators."

The market for brewers' goods is quiet as regards malt, with no alteration in quotations either of English or Australian. Contracts for the new Australian malt will be made as soon as the samples come to hand. New Tasmanian hops have changed hands at full rates. Some growers in Tasmania still expect to obtain up to 1/9 f.o.b. Hobart for their produce, but sales have been made at quite /1½ below these rates. As the growers have the idea that as the season advances prices will firm, it is difficult to get good lines under offer. In the harvesting some of the smaller gardens snow a deficiency, but with the larger gardens the production is quite equal to that of former years. First parcels of the new season's hops were expected by the steamer Paloona, which arrived yesterday. Owing to three days' rain over the hop gardens at the close of last week, picking was delayed, so that arrivals on the Sydney market will be on the short side for some time yet, though it is believed that further supplies will reach here about March 21. American hops are steady, with sales at late rates. There is some inquiry for Kent hops, which at the moment are in short supply. Sales have been made out of store for very choice quality at 2/3 duty paid and delivered.

SPIRIT DENATURATED FOR MUSEUMS, ETC.

The Customs Department notifies:—"The words 'free of duty' (thrice occurring in Order 1454 refer to denaturated Australian (excise) spirit only, and the order in question is hereby amended accordingly. If imported spirit be used, tariff item No. 7 will apply. Paragraph 2 of Order 1454 is also hereby amended by the addition thereto of the following words:—'And of private hospitals, in instances where the Collector is satisfied as to the bona-fides.'"

Bacteriological Products.—"Farmogerm" (Tarp Thomas, Farmogerm Co., Bloomfield, N.Y.) item 289 (free).

BREADSTUFFS.

THE MARKET STEADY.

Whether the rain of the past few days will induce any heavy selling of wheat has yet to be determined. Sales yesterday showed no briskness, but as the fall will remove some anxiety regarding the season's harvest farmers should be more inclined to let their wheat go. A conservative estimate places the wheat sold to date at about 60 per cent. of the yield. Millers yesterday paid up to 3/7 for prime western wheat, and shippers the same price for March delivery. Business was done in April-May-June delivery at 3/8½. The demand, however, was not keen. For farmers' lots shippers quoted on the basis of 3/6½ to 3/6¾, ex trucks Sydney, unchanged from Friday last.

Flour was quiet, bakers' lots being quoted at £8/15/ by the Millers' Association.

One thousand one hundred and ninety-six tons of wheat and 42 tons of flour were manifested to arrive at Darling Harbour yesterday.

PRODUCE.

DAIRY PRODUCE.

SUPPLIES DELAYED.

The recent gale on the coast hampered business considerably among egg merchants in Sussex-street yesterday. With the noted exception of the Pulganbar, from the Clarence river, other regular arrivals were either barbound or else sheltering. The Pulganbar landed about 130 cases of eggs. Consequently, under such conditions, the market for new-laids was practically nominal. In certain quarters previous quotations were advised, but in other directions higher values were obtained. Firmer egg values are anticipated in the immediate future, in response to the usual Easter demand.

Bacon supplies improved in isolated quarters, but values did not vary perceptibly. Cheese inclined to firmness. Prime loaf was in moderate demand, but old mellow matured brands, in liberal representation, were on the downward grade. Certain qualities showed a slight advance on previous quotations. Butter was normally sought after, but quotations show no alteration.

FORAGE AND GRAIN.

The maize market in the produce end of the "street" was particularly firm. Although the river shipments totalled over 4000 bags, holders were inclined to advance. Maize, of course, at the end of last week was for all intents and purposes nominal, and to-day's arrival was urgently needed. The Queensland shipment summed up at 800 bags. Chaff was dull at late rates, owing to large arrivals and cheaper values at the railway market.

Values for the expected shipment of Tasmanian potatoes, estimated at 11,000 bags, exhibited a strengthening tendency. The advance was stated at 5/. Onions ruled firm at the late rate of £9.

RAILWAY YARD.

STAGNANT SALE.

There was a funereal atmosphere in the railway shed yesterday over the death of high values. The rain has settled and assured the prospect of a good winter, which fact was confirmed by the attitude of railway yarders.

Chaff dropped easily 10/, and lucerne hay also was easier about 10/. Throughout buyers, who were plentifully represented, were not to be dictated to, and auctioneers had to accept such buyers' estimations or else reserve. Although a part truck of wheaten chaff sold at 5/8, 5/6 was top realised at auction. Blayney headed the oaten representations—in carrying off highest sale at 5/4. Lucerne chaff was in strong supply, but on no occasion was business done at anything above 7/. Lucerne dust fetched 7/3 (both sales are reported under lucerne hay).

HOMEBUSH STOCK MARKET.

SHEEP.

LIGHT SUPPLY—IMPROVED RATES.

A light supply was in view for yesterday's sales; and, with more favourable weather conditions, the prospects are for a continuance of light to moderate supplies for some little while to come. Out of 15,669 sheep (including lambs) from 57 consignors, 15,110 head were penned. The consignments included nine drafts ranging from 600 to 900 head, with the usual proportion of small lots. The sheep comprised all descriptions, the bulk being merinos, with a moderate representation of crossbreds. There was a large proportion of useful quality merino wethers and ewes, with a moderate showing of prime and odd pens of extra prime wethers; extra prime ewes not being so well in evidence as on Thursday last. Medium and light merinos were not too plentiful. Crossbreds were not so well represented as usual, the proportion to the merinos being smaller, and the quality being barely up to the average, ranging, however, from odd pens of medium to a few extra prime. The bulk of the pennings carried early-shorn skins.

There was the usual Monday's attendance of buyers, including exporters, the Sydney Meat Preserving Company, Ltd., Glebe Island, suburban and country trade. Exporters, however, were inactive. As the supply seemed well within the demand the market opened to brisk bidding at firmer rates, improving and proceeding to the close on very strong lines, at an average of /6 to 1/ per head above the general run of last Thursday's market, the later sales being a full shilling above the firm closing rates of Thursday last. All lots with good length of wool were in keen request.

Included in the merinos was a draft of Riverina wethers from J. Robertson (Hay), that sold to 19/3 per head; a line from Scott Bros. (Bethungra), to 18/7, and a further draft from R. S. Falkiner (Groongal) to 17/11; and a line of woolly wethers from J. J. Nolan (Come by Chance) to 18/1; and woolly ewes to 16/8, also a line of late shorn ewes from same owner to 14/6 per head. A draft from T. Cornish, Urie Point, to 15/4. Among the crossbreds was a line from J. A. Badgery (Queanbeyan), a few wethers and ewes selling at 21/9, and odd sheep to 25/; a line of wethers from L. Forsyth (Wallendbeen) sold to 19/6, and from P. Osborne (Tarago) to 18/; the wethers of a draft from F. S. and H. W. Bell sold to 19/1, and the ewes to 18/8 per head.

Quotations:—Prime short wool merino w 15/6 to 17/; extra prime shorn and short wool merino w 18/ to 19/6, good short wool merino w and h 11/6 to 12/6, medium short wool merino w and h 7/6 to 8/6; prime short wool merino e 11/ to 12/, extra prime 13/ to 14/6, good short wool merino e 8/ to 9/6, medium and light short wool merino e 5/ to 7/, prime short wool xb w 16/6 to 18/, extra prime short wool xbd w and h 19/6 to 20/6, good short wool xbd w and h 12/6 to 14/, medium and short wool xbd w and h 8/6 to 10/, prime short wool xbd e 15/ to 17, extra prime 18/ to 19/, good shorn and short wool xb e and h 11/ to 12/6, medium and light short wool xb e and h 8/ to 9/6; prime woolly merino w 19/ to 20/, good woolly merino w and h 15/ to 17/, medium woolly merino w 10/6 to 12/6; prime woolly merino e 15/6 to 16/6, good woolly merino e 13/6 to 14/6, medium woolly merino e 10/6 to 12/.

LAMBS.

LIGHT SUPPLY—VERY FIRM VALUES.

A light supply of lambs was penned. The pennings comprised a sprinkling of prime and odd pens of extra prime woolly lambs, with a moderate representation of useful quality lambs and suckers. A few small pens of medium and light were also in evidence. The demand was strong for all qualities, and late full rates were generally maintained. A line from P. Donnelly (Manilla) sold to 15/11 per head.

Quotations: Prime woolly lambs and suckers, 13/6 to 15/; extra prime, 16/ to 17/; prime short woolled lambs and hoggets, 12/6 to 14/; goood lambs and suckers, 10/6 to 12/; medium and light lambs and suckers, 6/ to 8/6.

CATTLE.

VALUES IN SELLERS' FAVOUR.

A rather lighter supply of cattle was forward to yesterday's sales than of late. Out of 2034 head listed from 84 consignors 2002 were yarded. The consignments were representative of the principal districts in the State, including Riverina. One draft of 165 was forward from Queensland. The yardings comprised all descriptions and included a larger proportion of good prime handy-weight bullocks and steers than of late; odd yards of extra prime were also in evidence. There was a fair showing of good to prime cows and heifers and although medium, rough, and inferior sorts were in evidence, they were not so plentiful as usual. Occasional yards of calves and yearlings were included in the yardings.

Buyers were in full attendance, and as the supply seemed well within trade requirements the market opened to strong competition, and values generally were very firm. As sales progressed the rulings were fully 10s per head higher. Towards the close the market was quite buoyant for all good quality bullocks and steers. Among the principal lines was a yard of prime bullocks from northern agents (Gravesend) that sold at £12/15/ per head; nine bullocks and steers from H. Arnold (Carathool) sold to £11/14/, averaging £10/11/2, a draft of 60 bullocks from H. R. Munro (Barraba) sold to £10/19/, averaging £10/1/4. Included in the cows and heifers was a draft of 137 from Bergin Bros. (Toomoo, Q.), that sold to £7/10/, averaging £6/16/; 11 heifers from W. R. Smith (Tamworth), selling to £8/4/, averaging £8/2/8.

Quotations: Yards of extra prime bullocks and steers, £12 to £13; yards of prime medium-weight bullocks, £11 to £11/10/; yards of prime handy-weight bullocks and steers, £8/15/ to £10; yards of good bullocks and steers, £7 to £8; yards of medium and light bullocks and steers, £5 to £6, rough sorts lower; yards of prime cows and heifers, £6/15/ to £7/10/; yards of extra prime cows and heifers, £8/15/, to £8/10/, odd beasts to £9/10/; yards of good cows and heifers, £6/15/ to £7/10/; yards of medium cows and heifers, £4 to £4/15/, rough sorts from 30/. Best light beef, 27/ to 29/, prime weighty beef 23/ to 25/, good useful beef 19/ to 21/, medium beef 16/ to 17/ per 100lb.

HOMEBUSH EASTER SALES.

As the Easter Monday holiday will be observed at the Homebush saleyards, the only sale day during Easter week will be on Thursday, March 27.

TELEPHONE CHARGES.

A correspondent draws attention to the charges made by the Telephone Department. In his case the household consists of four adults, "none of whom is addicted to excessive use of the telephone; nevertheless, the telephone account for calls increases at an alarming rate. The account for calls for the first half of 1912 was £1 15s, and for the latter half £2 8s 10d, an increase of 11s 4d, representing 273 calls. I appealed against this charge, but the answer from the department was unsatisfactory, the number of calls being stated to be correct. However, I may mention that a telephone workman, on being told of the charge, expressed the opinion that a record is made and charged for, of all calls, whether effective or not."

VERY QUIET MARKET.

BARRIERS DEPRESSED.

COPPER, GOLD, and TIN QUIET.

Extreme dullness ruled in the Stock Exchange yesterday morning, with Barriers selling on the down grade, copper stocks not dealt in, and gold shares very slack. The only stock that showed strength was Carpathia, sales being booked on the up grade.

The afternoon's business was practically a repetition of that in the morning—a lack of vitality in silver and copper stocks, with gold quiet, and Carpathias holding a firm position.

EFFICIENCY OF MINERS.

IS IT DECLINING?

In a recent communication from one of the members of the Mine Owners' Association of New South Wales, it was mentioned that there was a consensus of opinion among mining managers that there had of late been a serious falling-off in the efficiency of miners' work, and that, having frequently heard this opinion expressed, the member in question, decided to satisfy himself as to how far the work in his own mine would go to prove the correctness of the theory. He accordingly had a careful comparison made of the work done per man per shift for the years 1911 and 1912. The resultant figures showed that, as compared with 1911, the men working in the stopes during 1912 broke 14.5 per cent. less ore per man per shift, and the men working on development accomplished 15.5 per cent. less footage per man per shift.

The council of the association is endeavouring to obtain corroborative testimony regarding the above statement, based on the experiences of other managers, which will be of assistance in combating the claims of the Amalgamated Miners' Association for increased rates of pay.

QUEEN BEE COPPER MINE.

The directors of the Queen Bee Copper Mine have been furnished with an exhaustive report upon its position and prospects by the mine manager, Mr. G. A. Loxton. In the course of the report he remarks:—

The statement made that the mine is worked out even on the upper levels is erroneous, and caused through want of experience and knowledge of the mine. What is urgently required is that more prospecting and development work be done on all these levels. There is unbroken and broken in the upper levels at least 45,000 tons of ore, which will average over 5 per cent. copper, without taking into consideration those ore bodies undeveloped on these levels. This estimate is well under the mark, as no account has been taken of what may be in the No. 1 level and stopes, and the estimate of 5 per cent. is about one-half of what assays give.

There is stacked on the surface in one heap, north of main shaft at least 12,000 tons of sulphide ore, which average 4.1 per cent. copper. In this heap were tipped 22 trucks of ore of about 35 per cent. copper. This was tipped into the dump by mistake at night time, by a man now employed on the mine as a foreman. The blacksmith's shop is built on waste ore that will go considerably over 4 per cent., and even under the engine shed and outside I picked up lumps of ore that will go over 25 per cent. They were got out of the holes sunk by me for the foundations for the proposed new plant. Then behind the present jacket furnaces is filled in with rejected ore. Also portions of the two western dumps contain low-grade sulphide ore. In the southern dump there will be at least 13,000 tons of low-grade sulphide ore, averaging about 2 per cent. or over. This dump, with what is broken below, would give a total of at least 70,000 tons, 45,000 at the low estimate of 5 per cent., and 30,000 at an average of 2 per cent. on the surface.

I would recommend that the company at once put on a concentrating plant consisting of one ore cracker; the one at present on the mine would do for a while; one set of rolls, one jig, one elevator, one trommel, two card concentrating tables, C pattern, at the cost of £1325. This plant will crush from 70 to 100 tons per day.

Smelting can be done on the mine, as the ore will be much more simple ore to deal with, and of less bulk and higher percentage. For the present smelting can be done in the reverberatory furnace, two of which I would recommend be put in order.

FORERUNNER OF GREATER SYDNEY.

At to-night's meeting of the City Council Alderman Mallett will move,—"That the Glebe Council be communicated with and asked to meet the works committee of this council with a view to considering the desirability of an amendment of the boundaries as between the two authorities in order that that portion of Parramatta-road now under the control and jurisdiction of the Glebe Council may be brought within the boundaries of the city of Sydney, so as to facilitate cleansing and maintenance operations being carried out on the whole of the said road, instead of being under divided control between the two municipalities as at present."

QUESTION OF PREFERENCE.

Tenders will be considered at the meeting of the City Council to-night for a new 5000 kilowatt turbine motor generator for the power-house at Pyrmont, and it is stated that the lowest is for a German make, the price quoted being upwards of £21,000. One alderman intends to move that a British make, the price of which is about £2000 higher, be purchased instead. The condition of the city finances will, however, guide the aldermen in their choice, and several have declared that they will vote for the lowest tender, German or non-German.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Victoria Park racecourse will this afternoon be the rendezvous of lovers of trotting, and an interesting programme, under the auspices of the Australian Trotting Club, will be the attraction. Large entries have been received, and the entrants include some of the best exponents of that branch of sport. The track is first-class going, and everything necessary for an enjoyable outing has been provided by the management. Special trams from Circular Quay via Elizabeth-street, and from the railway loop, land visitors at the racecourse gates, and the first race is timed to start at 2.30 p.m.

The weights for the autumn reunion of the Hawkesbury Race Club on Saturday next are promised this forenoon.

Up to 4 p.m. to-day entries will be received by the secretary, Mr. A. H. Hart, for the half-dozen events on the programme for the March meeting of the Kembla Grange Racing Club on the 18th inst. The prize-money aggregates £275, of which £50 each goes to the Jumpers' Flat Race, Flying Handicap, and Kiama Walter and Kembla Welter.

The field of 24 that took the track for the Rosehill Cup yesterday is the largest in the history of the race. Last year a score took part in the contest, and a similar number went to the post in 1910. Evidently the bit to nothing from the sweep on the race was not forthcoming in several instances, for some horses that seemed to have a good show of capturing the prize were sent out to contest the Camellia Stakes, run over a mile. Despite the proportions of the field, backers were well on the mark when they selected Moorilla as the best of the two dozen contestants, for she came at the right end, and won a good race from Sir Willie and Hartfell. The Queensland representative, Bright Laddie, who figured in the 20 to 1 division, essayed to win from end to end, and carried his field along in good style until well inside the distance, where he began to tire, and failed to get a place. Tartanus and Sir Willie accompanied Bright Laddie on his mission, but the former did not get a situation, while Sir Willie was only beaten by half a length. Moorilla's best performance hitherto was to unexpectedly win the Sydney Cup, 1911, but in the meantime her only success has been in the January Handicap at the A.J.C. Anniversary Meeting in January last. Moorilla is engaged in the Sydney Cup with 7st 6lb, but incurs a 10lb penalty, which brings her impost up to 8st 2lb. Sir Willie, who ran second, is also in the two miles handicap at Randwick with 7st 10lb. Moorilla carried the livery of her trainer, I. Earnshaw.

The March meeting of the Newcastle Jockey Club takes place to-morrow on the well-appointed Broadmeadow coursing ground, and a very interesting bill of fare has been provided for the occasion. Sydney sportsmen intending to assist at the reunion will be in ample time by travelling by any of the trains leaving the Central Railway Station for the north at 6.45, 7.55, and 9.10 a.m., and the return trip can be made on the same day by the train leaving the coaly city at 5.20 p.m. A special tram service runs between the city and the racecourse.

Several of the Doncaster Handicap candidates were out under silk at Rosehill yesterday in the Camellia Stakes, run over the Doncaster distance. This is how the weights compare:—

	Camellia Stakes, 1m. st lb	Doncaster H'cap, 1m. st lb
My Gavonni (2nd)	9 11	9 4
Hallowmas	8 11	8 8
Peronella	7 13	7 4
Arbute	7 11	7 12
Leta	7 3	6 12
Dion (1st)	6 11	6 10
Lord Mervyn	6 9	6 10
Mother's Day	6 7	6 7

Dion does not incur a penalty for yesterday's success.

First forfeits for the A.J.C. Doncaster Handicap and Sydney Cup fall due at 4 p.m. to-day, and all horses withdrawing before that hour escape further liability.

Beau Soult, who annexed the Nursery Handicap at Rosehill, is a New Zealand-bred colt, bred at the Koatanui stud by Mr. G. W. Currie, and is by Soult (imp.), the Hobartville-bred Our Lady, by Simmer (imp.) from Lady Agnes, by Neckersgat. He was retired from the sale ring last autumn, when bidding ceased at 300gns., but was subsequently purchased, privately, by Mr. B. H. Richards. Beau Soult is inbred to St. Simon, as Soult is by that celebrated sire, and his dam is by Simmer, a son of St. Simon.

LATEST SCRATCHINGS.

The following scratchings were notified yesterday:—

Champagne Stakes: MacDuff.

Sydney Cup: Trueform, Riffian, Moe, Orvieto, Wolawa, Eltham.

VICTORIAN SPORTING NOTES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The V.R.C. committee to-day inquired into sundry betting transactions in connection with the running of The Sun at Caulfield on September 7 last, and disqualified Edward Kelly for life. They also revoked his permit to carry on his vocation as bookmaker at Flemington.

At the Ultima races on Saturday a fatal accident occurred in the Hurdle Race. Tokay, with Norman Stratton up, fell, throwing the jockey well clear. There was a large field, and it is supposed that one of the horses kicked him on the head, fracturing his skull. He did not recover consciousness, and died at midnight. Stratton resided at Hay.

Jolly Beggar was sent to Sydney to-day, in charge of F. Musgrave, to fulfil his engagement in the Doncaster Handicap. Belove will leave for Sydney to-morrow.

The victory of Almissa in the Australian Cup was celebrated at the Victorian Club to-day, members being treated to wine by the Messrs. Baillieu.

Not as many Victorian horses were sent to Sydney by the special train to-day, as was thought probable. Golden Point was kicked at the post at the start of the Australian Cup, and it was decided that he should not go over for the A.J.C. meeting. It was also decided to leave Wilari, Burrawang, Kilbride, and Sconser at home. The Victorian horses to make the trip include Uncle Sam, Flavian, Eudorus, Almissa, Aleconner, Broadsword, Grand Marshall, The Miser, Malbrook, Jolly Beggar, Boyong, Virginie, Wolawa, Uncle Matt, and Sheriff Muir. The Sydney horses, Piastre, Cadonia, Offa, Arrowform, Kurangai, Didus, Willow Green, and Borosov returned home by the same train.

ROSEHILL RACING CLUB.

AUTUMN MEETING.

SECOND (CUP) DAY.

DION WINS CAMELLIA STAKES.

MOORILLA, THE ROSEHILL CUP.

Though the bad weather on Saturday brought about a postponement of the second day's racing in connection with the Rosehill Autumn Meeting, the club did not suffer much by the loss of the week-end fixture, for the special train service yesterday was crowded to excess, and, despite the well-endowed programme, the results should show a profit. The wind and rain storm of Saturday night visited Rosehill, but the buildings successfully withstood the cyclone, and, though there was a heavy downpour of rain, the track and reserves were little or none the worse. The going, as might have been expected, was a trifle holding, but sound, and, though several falls occurred during the afternoon, the mishaps could not be attributed to the state of the track. While taking part in the Nursery Handicap, St. Carwyne fell near the half-mile post, and Larelle came down near the distance; while Pedestrian and Necktie came to grief in the Carlingford Mile. The stipendiary stewards inquired into Larelle's mishap, and decided to recommend the withdrawal of the permit to ride in races issued to E. Herdegen; while the investigation into St. Carwyne's fall was postponed until the evidence of W. Osborne, who had the mount on the colt, would be available. A caution was administered to J. Hadlow, the rider of Lady Denman, for not riding the filly out at the finish of the Clyde Stakes.

The racing throughout was of a highly interesting character, the fields were large, speculation was brisk, and the results were in favour of the ringmen, only two favourites getting home in safety, while, in the other races, long-priced horses were successful. The general arrangements were ably supervised by the secretary, Mr. Geo. W. S. Rowe.

The details of the racing are as under:—

GRANVILLE STAKES, a handicap of 100 sovs, with a sweepstakes of 1 sov each for starters added; second horse 15 sovs and third horse 5 sovs from the prize; for all horses that have never received a prize in a Flat Race exceeding the value of 40 sovs at time of starting. 7f.

Mr. "Thos. Murdocks" ch g Blueberry, all. 5lb, 6st 9lb (W. Gee) ... 3

Other starters: Spanish Gipsy, all. 5lb, 8st 7lb (W. Cameron); Abba, 8st 7lb (C. Rowe); Lady Ibex, 8st 7lb (M. Walker); Malthus, 8st 3lb (F. Hood); Prince Araxes, 8st (J. Lightfoot); Royal Time, all. 6lb, 6st 9lb (E. Herdegen); Yarri, 7st 2lb, inc. 2lb over (J. Townsend); Manege, 6st 11lb (G. Hook); Spearfish, 6st 8lb, 5lb all., inc. 1lb over (N. Russell).

Betting: 3 to 4 v Blueberry, 6 to 1 each v Lady Ibex and Malthus, 10 to 1 v Abba, 12 to 1 each v Eynsford and Nightwalk, 14 to 1 v Cobbanco, 20 to 1 v others.

Clivia jumped out in front, but was soon headed by Manege, after whom on close terms came Spanish Gipsy and Martha B. Nearing the five furlongs' post Spanish Gipsy took charge from Manege, Lady Ibex, and Prince Araxes, and these were succeeded at the half-mile post by Malthus. Rounding the bend Prince Araxes took charge from Manege, Eynsford, and Malthus, and so they ran to the distance, where Eynsford on the rails put in his claim, while on the outside Blueberry was threatening danger; but Eynsford lasted it out, and won by a neck from Nightwalk, who had Blueberry at his heels. Manege was fourth, followed by Abba, Prince Araxes, Zarri, Clivia, Spearfish, Royal Time, and Plumella, with Lady Ibex at the tail of the hunt. Time, 1m 30½s.

CAMELLIA STAKES, a handicap of 125 sovs; second horse 20 sovs, and third horse 5 sovs from the prize. 1m.

Mr. Hunter White's br g Dion, 5yrs, 6st 11lb (W. Callinan) ... 1
Mr. H. J. Winten's br g My Gavonni, 6yrs, 9st 11lb (E. Moon) ... 2
Mr. F. Merton's ch h Aurofodina, 6yrs, 9st 10lb (W. Barnett) ... 3

Other starters: Flaxen, 9st (W. Manning); Hallowmas, 8st 11lb (W. H. Smith); Torula, 8st (W. Lillyman); Peronella, 7st 13lb (A. Wood); Arbute, 7st 11lb (N. Russell); John Willie, 7st 10lb (R. Abbott); Leta, 7st 4lb, inc. 1lb over (J. Lightfoot); Miocene, 7st 4lb, inc. 2lb over (C. Bolton); Lord Mervyn, 6st 9lb, inc. 1lb over (G. Pinn); Mother's Day, 6st 7lb (J. Reynolds); Orama, 6st 7lb (A. Thomas).

Betting: 2 to 1 v My Gavonni, 5 to 1 v Hallowmas, 8 to 1 each v Aurofodina and Leta, 12 to 1 each v Miocene and Torula, 20 to 1 v others.

Dion, My Gavonni, and Miocene made play, and when they had settled into their strides, Miocene took charge, and was followed past the seven furlongs post, at length intervals, by Torula and Dion, then, after a gap of two lengths, came My Gavonni, Hallowmas and Orama. That order was preserved until nearing the five furlongs post, where Miocene was still in front, closely followed by Torula, My Gavonni, and Dion, with Orama and Aurofodina four lengths away, at the head of the others. Without material change they came past the half-mile post, and Miocene swung round the bend with My Gavonni, Hallowmas, and Dion in hot pursuit; and so they swung into the straight. Miocene was still leading at the distance from Dion, My Gavonni, Hallowmas, and Aurofodina. Nearing the distance Dion headed Miocene, and stalling off a bid from My Gavonni, beat him by half a length. Aurofodina was a length away third, and two lengths in front of Orama and Miocene, then came Leta, Flaxen, and Peronella, with Mother's Day and Lord Mervyn whipping in. Time, 1m 43s.

CLYDE STAKES, a handicap of 125 sovs; with a sweepstake of 1 sov each for starters added; second horse 20 sovs and third horse 5 sovs from the prize. 6f.

Mr. F. Merton's b c Aurifer, by Flavus (imp.)—Queenbird, 3yrs, 8st 8lb (W. Barnett) ... 1
Mr. L. H. Andrews' br c Momarjay, 3yrs, 8st 1lb, inc 1lb over (M. Connell) ... 2
Mr. W. J. Day's b m Veneta, 4yrs, 7st 2lb, inc. 3lb over (J. Townsend) ... 3

Other starters: Pittsworth Gun, 8st 4lb (W. Lillyman); Webimble, 7st 10lb (J. Lightfoot); Lady Denman, 7st 8lb (J. Hadlow); Maldant, 7st 8lb, inc 6lb over (W. H. Smith); Zinita, 6st 12lb (G. Pinn); Bellara, 6st 9lb (N. Russell); Coronata, 6st 7lb (W. Callinan).

Betting: 7 to 4 v Aurifer, 3 to 1 v Lady Denman, 8 to 1 v Zinita, 12 to 1 each v Maldant and Veneta, 14 to 1 v Wemimble, 20 to 1 v Bellara, 25 to 1 v others.

They left in line, but when they had settled down Lady Denman took charge from Pittsworth Gun, Bellara, Webimble, and Aurifer, but as they neared the half-mile post Maldant came through, and rounded the bend well clear from Lady Denman, Pittsworth Gun, Bellara, and Aurifer. Maldant swept into the straight with Pittsworth Gun and Bellara in close attendance, and they were succeeded by Momarjay and Aurifer. Maldant was still in front at the distance, inside of which Momarjay, Aurifer, and Veneta closed upon him. Momarjay had a slight advantage from Aurifer at the half-distance, but the latter took charge in a few strides, and won by three-quarters of a length from the Maltster colt, who was a length and a half in advance of Veneta. Bellara was close up fourth, with Zinita, Lady Denman, Maldant, and Webimble almost in a line at his heels, and Coronata last. Time, 1m 16¼s.

NURSERY HANDICAP, of 150 sovs., with a sweepstakes of 1½ sov. each for starters added; second horse 40 sovs, and third horse 10 sovs. from the prize. For two-year-olds. 5½f.

Betting: 5 to 2 v Larelle, 4 to 1 v Kent Loch, 6 to 1 each v Beau Soult and St. Carwyne, 8 to 1 v Cedilla, 10 to 1 each v Cacique and Podaxon, 20 to 1 v others.

Podaxon and Kent Loch were smartest off the mark, and they showed the way to the half-mile post, where St. Corwyne fell. Kent Loch and Podaxon came round the bend on terms, with Cacique at the head of the others. Cacique was showing in front of Podaxon, Kent Loch, and Beau Soult at the home turn. Larelle fell at the distance, where Podaxon, Kent Loch, and Beau Soult were fighting it out, and a good finish was fought out between Beau Soult and Kent Loch, the former winning by half a length. Podaxon was three lengths off third, closely followed by Cedilla, Riposta, Tintagel, Doreen G., and Stimulus. Time, 1m 10½s.

ROSEHILL CUP, a handicap sweepstakes of 5 sovs each, with 1000 sovs added. The owner of the second horse to receive 200 sovs and the owner of the third horse 100 sovs from the prize. 1½m.

Betting: 4 to 1 v Moorilla, 7 to 1 each v Bernard and Tartanus, 8 to 1 each v Hartfell and Ioli, 10 to 1 v Beverage, 12 to 1 v Sir Willie, 14 to 1 v Patrimony, 15 to 1 v Cagou, 20 to 1 each v Angelique, Merel, Allingamite, Bright Laddie, Cavity, and Osmic, 25 to 1 each v Maracus and Valida, 33 to 100 to 1 v others.

Sir Willie and Bright Laddie jumped off in front, and Bright Laddie came on to the course proper with Tartanus, Sir Willie, and Ocean Blue in pursuit; and so they ran past the mile post. Bright Laddie opened up the back stretch with three lengths' lead from Tartanus and Electramile, who were two lengths in advance of Sir Willie, Merel, Valido, and Truxton King. Without material change they raced to the five furlongs post, where Bright Laddie was still leading by a length and a half from Tartanus, Sir Willie, Valido, Merel, and Electramile. At the end of the next furlong Bright Laddie was still a length in advance of Sir Willie and Tartanus, who were succeeded by Valido, Bootan, and a big bunch. Bright Laddie increased his advantage to four lengths, coming round the bend from Sir Willie and Tartanus, and so they turned into the straight, escorted by Moorilla. Bright Laddie was just clear from Tartanus, Sir Willie, and Moorilla at the distance, but a little further on Moorilla took charge, and, coming on, won by half a length from Sir Willie, who was two lengths in advance of Hartfell. Cavity was fourth, with Bright Laddie next, and then in close attendance came Angelique, Cagou, and Manton Maid, while Electramile and Bernard were at the tail of the hunt. Time, 2m 9¼s.

CARLINGFORD MILE handicap of 125 sovs, second horse 20 sovs, and third horse 5 sovs from the prize.

Mr. W. E. White's ch m Single, by Flavus (imp.)—Lonely, 4yrs, 8st 6lb (W. Manning) ... 1

Bolton).

Betting: 5 to 2 v Necktie, 4 to 1 v Posinatus, 7 to 1 v Pedestrian, 10 to 1 each v Single and Penza, 14 to 1 v Pompfrey, 20 to 1 v others.

Penza had all the best of the start from The Sheave, and the pair opened up the back stretch a couple of lengths from Pompfrey, Posinatus, and War Star. War Star ran up next to the leading pair at the half-mile post, where Pompfrey, Pedestrian, and Posinatus were the nearest of the others. The Sheave and Penza came round the bent with War Star, Posinatus, and Single in their wake, but as they turned for home Posinatus joined issue with the leading pair, and Mustapha also appeared upon the scene. Single and Mustapha ran past The Sheave and Penza at the half-distance, inside of which Single got her head in front, and, coming on, won by half a length from Mustapha, who beat Posinatus by a length for second place. Penza was fourth, followed by Pompfrey, Rubecula, and Easy Money, while Necktie and Pedestrian fell. Time, 1m 44s.

POLO.

MELBOURNE CLUB TOURNAMENT.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The final matches in the Melbourne Polo Club's annual tournament attracted only a moderate attendance at Kooyong; but enthusiasts who took the risk in the weather saw a couple of fine games decided. Both the Governor-General and the State Governor were present, and they were accompanied by parties from Federal and State Government houses.

Though the sky was threatening, the rain held off. The heavy rain of the previous days had made the ground heavy, and the pace, consequently, suffered, but the play was of a high standard, and there were many brilliant dashes, which aroused the spectators to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

In the final of the principal event for cups given by Lady Denman, Colac "A" team met Caramut "A." A close game was anticipated, but at the conclusion of the first period the opinion favoured Colac's chances, for they started off with great dash, and registered two goals before their opponents had scored. They kept their lead until after the beginning of halftime, when Caramut, by a determined effort, brought the scores level with five goals all. But Colac went on in the remaining three periods adding to their score, and eventually won by 11 goals to 5. It was a case of better combination. The second match for the handicap final was between Camperdown and Melbourne. Melbourne received a handicap of 4 goals from Camperdown; Camperdown never gave their opponents a chance, and ultimately won by 11 goals to 8.

BOWLS.

BALMAIN CLUB.

The twenty-first annual report of the oldest club, with one exception, in the State, is a record of prosperity, although it has not shone during the past year or two with its pristine brilliancy in competition. Forty-eight matches were played during the year, of which 27 were won, 18 lost, and 3 resulted in ties. The club scored 4013 points, and 3770 were scored against it. The several competitions among members resulted as follow:—

Opening of night bowls: Won by J. J. Roeder's rink.

Night bowls (pairs), prize presented by W. D. Cruickshank: Won by Captain Sangster and J. Elder.

Championship of club: Won by J. Elder.

President's prize, novice single handicap: Won by A. Fenwick.

Holroyd bowl: Won by J. Crane.

Exchange visits were made with Maitland and Wollongong on holidays, and were productive of much enjoyment.

The old Glebe Cup was won by Balmain, though unsuccessful sallies were made on the other Association events.

Messrs. H. A. Scott, G. Dingwall, A. Lewis, and T. Scott represented the club in the New South Wales team which toured Great Britain.

The indoor entertainments were highly successful, a smoke concert and a ladies' night being both highly appreciated. Two billiard tournaments were held during the year, the winners being G. M. Marsh and J. Goodair, with W. H. May and T. James runners-up.

The prizes for progressive euchre were presented by the vice-presidents, and won by D. H. McKenzie and P. Hunt.

The financial position is sound, and the greens and pavilion are in excellent order. The membership roll is 100.

Special references are made to the deaths of two esteemed members, Messrs. W. D. Cruickshank and W. Davidson.

Bowlers generally will be pleased to learn that the popular secretary, Mr. J. Tatham, is progressing as well as can be expected after his severe accident.

MEETING OF THE NEW SOUTH WALES TEAM.

There being a substantial credit balance, it was resolved to set apart a sum of money to have a record of the team's doings prepared in booklet form. A committee consisting of Mr. George Watson, Mr. A. L. Holmes, and Mr. A. Louden was appointed to carry this out. The sum of 10 guineas was also voted to the Scott Memorial Fund.

BILLIARDS.

SCOTT FUND HANDICAP.

At Heiron and Smith's Billiard Hall, Castlereagh-street, the Amateur Billiard Association of New South Wales last night promoted an entertainment in aid of the Lord Mayor's Scott Appeal Fund. This took the form of a flying handicap of 100 up. Most of the leading Sydney professionals and amateurs lent a hand.

George Gray, jun., the world-famed young Australian billiardist, was present. This was his first appearance in Sydney since his return from a successful English tour. His reception by the large audience was hearty and prolonged. Mr. Gray gave an interesting exhibition of fancy strokes, many of which were novelties.

Another "draw" was Miss Ruby Roberts, the professional lady champion of the world.

Mr. E. Boyle officiated as referee and hon. secretary, and he is to be congratulated on the success of his arrangements.

The final was won by Miss Roberts, after an exciting game with Mr. Marks. Results:—

THE PIANOLA WITH THE LONDON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA, AT QUEEN'S HALL.

A GREAT ARTISTIC TRIUMPH.

At Queen's Hall, London, before a vast audience, the Pianola once and for all vindicated the unique position which it holds in the artistic world. In conjunction with the famous London Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Herr Arthur Nikisch, the Pianola was used to play the well-known Grieg Concerto in A minor and the Liszt Hungarian Fantasie. The Pianola was also used to accompany the well-known vocalist, Miss Elena Gerhardt, in songs by Strauss and Wolf. Immense enthusiasm has been aroused amongst the public and press by this remarkable concert, but none greater than that of Herr Arthur Nikisch himself.

HERR ARTHUR NIKISCH, WHO CONDUCTED THE ORCHESTRA ON THIS OCCASION, WROTE:

"The performance of the Grieg Concerto, the solo Pianoforte part being played by means of the Pianola, was a revelation to me. Not only was the ensemble perfect, but in the passages where special prominence was given to the solo instrument, such as the cadenza, the result was magnificent. Save for the fact that the instrument supplies the performer with absolutely perfect technique, the Pianola should never again be referred to as a mechanical instrument.

"I am convinced that the Pianola is destined to become of great educational value, and that its future influence on all that appertains to musical knowledge and enjoyment is incalculable.

(Signed) ARTHUR NIKISCH."

IMPORTANT.—Do not think that every piano-playing instrument is a "Pianola." The word only applies to one specific instrument—the only one that can give you the advantage of the Metrostyle device, and the only one acknowledged by the world's greatest musicians.

Let us send you a Catalog of the Pianola, or Pianola Piano Steinway, Steck, Weber, and Stroud. We will send it free if you will write and ask for Catalog R.

"THE FIRM THAT SATISFIES," CENTRAL-SQUARE, SYDNEY.

SNOWS SAY:

"EVEN HALF A DOZEN TAILORED COSTUMES IN YOUR WARDROBE THIS SEASON WILL NOT ATONE FOR THE ABSENCE OF ONE COAT."

WITHIN A CONVENIENT SHOPPING RADIUS OF SYDNEY, there live about three hundred thousand women. All of them will require at least one Coat this season. A great number will have two; a few will have even more. We are NOT prepared to sell this huge number of women a Coat each, but we will do our share. Those who buy their Coats at will certainly pay the lowest in the city prices, and be smartly Coated to boot.

COATS! COATS!! COATS!!!

NEVER SO MANY—NEVER SO SMART, AND NEVER SO LOW PRICED.

Here is a stack of NAVY SERGE COATS, with smart Collars and Revers, finished with large buttons and trimmed contrasting pipings. The smartness of this style lies in its cut. SNOWS' PRICE .... 14/11.

Other Snow Values in Coats, 16/6 and 18/11. Mostly one or two of a kind.

The BLANKET COAT is here in what are called Reversible Tweeds. They have deep collars of contrasting colours. One, a very rough surfaced Tweed, has Green Collar, and carries huge buttons. It is only 22/6. Another is 29/6. It is rather different.

35/ buys a good Coat at Snows'. For this sum you may have a Heather Mixture with Scotch Plaid reverse, trimmed large buttons and beautifully finished in every particular. Many shades and styles at this price.

A lighter shade at 37/6 is a very fine Coat. Worth very much more, of course.

SNOWS' COAT VALUES OF THE SEASON ARE 39/6 AND 49/6.

At 39/6. Many Styles. One in Blanket Tweed is reversible. It is a grey with deep collars, gauntlet cuffs and peg-shaped back. Finished Black Velvet Buttons. You may have choice from a host of colours and shades.

At 49/6. A Heather mixed Tweed Coat, with storm collars and gauntlet cuffs, in contrasting effects. The back is relieved with six buttons, and finished buttonholes on the left side.

In conclusion, a 69/6 Coat. It has double-breasted front finished in epaulette style, with double row of buttons. Sleeves in Magyar style, turned-back cuffs, and turned-down collar, slit pockets let into coat. Very smart, indeed.

To say nothing of the many hundreds of others not describable.

ARE YOU FRECKLED?

A State School Teacher writes thus of Thermol for freckles and tan:—"Dear Sirs,—I'm writing to you for another jar of Thermol—this time for my sister. The jar I got from you I have finished with most excellent results. I had been freckled and tanned—just like a Gipsy—for years, and almost ruined my skin trying this, that, and the other to clear it. I failed. But Thermol has done wonders for me—more than I ever dreamed of. It has cleared my skin of every freckle and trace of tan, and now it's like that of the cherry-faced little tots I teach at school. Indeed, I am a source of wonder to some of my girl friends, who can't just quite grasp how ten-year-old freckles are cleared away in less than three weeks. Jill, my sister, is on pins and needles to get her skin clear, too, and I tremble to think what will happen if you don't forward it by return post. It's grand to know that I can surf to my heart's content now without having to smother my face for weeks afterwards with powder, and wear a stuffy veil. Your good selves have conferred a blessing upon all women folk who love the sunshine and outdoor life. Yours, very truly, A. McD." Thermol for freckles and tan, sallowness, ALL sun troubles and marks, is 3/9 (post free 4/1), only from DURNO, Ltd., Chemists and Druggists, Pitt-street, Sydney. Then you'll not be

FAULDING'S SOLYPTOL SOAP IS MADE IN AUSTRALIA.

Faulding's Solyptol Soap:— "It is sweet— A thousand different colours meet, And mingle in its rare perfume."

The aroma of Faulding's Solyptol (pronounced So-lyp-tol) Soap is reminiscent of the sweet scent of the gum trees. This is not to be wondered at when we are reminded that this ideal toilet soap is made from Faulding's Gold Medal Soluble Eucalyptus Oil in combination with Olive Oil and antiseptics of proved efficacy.

For purposes of protection and satisfaction purchasers should ask for and insist upon being supplied with Faulding's Solyptol Soap in the registered black and green wrapper. If your chemist or storekeeper cannot supply you send us his name and address and a free sample will be forwarded you. F. H. FAULDING AND CO., Dept. H., 6 O'Connell-street, Sydney. And at Adelaide, Perth, and London.
